

Fun, Games, Drama Abound This Weekend

By NANCY SPENCE
Collegian Staff Writer

After slaving all week over those books, a good jammy, some exercise, a concert or play, should be welcome relief.

A jammy worth attending even if just to pay the admission fee, is the Cancer Fund Jammy tomorrow night. Hope you'll stay though, to hear the "Noble Souls" from 9-12 in the Hetzel Union ballroom.

The Graduate Student Association is skipping campus for their own jammy at Skimont. The time is tomorrow evening 9:30 'til you get tired. His fee is $1, hers 50c.

The Penn State Singers will present its concert in Schwab at 8:30 tomorrow evening. Four new choral pieces by James Case, assistant professor of music, will be included in the program.

New Folk Concert

Then back to Schwab Saturday, again at 8:30 p.m., for ten, handclapping, finger-snapping, college students performing folk-rock-religious sounds in the New Folk Concert. Student tickets are available in the HUB for $1.50.

Friday or Saturday evening at the Playhouse Theatre could earn you the right to say you've seen the play with the longest title in history. Curtain time for "Marat/Sade" is 8 p.m.

Three movies will be shown this weekend on campus. At 8:30 p.m. Friday Pollock Union Building will show "Comedy of Terrors" with Boris Karloff, Vincent Price and Basil Rathbone.

The East Halls movie this Saturday is "Mirage" starring Gregory Peck and Diane Baker. Showtimes are 7 and 9:30 p.m. "Shenandoah" is the name of the student film which will be shown in the HUB assembly hall Saturday 7 and 9:30 p.m.

To the Great Outdoors

Need exercise? The Penn State Outing Club has enough to keep you in trim. The canoeing division will tackle the Little Juniata River Saturday and the Loyalsock Creek Sunday.

Tussey Ridge is the destination Saturday and Sunday of the P.S.O.C. Cabin and Trail Division. Sunday the rock-climbing division will go to Shawangunks, N.Y. Sign-up sheets for all events are at the HUB desk.

The Cycling Club will ride to Altoona Saturday morning at 9:30, and to Warriors Mark at 1:30 p.m. Departure is from the HUB parking lot.

Take a pause that refreshes. Natatorium hours are 6-10 p.m. on Friday and 1-10 p.m. on Sunday.

And Furthermore...

There's action this weekend at the Ice Pavilion, but it's not skating. Saturday the Block and Bridle Club will present the 51st Little International Livestock Exposition.

"39th Witness" should be an interesting program on WPSX at 10 p.m. tomorrow. It reconstructs the murder of Kitty Genovese as it happened within the sight and hearing of 38 neighbors who ignored her screams.

If you like opera, spend "An Hour with Joan Sutherland" at 9 Saturday evening, also on WPSX.

A film on drugs and narcotics will be shown at 8 p.m. Monday in the PUB. Three experts from the State Drug Commission will lead a discussion following the film.

British Exporters 'Kill Off' Miniskirt

LONDON (AP) — The miniskirt is indeed on its last legs.

The British ready-to-wear trade, which invented it, gave it the coup de grace in their autumn sample show yesterday for foreign buyers.

Rosalind Gersten, one of Macy's buyers here for the opening, said approvingly:

"Well, they've killed off the mini for us. Most of these skirts are about the length we're wearing at home—two inches above the knee."

Shifts, Shirtwaists

Some 40 manufacturers of ready-made showed half a dozen day and evening dresses each, under the auspices of the Clothing Export Council of Great Britain. Top trends were shirtwaisters and shifts, with few prints but lots of shadow plaids and checks, stripes, and contrasting plain colors.

Black came back in what almost amounted to a landslide.

Very fitted short jackets—they used to be known as eisenhowers—were a popular line in suits.

While London streets are still full of miniskirt wearers, British haute couture houses had already tried to shoot short skirts down in their spring collections.

Bonnie/Clyde Fade Out

It was uncertain whether the mass market ready-to-wear manufacturers were ready to fall into step, but they did yesterday with the exception of two or three die-hards.

A large number of houses included one maxiskirt or culotte in their sample, but without much conviction. A sprinkling of trouser suits were mostly highwaisted with slightly flared bottoms.

Bonnie and Clyde have faded into the background, but the Bonnie beret is here to stay awhile. In dozens of variations it topped nearly every outfit in the show. Only the cloche made a fair showing by comparison.

Evening wear—never England's strong point—turned whimsically medieval with ornate brocades, lames and cut velvets. The prim, prissy granny dress, with choker neckline and ruffled hem at the ankles, found a place in many evening collections. With formals models wore clusters of ringlet curls, ribbon-tied.

VISTA Representatives Due

Representatives of Volunteers In Service To America (VISTA) will visit University Park May 20-24 for a recruitment drive.

VISTA representatives will be on the ground floor of the Hetzel Union Building from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. VISTA's Academy Award-winning film, "A Year Toward Tomorrow," will be shown at noon May 21-24 in the HUB Assembly Hall.

Works of Zoller On Exhibition

The works of the late Edwin W. Zoller, professor emeritus of art, are now on exhibition in the Continuing Education Conference Center, J. Orville Koller Building.

Sales made during the exhibit will go toward the support of the Edwin W. Zoller Art Scholarship Fund, created earlier this year for students in art who display special talent in painting and who are in need of financial aid to continue their studies.

through Friday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays.

"Perhaps the most beautiful movie in history." — Brendan Gill, The New Yorker. "Exquisite is only the first word that surges in my mind as an appropriate description of this exceptional film. Its color is absolutely gorgeous. The use of music and, equally eloquent, of silences and sounds is beyond verbal description. The performances are perfect—that is the only word." — Bosley Crowther, New York Times. "May well be the most beautiful film ever made." — Newsweek.
