Preakness Start Seen

For Dancer's Image

BALTIMORE (P) — Peter Fuller, a former amateur boxer and fight manager, threw a couple of oral jabs yesterday that indicated strongly his Dancer's Image will run in the Preakness Saturday at Pimlico.

"I can't say anything in view of the hearings in Kentucky, but we're training the horse and I can assure you we are not shadow boxing," Fuller said after watching Dancer's Image work three-eighths of a mile in 36 2/5 seconds and gallop out the half in 53 2/5.

After Dancer's Image had been disqualified from first and placed last in the Kentucky Derby, when tests disclosed a trace of an anti-inflammatory drug in the colt's system, Fuller said he would not enter the Preakness if his trainer, Lou Cavalaris, was suspended by the Kentucky

However, Cavalaris has said he wants Dancer's image to run in the second jewel of the Triple Crown no matter what his status as a trainer, and Fuller apparently has had second thoughts on the matter.

No Complaints

Cavalaris also was on hand for yesterday's workout and said "just what I ordered. No complaints at all, just perfect."

Fuller and Cavalaris were in Kentucky for the stew-ards' hearing Monday and are schedule. I to be in Louisville again today. The hearing continued yesterday without them. Meanwhile, four other hopefuls of the probable Preakness field of 12 also worked out.

Al Lippe's Francie's Hat, third across the Derby finish line, went seven furlongs in 1:28 2/5, causing trainer Jimmy Conway to remark:

"He looks even better than he did in the Derby. He looked like he handled the track real well. Earlie Fires again will ride. He seems to do a better job riding the colteach time he is up. Yes, I feel right good over our prospects Saturday."

Penn State's baseball team has been "on" and "off" all season, but lately the switch has been stuck at "off." In the middle of the season the Lions were winning every other game but have slumped sharply and lost their last four.

Early in the year State got fine pitching from Denny Lingenfelter, Bill Micsky, Gary Manderbach and Jim Allgyer. But that powerful quartet has been breaking up.

Allgyer was the first to go. When the Lions stopped hitting, coach Chuck Medlar decided to use Allgyer, a good hitting pitcher, in right field.

Then Lingenfelter ran into some hard luck and lost three straight games, despite pitching respectably in all of them. Errors and lack of hitting hurt Lingenfelter, but he still leads the staff with three victories.

Manderbach and Micsky typify the Lions' decline. Both pitched great games early in the season, then lost the touch.

Micsky tossed a no-hitter in his first start but hasn't won since. Manderbach was effective in three straight games but was shelled in his last two outings.

Crucial Contests

The Lions face Mansfield State at 3:30 today in a pair of seven-inning games. The undergraduates are expected to be present next Sunday for opening cheerleading tryouts at White Hall.

Rich Klinetob, who heads the group of 10 returning cheer-leaders, said that five men and four women will be chosen as additions to next year's squad. Surprise Number Richie Lucas, assistant business manager of athletics and ness manager of athletics and next year's adviser to the cheerleaders, said last week he was flooded with over 100 applications for the positions. Thus his original idea to choose replacements mainly from ap-plication responses had to be abandoned

"We intend to eliminate around 20 applications right away," Lucas said, "on the basis of the yes-no answers we received. Then we'll hold a series of tryouts with the remaining 80 people and eliminate as we go along."

Those whose applications have been eliminated will be notified this week, Klinetob nate Frank Spaziani. The burly right hander impressed in relief the last time out in a losing cause at Lafayette.

Allgyer will probably stay in right for at least the first game. In the nightcap Gene Christina will patrol the spot if Medlar decides that Allgyer's arm is needed on the mound.

Christina will patrol the spot if Mediar decides that Allgyer's arm is needed on the mound.

Most of the batting power the Lions have managed to come up with this season has been from the left side of the plate. Ken Barto continues to lead in batting average with a 346 mark.

Left fielder Joe Comforto and Allgyer, both lefthanded swingers, are the only other regulars over 300. The top pinch-hitter has been Christina, also a lefty.

Those hitters should get a chance to raise their averages tomorrow against Mansfield. Scott Taylor will pitch the opener and the righthander has been far from effective, winning only one game while losing five.

Look for Upset

Mansfield is playing its last two games today and carries hopes for a double-upset that would give it an even split for the season.

Crucial Contests

The Lions face Mansfield State at 3:30 today in a pair of seven-inning games. The doubleheader could be crucial for State since nothing but top-notch teams remain at the end of the schedule.

Medlar will definitely go with Lingenfelter in the first game, but the choice is more difficult after that.

The coach may go outside his usual rotation for a second game starter and nominated in the first game, but the choice is more difficult after that.

A little of the bad luck that has hurt Penn State has apparently afflicted Mansfield. The visitors have lost five one-run games. The Lions have kept up their hustle throughout the losing streak. Maybe Medlar's team will finally get a break in this disastrous season. A double win over Mansfield would go a long way toward restoring the Lions' confidence. If it doesn't rain, that is. Mansfield finished State College Con-

Steelers Give Up Nelsen; Get Shiner, Draft Choice

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers traded away quarterback Bill Nelsen and his troublesome knees yesterday in return for pass protection help and a high draft choice.

Nelsen, who has been sidelined by knee trouble for part of every season since he became a starter in 1965, went to the Cleveland Browns with defensive back Jim Bradshaw in return for tackle Frank Parker, quarterback Dick Shiner and the draft pick.

Parker, a 6-foot-5, 270-pound veteran of seven years with the Browns, has also been troubled by injuries, but Steeler coach Bill Austin is hoping he has mended.

And Brown owner Art Modell said he's willing to take a chance on Nelsen.

"We know it's something of a gamble," said Modell, "but the team doctors of both clubs have conferred on his physical ability and we have been assured Nelsen is in good shape.

Nelsen, 27, who lost his starting job to rookie Kent

"It may be the right move," he said. "I hope so. I'm elated about going to Cleveland, but I hate to leave Pittsburgh."
