Ranger Patrol Meets Enemy Resistance

SAIGON — U.S. infantrymen pursuing an enemy battalion toward the Cambodian border encountered heavy resistance yesterday, and contact continued into the night, field reports said.

The fighting between elements of the U.S. 25th Infantry division and an estimated 400 North Vietnamese troops surprised an American Ranger patrol in the Renegade Woods, 44 miles northwest of Saigon. Sources said two rangers were killed, and seven were wounded.

An infantry company moved into the area three miles from the frontier to relieve the patrol and was hit by heavy rifle and machine gun fire.

The Americans, reinforced by more ground troops, helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers, battled the enemy for about nine hours and reported killing 3 North Vietnamese soldiers.

Korea Denounces Japanese Hijackers

TOKYO — With a Japanese official and three crewmen as hostages, nine hijackers finally steered an airliner to North Korea yesterday, and the Pyongyang regime denounced the whole affair as a plot.

The Japanese hijackers liberated 103 persons who had spent more than three days in the plane aground in South Korea while the slow-motion seizure proceeded.

A North Korean broadcast said the Japan Air Lines Boeing 727 landed in North Korea "without prior notice and our consent"—and without any guarantees by the Pyongyang government for its safety.

The broadcast accused the Japanese of a subtle plot "to create the impression that we want to take in the so-called Trotskyites or criminals"—meaning the hijackers, who reportedly want to orchestrate a world revolution from Pyongyang.

W. Germany Demands Diplomat's Safety

GUATEMALA — West Germany and Guatemala clashed yesterday on what to do about a kidnapped West German diplomat.

The West German government in Bonn declared the Guatemalan government should give in to the demands for the ambassador's safety. Guatemala's foreign minister said his government couldn't do that because it would violate the nation's constitution.

Not long afterward, Bonn was advised by its embassy here that the kidnapers had raised their demands to freedom for about nine hours and reported killing three North Vietnamese soldiers.

The Nation

Nixon Urges Postage Stamp Increase

WASHINGTON — President Nixon urged yesterday quick action by Congress to raise the pay of all federal workers and increase to 10 cents the cost of mailing a letter.

Nixon, in a special message, said his plan would offset the cost of wage settlements through revenue increases that "will neither require extending the surtax or raising income tax rates."

But, he said, further new and permanent revenue measures—not involving income taxes—will be needed by mid-1971. He did not specify what measures the administration would favor.

Under an agreement reached Thursday by government and union negotiators, some 5.3 million federal civilian employees and military personnel would get a 6 per cent pay hike retroactive to Dec. 27, 1969. The agreement does not cover about 600,000 federal blue-collar workers.

Air Controllers Continue Sick Call

WASHINGTON — "We're sick," contended many air traffic controllers yesterday as they ignored pledges by union leaders to get the men back and end a costly 10-day rebellion.

Attorney F. Lee Bailey and top officials of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization PATCO scheduled a news conference to order the controllers back publicly in compliance with a court-directed agreement with the government.

The Federal Aviation Administration reported no significant back-to-work trend. "We see a slight over-all improvement, but not enough to have much effect," a spokesman said.

Absenteeism continued high at key facilities in New York, Chicago, Kansas City and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

For the first time since the sick-call campaign began Wednesday of last week, the Airline Transport Association reported fewer flight cancellations and shorter delays.

100,000 To Participate in Victory March

WASHINGTON — Leaders of a "March for Victory" gathered for a prayer meeting last night preceding a parade today along Pennsylvania Avenue.

They said they expect up to 100,000 persons to participate in the march led by Carl McIntire, a fundamentalist radio preacher from Collingswood, N.J.

Their banners say "In God We Trust" and "Win the War Now."

"We're looking for a real big turnout," the Rev. Clifford Peterson, Phoenix, Ariz., Washington coordinator of the march, said in an interview. "Some small groups are starting to come in."

Peterson said leaders are being careful to keep inflammatory signs out of the parade and also to keep radical groups away.

State Board Orders Sewage Improvement

HARRISBURG — The state Sanitary Water Board yesterday ordered 15 central Pennsylvania municipalities and three other dischargers to upgrade their sewage treatment facilities.

The orders involve the upgrading of the Juniata and Susquehanna rivers.

They were ordered to remove 85 per cent of the oxygen consuming materials and most of the suspended solids from waste water before discharging it.

River Flooding Causes Traffic Jams

PITTSBURGH — The Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers crested six inches above the 5-foot flood mark yesterday, spilling over two thoroughfares and causing massive traffic jams.

The rivers began to recede in the evening, but several inches still remained on sections of the Parkway along the Monongahela and the 10th Street Bypass near the Allegheny.

Traffic, backed up for several miles on the outskirts at various times during the day, had to be rerouted through the city.

High water also closed the Monongahela parking wharf and River Road on the city's North Side. Police special service units were called out to rescue a motorist with two small children who were stranded on River Road.

The flooding followed two days of heavy rains, snow and high winds, which toppled trees and power lines all over the area.

Majority Vote for Daily 24-Hour Policy

Areas Adopt Visitation Plans

By JOE MEYERS
Collegian Staff Writer

Men's residence halls in West, North and East Halls now are operating under some type of 24-hour visitation program.

The men's residence halls in West Halls have approved a 24-hour, seven days a week visitation policy which went into effect Wednesday. The men of North Halls voted for the same policy, while 11 out of 24 houses in East Halls approved daily 24-hour visitation.

The liberalized visitation policy came as a result of legislation passed last term by the Men's Residence Council, which called for visitation to be determined by individual residence halls. The bill was approved in March by the University Senate.

Perseverance is Key

Concerning the new policy, John Cressman, president of West Halls Council, said, "This shows that if the students in residence halls feel strongly about a policy, it can be adopted if they persevere. Thanks to the help of the Office of the Dean of Students, this desire of policy change has gone smoothly since it was proposed at a WHC meeting during Fall Term."

He added that over 60 per cent of the men in West Halls voted for the new visitation policy.

According to Cressman, the four West Halls residence halls will operate under the following rules:

—Students will not be able to have guests in their room if their roommate objects.

—All guests must be escorted to and from the room.

—All activities in violation of local and state laws are prohibited.

Individual Residence Halls

Denny Lott, president of the North Halls Association of Students, emphasized the fact that the adoption of the liberalized visitation policy was a matter for the individual residence halls, and not the NHAS.

"At last, each residence hall is able to tailor its visitation policy to its own individual needs," Lott said.

Ken Schwartz, president of the East Residence Halls Association, said yesterday that the residence halls in that area are now operating under new policies.

11 Houses Approve

Aside from the 11 houses which approved daily 24-hour visitation, the others approved 24-hour visitation on weekends only with various small changes in the daily schedule.

"A couple of the residence halls approved 24-hour a day visitation on a trial basis and are having revotes in a month," Schwartz said. "Some of the students who were opposed to this policy have agreed to try it on an experimental basis for the next month and then revote on the issue at that time."

Simmons Favors 24-Hour Policy

By TINA HONDRA
Collegian Staff Writer

Simmons Hall Thursday became the second women's residence hall to pass 24-hour visitation.

Hastings Hall already had passed the liberalized visitation Tuesday night.

The results of the voting in Simmons are as follows: 251 voted for 24 hour visitation seven days a week; 119 favored visitation from noon until closing Sunday through Thursday, with 24-hour visitation Friday and Saturday; 55 residents voted for no change in the present open house policy and 29 favored visitation from noon until closing, seven days a week. Of the 493 residents of Simmons, 454 voted.

No Violations

Sue Irons, president of Simmons, commented on new open-house policy. "It's really amazing. I've been wandering around the halls this evening, and I have yet to run into a fellow. The fellows I saw earlier in the evening were all escorted. There have been no violations of the rules, and I expect none. There is no mass pandemonium. I'm extremely proud of them all," she said.

Two resident assistants from Simmons spoke about the new ruling. Casey Foley (9th-sociology-Pittsburgh) said, "It deserves a lot of communication and discussion. It's something that has to be taken seriously." She added, "We are adults, and the individual has the right to make a good decision."

Miss Foley said she expected security to "remain the same. It puts the responsibility back on the individual; it leaves it up to the individual's discretion."

Another R.A., Karen Edwards, said, "The privacy of the residents won't be threatened unduly because the men will be escorted to the rooms, with the consent of the roommates."

Both the R.A.'s agreed, "Behavior patterns aren't going to change."

Getting Together

WE ALL KNOW that the census bureau is trying to count everyone this year. What we would like to find out is who lives in the cab station on S. Allen. Of course it's possible that the census taker was just tired and decided to take a taxi.

Senator Church To Talk On Rockefeller Report

By RUTH BROZGAL
Collegian Staff Writer

U.S. Senator Frank Church, D-Idaho, will discuss the recent Rockefeller Report on Latin America at 8:30 p.m. Monday in Schwab.

According to Charles D. Ameringer, associate professor of history, the College of The Liberal Arts Division of Latin American Studies asked Church to speak because he was chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Western Hemisphere Affairs. He added that several professors in the department share Church's "generally liberal views" on western hemisphere relations and his discontent with the Rockefeller Report.

Church, a Senate dove, was very outspoken against the slack in the Kennedy Administration's Alliance for Progress. Church reportedly advocates Latin American government independent of U.S. action, and has repeatedly criticized U.S. military assistance—anywhere in the world.

Church is now the third ranking majority member of the Senate Interior Committee and is chairman of its Subcommittee on Public Lands. He was named the nation's leading conservation legislator in 1965 by the National Wildlife Federation, and authored a bill in 1967 to create a National Wild Rivers System. The senator is sponsor of the Southwest Idaho Water Development Project, a plan providing water to irrigate 450,000 acres of land.

Elected to the Senate in 1956 at the age of 32, Church defeated former U.S. Senator Glen Taylor in the Democratic primary election and then went on to defeat the incumbent republican, Herman Welker.

From September to December 1966, Church was a delegate to the 21st session of the United Nations General Assembly.

Church has opposed increases in individual income tax rates, suggesting a return to the excess war profit tax of World War II, making a levy on those corporate profits which are due to increased business because of the Vietnam War. Voting against ending the gold cover on U.S. currency, he has been a critic of short-term measures to curb the U.S. balance of payments deficit.

Church also was the keynote speaker at the 1960 Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles.

The senator's discussion is open to all students.

Rottmund, Koval To Run as Independents

2 Announce USG Candidacy

By PAUL SCHAFER
Collegian Staff Writer

Jim Rottmund (9th-secondary education-Coatesville) and Tom Koval (5th-pre med-Vestaburg) last night announced their candidacy for the presidency and vice presidency, respectively, of the Undergraduate Student Government.

Running on an independent slate, their platform includes the improvement of student parking facilities, revising the advisory system, cutting back the amount of money used for research for private firms and keeping the Hetzel Union Building open later at night for study.

Undergraduate Student Government President Ted Thompson last night released the following statement to The Daily Collegian.

"I would like to release the candidates for the executive and class officers' positions from the executive order that was issued Tuesday, March 31, as of today.

"The reason that I am doing this is mainly because we now have an elections commissioner, whom I have confidence, will carry out the responsibilities given the commissioner by the Congress.

"I would also like to announce that there will be a candidates meeting at 7 Monday night in 215 HUB. All candidates must attend."

Rottmund said many University faculty members are "wrapped up in research, not in teaching." Koval, adding that "Students should come first," said the money allocated for research could be better used to obtain more qualified personnel.

Rottmund and Koval favor the formation of a joint committee of USG and University Senate members to revise the University advising system. They believe the current system is too impersonal.

Criticizing the recent dispute over the date USG elections will be held and last term's debate over the seating of a congressman, Rottmund claimed that USG showed "irresponsibility," and added, "there are so many more important things to talk about."

Regarding their candidacy, Rottmund said he and Koval are running "on the desire to do something" for the students. "We want a better Penn State through the betterment of USG," he said.

Senators Question Department's Failure To Investigate Carswell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators seeking to block the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell demanded yesterday that the Justice Department explain why it didn't produce "significant and easily discovered information bearing on the nominee's fitness."

In a letter to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, four senators said that in the past the FBI has been under instructions to investigate a federal judicial nominee's racial attitudes with particular care.

Yet in the case of Carswell, they said, disclosures of a 1948 white supremacy speech and the Florida judge's participation in incorporating a segregated golf club were revealed by private citizens.

Questions Asked?

At the very least, said the four, they wanted to know if Carswell had been asked the most elementary of questions:

"Is there anything in your background . . . that might embarrass the President or militate against your appointment to the Supreme Court?"

The letter, signed by Democrats Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland, Birch Bayh of Indiana, Alan Cranston of California and Republican Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, was the Carswell opposition's chief move on the final full day of debate.

49 Against Motion

Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the acting GOP leader, told newsmen the leadership count showed 49 hard votes against the motion that comes up Monday to send the nomination back to the Judiciary Committee.

That would be more than enough to block the motion since four of the 100 senators are not expected to be present for the first key vote.

If the nomination of the 50-year-old Florida judge survives recommitment the Senate will vote Wednesday on confirmation.

46 Against Recommitment

An Associated Press count showed 46 votes against recommitment, 39 for and 13 uncommitted for a total of 98. Republican Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota and Democrat Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico are sick while Republican Wallace F. Bennett of Utah and Democrat Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island expect to be absent.

The AP poll counts Bennett for and Pell against Carswell, but does not count Anderson and Mundt.
