

Shepard Praises Veale; Off to Finest Start Ever

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Veale, the Pittsburgh Pirates' big left-hander, is off to the best start of his major league career. He's 0-1.

Last year, Veale won his first six decisions. There's no comparison between the way he pitched then and now.

"I don't think there's any question he's pitching great ball, real great ball," said Manager Larry Shepard, who unashamedly predicted one no-game loser will be a certain 20-game winner.

Veale grudgingly admits he's pitching better, even if it doesn't show in the win-loss record. He went 12 innings without a decision at San Francisco in a game the Pirates won in the 15th, 3-1 and took a one-hitter into the ninth at Los Angeles before Jim Lefebvre beat him with a two-out homer.

"A lot of things account for it," he said yesterday. "I'm concentrating a lot more, for one. And my back doesn't bother me this year."

In 1967, Veale compiled a 16-8 record and led the National League in issuing bases on balls for the second time in four years. He didn't lose until May 31 although completing only two of eight starts in the six-game winning streak and 6 of 31 on the season.

"Let's say I suffered through some of those games," Veale admits.

Veale says, however, he's not quite satisfied now despite giving only four runs and 10 hits while striking out 13 in 20 1/3 innings.

"Well, we won one game and the other one I'm not too proud of," he said. Pressed, he added, it's "just the one pitch" Lefebvre's homer that he isn't proud of.

But Shepard and Veale talked about that one.

"After that home run, I told him he pitched a great ball game," Shepard said. "He made one mis'ake in his pitching, but he knew that, too."

Veale hung a high slider and Lefebvre hit it o... Shepard said, "If Veale is going to get beat, I'd rather have him get beat throwing his best stuff—a fast ball."

Both Shepard and Veale readily concede that the addition of Jim Dunning has helped Veale whose earned run average rose steadily from 2.73 in 1964 to 3.64 last year.

"Dunning's presence will help anybody," Veale said. "He's a wonderful competitor and an expert pitcher."

National League May Expand in 1969

CHICAGO (AP) — The National League voted yesterday to match the American League in expansion to 12 clubs in 1969 if it can agree unanimously on selection of two new members.

The action by the NL club owners opposed a race against time to award the two new franchises from among five bidding cities—San Diego, Dallas-Fort Worth, Milwaukee, Montreal and Buffalo.

At last winter's Mexico City baseball meeting, the NL voted expansion from 10 to 12 teams no later than 1971.

Warren Giles, NL president, said the franchise applicants would be screened finally on the basis of meeting stadium and financial requirements and the two new members hopefully will be determined before the All Star game in July.

The NL jump ahead from 1971 to 1969 for expansion was spurred by the American League's decision not only to start in 1969 with Seattle and Kansas City as new members, but also the AL's reported intent to split the 12-team lineup into two six-team divisions.

The split division along with a championship playoff probably will be approved at an AL meeting here next Thursday.

"Since Mexico City, we have thought of the disadvantage of operating against a 12-team American League with our present 10-club lineup," said Giles.

Regarding split NL divisions with 12 teams, Giles said:

"You pretty near have to do that."

The 1969 NL start was approved after a three-hour session of club owners. But groundwork was established a month ago when the five franchise-seeking cities were asked by Giles to make presentations to the league's three-member expansion committee.

The expansion trio includes Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Roy Hofstanz of the Houston Astros, and John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Of the five bidding cities, only Milwaukee — abandoned by the current Atlanta Braves three years ago — and San Diego have big league playing facilities at present.
