

Soviet Troops at Border

Prague Reaffirms Policies

PRAGUE (AP) Czechoslovakia's national radio reported last night that thousands of Soviet troops moving just beyond the Czechoslovak-Polish border are engaged in planned Warsaw Pact maneuvers that the liberal Prague government was informed of in advance.

The statement came as Romanian sources in Bucharest reported Soviet infantry and tank units had been concentrated along its borders with Russia at the Danube River and in former Romanian Bukovina. They were said to have taken up the positions earlier in May and in April.

Behind the Soviet buildup, the Romanian informants said, was an apparent desire to put pressure on the regime of Nicolae Ceausescu, who has defied Soviet leadership in Eastern Europe. Other sources had advanced this explanation for the troop movements near Czechoslovakia, vastly more liberal internally than Romania.

Prague radio sought to quash any such interpretation in a statement by its diplomatic correspondent.

He said: "The reports of some news agencies, papers and radio stations that there was a military move against Czechoslovakia was considered by Czechoslovak political circles to be a political provocation."

The Czechoslovak Foreign Ministry issued a similar statement, the news agency CTK reported. Western military attaches in Warsaw reported Thursday that Soviet forces had advanced as far as 18 miles to the Czechoslovakian frontier. This coincided with some limitations on travel by diplomats.

Yesterday, a western attaché, despite disclaimers from most other quarters, said in Warsaw the troop movements were "unusual" and still in need of explanation.

Police To Continue Using Mace, Survey Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — Most U.S. police departments which have experimented with chemical mace for subduing aggressive citizens intend to continue its use despite reservations voiced by some medical men.

The primary chemical element in Mace, which is made by the General Ordnance Equipment Corp. of Pittsburgh, is phenylchloroacetone. It is the main constituent of tear gas.

When made into Mace, the chemical is mixed with a carrier fluid placed in a can under pressure. Thumbing a button turns loose a stream of the chemical which can be aimed.

David Craig, Pittsburgh's public safety director, volunteered to be squirted in the face after protest against police use of Mace to quell a high school pupil uprising last November. "It was like instant sunburn in the way it irritated the skin," Craig reported. "There was an immediate watering of the eyes and a general loss of aggressiveness. I was okay in about 10 minutes."

Cheyney President Resigns After Protests

CHEYNEY, Pa. (AP) — LeRoy Banks Allen, president of Cheyney State College, has submitted his resignation, it was announced yesterday.

Topping the list of "improvements" was Allen's resignation. Among the other demands were curriculum improvements, better quality teaching and more student control over campus activities.

Instructions Set For Spring Carnival

All participants in the Spring Week Carnival competition will meet at 5 p.m. Wednesday in the headquarters tent to receive final instructions for the competition, Carnival Chairman Stuart Bodow announced.

Participating in the "Past" subdivision of the competition are Acacia and Zeta Tau Alpha, with a "What if the outlaws of the West had been unionized?" theme. Alpha Kappa Lambda and Alpha Delta will feature "What if Henry VIII had been henpecked?" Chi Phi and Kappa Alpha Theta will ask "What if TV were always with us?" Delta Chi and Kappa Delta will contemplate "What if Ben Franklin bought liberty?" and Delta Phi and South Halls will wonder "What if Martha wore the pants?"

Daddario To Discuss Science

The role of government in science and engineering will be the subject of a lecture at 8 p.m. Monday in Schwab, by Congressman Emilio Q. Daddario, of the First District, Connecticut.

The lecture, open to the public, is the first of a series that will bring to the campus distinguished lecturers of national and international prominence in the field of science. The program has been made possible by the Nelson W. Taylor Memorial Fund, established early this year to honor the late Taylor, head of the Department of Ceramics at the University from 1933 to 1943.

Daddario has represented the First Congressional District of Connecticut since 1959. He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1958, when he was assigned to the Committee on Science and Astronautics. He is now chairman of its Subcommittee on Science, Research and Development, as well as second-ranking member of the subcommittee which oversees manned space flight programs of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.
