SEVEN CENTS

Wirtz Asks Dem Votes

By LOUIS ROSEN
Collegian Staff Writer

Secretary of Defense Willard Wirtz urged students yesterday to reject any urge to vote for a protest or third party candidate and cast their votes for the Hubert Humphrey-Edmund Muskie ticket.

Wirtz also supported the re-election drive of Pennsylvania Senator Joseph Clark.

"I commend the candidacy of two men (Humphrey-Muskie) who to the best of my knowledge have a respect for change," Wirtz said.

Supports Humphrey Candidacy

"If we have progressed too slowly, don't blame them. The reason I support and commend the candidacy of Humphrey-Muskie is because they made the fullest possible use of every element of liberalism at their command."

Wirtz said the politics of the Democratic nominees are ones "of openmindedness and hope, not appeals to fear, frustration and hate" — attitudes he attributed to Humphrey's Republican and third-party opponents.

Although Wirtz said he disagreed with Humphrey's opposition to the defeated Vietnam minority plank of the Democratic National Convention, he said his point of disagreement is balanced by his (Humphrey's) other assets.

Cites Humphrey's Record

Wirtz said he supports Humphrey because of his consistent record as a social reformer.

Citing some of the bills Humphrey introduced or helped push through the Congress as a member of Congress and later as vice-president, Wirtz said that Humphrey's past record stands as an indication of what can be expected of him as President.

He read statements made by Humphrey on war, the race issue and about young people's need for participation in the affairs of the country.

Wirtz supported college students' participation in politics, but said that "not voting does not advance the course of change one bit."

Recalling two protests votes of his own in 1940 and 1944 which had to deal with war, Wirtz said, "Despite knowing now that it made no difference how I voted, I look back on those votes as intellectual cowardice."

This year's election is so important to the future of the country that the price of protest is "needlessly too high," he said.

Institutions Are Ends, Not Means

Wirtz said he believes the typical college student's position to be "anti-establishment and anti-hypocrisy." "We know we've made mistakes. But there is an understanding that we don't know everything," he added.

"The institutions are only a means, not an end. The individual is the end," Wirtz said.

"I believe in your (college students) testing. It is completely valid. There is a fire on the campus today as seen in the support for Robert Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy. Humphrey-Muskie are in complete sympathy and support their ideas," he added.

Attacks Republican Candidates

Wirtz then attacked the Republican candidates. Nixon once said that Adlai Stevenson was soft on Communism, Wirtz said. "I didn't like it then and I can't stand it any more when he has someone else (Spiro Agnew) do his dirty work now."

Wirtz was interrupted by applause when he said, "Agnew has definitely shown himself to be an incompetent." He said that once people consider Agnew as being "one heart beat from the presidency," they will change their minds.

Asked why he thought Richard Nixon refuses to debate Humphrey, Wirtz replied, "Nixon will not debate Humphrey because to see him is not to trust him and his people know it." "But don't go by me, because personally I despise him."

"I don't trust the man when I see him talk and I don't think he trusts himself," he continued.

Would Support Johnson Again

When asked whether he would support President Johnson if he were running again, Wirtz said he would. "I know that all the things I've talked about for years, President Johnson has gotten done."

Wirtz had some harsh words for the situation at the Democratic National Convention. He called the police action a "corruption of power." Richard Daley, Chicago Mayor, was "sitting there (Convention Hall) like a vulture," he said.

Police at the convention used excessive force, according to the secretary of labor. They could have easily contained demonstrators by "locking arm" rather than by charging into them and beating them.

Supports Grape Boycott

Wirtz commented on the California grape worker boycott which is now going into its fourth year. "I don't like boycotts," he said. "It's better to change the laws. But as long as there is no change in the law, I support the boycott."

In reference to Paul O'Dwyer, who is running for the Senate in New York against Republican Jacob Javits, Wirtz said that he expected O'Dwyer to support Humphrey after Humphrey turned away from Johnson's war policy.

The fact that O'Dwyer did not endorse Humphrey indicates that O'Dwyer "wanted a pound of repudiation" of Lyndon Johnson's war policy, he said.

WILLARD WIRTZ, secretary of defense, supported Hubert H. Humphrey and State Sen. Joseph Clark yesterday in a speech in the Hetzel Union Building ballroom. He spoke out against the Republican party candidates and third party candidate George Wallace.

Schweiker Requests Delay of Presentation

By DENISE DEMONG
Collegian Staff Writer

An aide to Republican Senate nominee Richard S. Schweiker said yesterday that the Congressman has requested a senior men's hat society to defer its honorary membership award until after Election Day.

The announcement of the Skill and Bones' presentation, intended for Nov. 2, had been strongly criticized by Centre County Democratic Chairman Mrs. Marie Garner, who felt giving the award at election time implied University support for the Republican candidate.

Howard Phillips, Schweiker's campaign manager, said, "Dick Schweiker deeply appreciates the expression of esteem accorded him by his fellow Penn Staters. It is a source of sincere regret that the motives of those planning to honor Dick have been questioned."

"In order to prevent further criticism of these individuals and to avoid jeopardizing Penn State's non-partisan image, the Congressman has asked that the award ceremonies be postponed to a later date."

"Congressman Schweiker wants to deny his political opponents any excuse for seeking revenge against his alma mater," explained Phillips. "It is unfortunate that a few misguided Clark supporters would try to subvert the principle of academic freedom by putting pressure on University officials to interfere with those students who wish to honor Dick Schweiker."

"No special privileges have been sought for Dick Schweiker because he is a Penn State alumnus," added Phillips, "nor has the University bestowed any. In urging the University to censor the activities of a legitimate student group, the Clark people have made a serious mistake. "None the less, we wish to do everything possible to keep Penn State out of the political firing line and will postpone those activities which would imply official backing of Dick's candidacy."

James Kefford, president of Skill and Bones, indicated that he had also been contacted by Phillips. "His statement expresses my entire thoughts," he said.

"Our intention was simply to honor an alumnus. If this has been construed as a political move, we're sorry; we'll wait." The hat society, he explained, is rescheduling the presentation.

"I'm sorry that such an unfortunate situation developed out of erroneous information," said Kefford. He was referring to the fact that the award was originally identified in the Daily Collegian as the Distinguished Alumnus Award, and was therefore confused with an annual presentation made by the University Board of Trustees.

"A Wise Decision" Mrs. Garner felt that Schweiker's announcement not to accept the award before election day was "a wise decision." She suggested, however, that his refusal of the award is not sincerely motivated, but is "a political angle to gain sympathy."

Regarding her earlier statements, she said, "I have been told that President Walker was not aware of the intended presentation. Perhaps a mistake has been made on my part in that respect."

"Nevertheless, the Democrats were not irresponsible in opposing the awards presentation. It would be in bad taste for any University group to present any such award to a political candidate immediately before elections."

Senate To Act Next Week

Witness Bill Due

By GLENN KRANZLEY
Collegian Staff Writer

A bill which would give students the right to be aided by an adviser in disciplinary meetings with the Administration is scheduled to be acted upon by the Faculty Senate at its next meeting Nov. 5.

The measure, now known as the "Witness Bill", was first proposed at the April 1968 Senate meeting. At that time the senators sent it back to the Committee on Undergraduate Student Affairs because of vague wording.

Galen Godbey, student representative to the committee, said that wording of Senate bills can often be a problem. He commented that bills can't be too specific, because their function is only to recommend, not to implement policy.

Godbey said that an example of a problem caused by this vagueness was the senators' concern over what was meant by the bill's phrase "a reasonable amount of time."

The present wording of the bill is still "reasonable time prior to the hearing."

Unanimous Recommendation

The bill now has a unanimous recommendation from the undergraduate student affairs committee, rare in the history of Senate committee reports.

Among the committee members advocating passage of the bill is Guy E. Rindone, professor of ceramic science. Last year, Rindone was one of the senators who favored sending the bill back to committee.

Laurence H. Lattman, chairman of the committee, was not available for comment.

Under the bill as it will be presented, a student would have the right to be aided by an adviser in any matter of University discipline. This would include meetings with the student court, the Dean of Student Affairs Office, Commonwealth Campus Committees on Student Affairs, Campus Patrol and Campus Security.

This adviser must be an Administration official, a faculty member or a student.

When the bill was originally proposed, family members were included among qualified witnesses.

Notification of Charges

Students facing disciplinary action are to be notified of the charges against them in advance, so they will have sufficient time to prepare a defense.

The bill also states that the student shall be able to call a reasonable number of witnesses in his behalf. If the student so desires, his adviser may assist him in defense. Unknown or unidentified witnesses will not be admitted.

Students are to have the right to cross-examine all accusers "who can reasonably be expected to attend the meeting."

Student cases are to be first presented to the student courts, unless the accused student wants to have his case presented through the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs. In the past, most students facing disciplinary action have decided to use the Administration procedure.

Right of Appeal

At this first meeting, students are to be informed of their right to appeal their case. Accused students may appeal to the Senate Committee on Appeals. If a student first presents his case to the student court, he can also appeal to the dean of students' office before an appeal to the Senate Committee is made.

Another provision of the Witness Bill calls for the burden of proof as to the guilt of the student to be assumed by the officials bringing charges against the student.

Enforcement of disciplinary decisions is also covered by the new bill. Under the measure, disciplinary action can't be enforced as long as the case is under appeal. Only after a final decision is reached can action be implemented.

'66 USG Proposal Blamed for Sellout

By RON KOLB
Collegian Sports Editor

As hundreds of students pleaded swindled and offered bribes for football tickets to Saturday's Penn State-Army homecoming game, an athletic department official yesterday put the blame on an out-dated USG proposal.

"Two years ago," said Edward M. Czeka, Penn State business manager of athletics, "the Undergraduate Student Government passed a proposal, and we merely administered it. The trouble is that everyone is blaming the athletic department for everything."

The controversy arose when almost 6,000 student tickets were sold in a matter of six hours Monday, and others were turned away when the 17,000-seat student quota was filled. Many thought that all students would be guaranteed seating at all games.

"There was never such a guarantee made by anybody," Czeka said. "All the students stood in two lines and were served on a first-come-first-served basis. It's always been that way."

The 1966 student seating policy was established by the USG under president Rich Kalich when, for the first time, the athletic department decided to charge for student tickets. Previous to that season, a matriculation card was the only entrance requirement.

Students who were unable to acquire seats for Saturday's Penn State-Army game will be able to purchase standing room tickets, at $1 apiece, beginning tomorrow at 8 a.m.

The ticket office will distribute one standing room ticket to each student, with the proper identification, at Room 236 Rec Hall.

That policy came at a time when student ticket demands were less than stimulating. Lion teams were of the 5-5 caliber, and one could only guess how many would concede to the $2 charge. Thus a maximum 17,000 of the 46,284 seats in Beaver Stadium were allotted to the student body.

First indications of the inadequacy of such an estimate came last season, when all student tickets were sold Monday before the State-UCLA game. At that time, the athletic department guaranteed that all students would be seated a subsequent home game.

This week, the problem returned. With about 11,000 student tickets sold this summer, only 6,000 remained for individual sale. They disappeared by 3 p.m. Monday, leaving only standing room space available.

The situation prompted two students, one a USG TOWN CONGRESSMAN, (Continued on page six)

Rich Closes Campaign

To the horror of Jon Rich's enthusiastic supporters, his whirlwind campaign for the Presidency of the United States has ended.

"I find the 45 cents-a-day campaign expenses too much of a burden," said Rich, who led a band of students Friday to Hershey to heckle George Wallace.

"The campaign was getting too serious," Rich said last night. "I was urged to heckle Wirtz and boo Schweiker. If I'd do all these things I could never find time to study."

Rich announced that the 25 cents-perpotato dinner has been cancelled. "The HUB wouldn't be able to accommodate the crowd we anticipated," he said.

News From World, Nation & State

Sen. McCarthy Endorses Humphrey

WASHINGTON — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., endorsed Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency yesterday but left his own political future clouded in a smokescreen of vague answers.

McCarthy said in announcing he would vote for the man who defeated him for the Democratic nomination, that he would not seek re-election to the Senate in 1970 as a "candidate of my party" nor would he seek the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

Westmoreland Claims VC Cannot Win

WASHINGTON — Gen. William C. Westmoreland proclaimed yesterday "our infantry has beaten the guerrilla at his own game" in South Vietnam.

The former U.S. commander in Vietnam, now Army chief of staff, said the enemy has lost the role of the hunter and has become the hunted.

"In my judgment the enemy now finds himself in a position where he cannot achieve military victory in Vietnam," Westmoreland declared.

The four-star general had high praise for the military performance in Vietnam — "professionalism," he called it — and it came before a responsive audience, the Association of the United States Army.

"Based on their assigned mission, Westmoreland said, "our soldiers have successfully accomplished everything they were asked to do."

The group also heard another top Army commander, Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel III, warn that another hot spot of the world today is Korea where gun fire is exchanged almost daily with North Koreans.

Kennedy Forms Memorial Foundation for RFK

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., announced yesterday the creation of a Robert F. Kennedy foundation to work in areas of poverty, crime and education as "a living memorial" to his assassinated brother.

The $10-million foundation, to be called the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial, will be "an action-oriented program that we think will carry on his concerns, his actions, his efforts to work on so many of the problems in this country that have no solutions," Kennedy said.

He made the announcement at a news conference on the sprawling back lawn of Robert Kennedy's McLean, Va., estate, Hickory Hill.

He was flanked by his sisters Patricia Kennedy Lawford and Jean Kennedy Smith, and surrounded by dozens of family friends and aides.

Robert Kennedy's widow, Ethel, did not appear, but said in a statement that she feels the memorial will "carry forward the ideals and carry on the work so important in the life of my husband."

Johnson Discusses War With Gen. Creighton

WASHINGTON — President Johnson met secretly yesterday with Gen. Creighton Abrams, U.S. military commander in Vietnam, but a White House spokesman said there was "no breakthrough" or change in the Vietnam situation of Paris negotiations.

Abrams had left to return to Vietnam when the White House announced his visit for a "general military review of the situation in Vietnam."

Presidential press secretary George Christian said it was decided over the weekend that Abrams should come to Washington, rather than have the President meet him someplace between here and Vietnam as had been previously considered.

Johnson and the top commander of U.S. forces in the war zone conferred yesterday at the White House. Abrams met with Pentagon officials, and then joined the regular weekly luncheon at the White House of top military and diplomatic officials.

Sharp Earthquake Jolts Fairbanks, Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — A sharp 20-second earthquake jolted the Fairbanks area yesterday afternoon, sending frightened people running into the streets and spilling stock from the shelves of stores. But there were no reports of injuries or serious damage.

The quake was reported centered in the Baldry Mountain area about 80 miles west of Fairbanks in east-central Alaska. The epicenter was near several small villages, but the State Disaster Office in Juneau said a radio poll of the villages disclosed no injuries or major damage.

The quake knocked the needle off the University of Alaska seismograph five miles west of Fairbanks. Readings on seismographs elsewhere placed the intensity at between 6.5 and 7.0 on the Richter scale.

That compared with the 8.3 Richter reading for the devastating 1964 earthquake in the Anchorage area. That quake, strongest recorded in North America, killed 113 persons and left $311 million in damage.

German Missile Stolen, Sent to Moscow

BONN, Germany — West Germany's security system was rocked again yesterday with disclosure of the ease by which a stolen Sidewinder missile and two secret navigation instruments were smuggled to Moscow.

Atty. Gen. Ludwig Martin told a news conference in Karlsruhe the 10-foot, air to air missile went as ordinary air freight. The two instruments were packed in luggage and flown to Moscow on two separate flights by a mystery passenger. Identified only as "Mr. X" this person is under arrest,

Martin said. Two others have been arrested in the thefts and identified by Martin as jet pilot Sgt. Maj. Wolf Diethard Knope, 33, and Polish-born Josef Linowski from Krefeld, West Germany. The thefts occurred last year.

Demonstrations Break Out in Czechoslovakia

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia — Anti-Soviet demonstrations broke out again last night in defiance of a government warning. Young Czechoslovaks roamed the city's streets shouting, "Russians Go Home!" and "Brezhnev boo boo boo!"

Police and militiamen pushed back the young people who came to the Slovak national theater to cheer the nation's liberal leaders. The government chiefs are visiting this Slovak capital on the second day of Czechoslovakia's celebration of its 50th anniversary as a republic.

The demonstration followed a statement in Prague by Jan Mayer, deputy minister of the interior, that Czechoslovak police were determined to carry out their "duty of maintaining public order" after tens of thousands called in Prague Monday for a Soviet troop withdrawal.

Penna. Crime Commission Discusses Goals

HARRISBURG — The Commonwealth's first permanent crime commission plunged into its official task of wiping out "organized crime" after swearing-in ceremonies yesterday.

The five-man commission, created by a law signed last July by Gov. Shafer, went into a full day of closed-door sessions after taking the oath of office administered by secretary of the Commonwealth Joseph Kelley.

Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett, chairman, said the commission discussed the crime-fighting agency's goals and methods — especially for 1969.

One Million Fish Die in Allegheny Pollution

PITTSBURGH — A State Fish Commission official said yesterday he believed a mass blanket of sludge that may have killed a million fish in the Allegheny River was breaking up.

However, Harold Corbin, the commission's enforcement officer, said it might be several days before the danger is gone.

Authorities said the fish kill was the worst in at least a decade. More than a million fish are dead, apparently asphyxiated, because of the thousands of gallons of pollution which the state says burst from an old oil refinery in Butler County last Thursday.

The commission, much like a federal grand jury, is empowered by statute to hold hearings and subpoena witnesses in its investigations of criminal activities in the state.

Corbin said he was not certain of the number of fish killed, but called it "quite a large kill." He added, however:

'Different' Froth Issue Goes on Sale Today

By ANTON NESS
Collegian Staff Writer

The latest issue of Froth is totally different from any previous one, according to Editor David Moore.

Satire on the political events and the general political atmosphere of this year's presidential election is featured. The three major candidates "comment" on the major and minor issues of the day. A professor concedes defeat, no matter who wins the election, in an article entitled "Three Months Later!"

A study of drugs and the college student, another on Black Power Sharing, and an account on the Chicago convention riots by several veterans are among Froth's more serious articles.

Can Penn State's housing program really be defended? And what could God possibly have to say to Froth in an omnibus candid interview? These are some later questions that Froth raises.

Moore said, "Froth has decided to improve on its good quality and include articles of serious intent on several overriding concerns of today's students. It is becoming more of a campus publication than it has been."

Concerning its new style and format, Moore said, "We intend to become larger in scope both in content and in types of articles. We find that sometimes photography, when coupled with prose or poetry, conveys more feeling with a greater impact than any story could accomplish."

According to Moore, Froth plans to expand the sources of its content by encouraging its students to display their talents, not only in journalism, but in other fields in its future issues. The magazine also intends to use articles from various campus organizations, something which it hasn't done before.

"The outcome of these changes will be that Froth will become less stylized and more unpredictable," Moore said.

Froth is on sale today until 5 p.m. on the ground floor of the Hetzel Union Building, the Mall, in Simmons-McElwain Area, and near the Creamery.

Mock Election Begins Today

Voting will begin today in the Presidential Mock Election and Referendum, sponsored by the University Union Board.

Machines will be open today and tomorrow in North, South, East, West and Pollock dining halls from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Polls also will be on the ground floor of the Hetzel Union Building and on Pollock Road on the Mall from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.
