

Fredericks sets 3-mile mark at Penn

By BILL HORLACHER
Collegian Sports Writer

Greg Fredericks won the three-mile run to lead Penn State's "not great, but good" performance in the Penn Relays, held Friday and Saturday at Philadelphia's Franklin Field.

"With more than 100 colleges entered, things really spread out," coach Harry Groves said. "Our smattering of places is a darn good showing. Not great, but darn good."

Fredericks' three-mile race broke the Penn Relays record of 13:36.1 that he set last year. The Lion senior finished in 13:31.5 and defeated Western Michigan's Gary Harris by one tenth of a second.

"It was a tight competitive race; well-paced by Greg," Groves said. "He had a really outstanding weekend," he added.

Fredericks' individual performance also included exceptional mile legs in both the distance medley and the four-mile relay. In the distance medley, held Friday, Fredericks posted a time of 4:04. He ran 4:03 in Saturday's four-mile relay.

Groves considered this year's effort at the Penn Relays, "a step up from last year." "Last year we had all those good placings, but most of them were in non-championship races. This year everything we won was in the championships," he said.

Just one victim of the stiff competition at Philadelphia was sophomore distance man Charlie Maguire. Maguire ran the three mile in 13:48—12 seconds under his previous best—and still finished seventh.

A Penn State record was set by the 880 relay team, competing in a trial heat Friday. Doug Finkel, Fred Singleton, Ed Chubb and Jimmy Scott claimed a PSU record with a time of 1:25.4. In the championship finals Saturday they ran 1:25.5, finishing fifth.

The same group of sprinters failed to place in the 440 relay. The Lions were in a very strong position until Singleton and Chubb missed twice in attempting to exchange the baton. As a result they ran out of the zone and were disqualified.

Scott Chatham placed third in the finals of the 440 intermediate hurdles, "a tough, grueling race," according to Groves. Chatham's time of 52.8 was his best of the year.

Jim Allahand's steeplechase time of 9:01 flat established another Penn State school record. But, in line with the demanding competition of the Penn Relays, Allahand finished fourth.

State's four-mile relay team chopped a full 21 seconds of the school mile but somehow finished fifth. Dan Supulski, Matt Chadwick, Bob Hillman and Fredericks compiled a time of 16:40.7. "We had a couple legs that were run wrong and that put us out of it," Groves said.

Bob Gill, Penn State's top javelin thrower, also earned a fifth place. Gill threw 226-6, his second best effort of the year.

By far the most impressive team at the relays was little-known North Carolina Central University. The Eagles used just five men to win three championship relays. They set a national collegiate record for the mile relay and a Penn Relays record for the 880.

But North Carolina Central didn't stop at the local level. The team of Julius Sang, Larry Black, Jeff Horsley and Bob Ouku took a world record with a time of 3:14.8.

Lion ruggers finish third in Phyrst tourney

—photograph by Noel Roche

THE BASIC IDEA is to get out of the "scrum" while you're still in one piece, as this Penn State rugby player demonstrates. Penn State which hosted the 10th Annual Phyrst cup tournament Saturday and Sunday, had the lead after the first day but finished third behind George Washington and Washington.

"Feets, don't fail me now!"

Penn State's rugby team turned out to a most cordial host in the 10th Annual Phyrst Cup Tournament held Saturday and Sunday on the East Halls playing fields.

After taking the lead after the first day of competition by shutting out Baltimore, 9-0, and Army, 3-0, the Lions bowed out Sunday dropping a game to George Washington, 16-4. The Colonials captured the top honors in the competition by winning all three of their bouts.

Washington, although it also posted a 3-0 record, finished second on total points. George Washington amassed 45 points while Washington compiled only 28 points. Penn State wound up third with a 2-1 mark.

The tourney, which featured a collection of top teams in the Eastern Rugby Union, saw the Cleveland Blues finishing fourth (1-2, 16 points) and Army fifth (1-2, 10 points). Old Maroon of New York and Baltimore tied for the sixth spot as both clubs posted 1-2 records and nine total points. Richmond, which dropped all three of its games, ended up seventh.

Penn State could not be too disappointed with its performance since losing to the eventual winners of the tournament. Rugby club president Gene DePorter agreed.

"I thought we played extremely well," he said. "Penn State was not favored to win the tournament. We felt before that George Washington and Washington would be the class teams of the tournament."

Phyrst owner Ernie Oberman presented George Washington captain Len Ceder with the Phyrst Cup and the traveling tournament trophy.

Gridders hurt

Penn State defensive tackle Randy Crowder and freshman defensive lineman Jim Zitch will miss the remainder of spring football drills.

Crowder, who started occasionally last year, suffered a broken thumb. Zitch tore medial ligaments in his left knee. He was operated on Saturday morning at Centre County Community Hospital.

The Lions earlier lost freshman linebacker Jim Rosecrans, who also tore knee ligaments.

Lakers square NBA playoffs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain went to the basket and Happy Hairston led a runaway third quarter as the Los Angeles Lakers coasted past the New York Knicks 106-92 yesterday to square their National Basketball Association Championship playoff series at one victory apiece.

The Knicks fell apart in the third quarter, playing most of it without Dave DeBusschere, who was injured, and Jerry Lucas, hampered by foul trouble.

DeBusschere, who led first-half rebounders with 10, pulled a muscle in his right hip in the second quarter. Although he started the third quarter, he had to leave early in the period, in which the Lakers outscored the Knicks 28-11.

Hairston outscored the whole New York team by himself with 12 points in the quarter.

The Knicks tried to rally in the fourth quarter, several times pulling to within 10 points, but Laker reserve Leroy Ellis applied the finishing touch when he hit an acrobatic left-handed hook shot and Gail Goodrich followed with a 16-foot jumper for a 14-point lead.

In the final minute, successive buckets by Jerry West, Goodrich and Chamberlain capped the Lakers' revenge of a 114-92 defeat by the hot-shooting underdog Knicks in the series opener.

Goodrich led all scorers with 31 points, including 22 in the first half, which ended with Los Angeles ahead 51-50. Chamberlain, who scored only 12 points in the first game, had 23 points and 24 rebounds this time.

The nationally-televised, best-of-seven series moves to New York Wednesday and Friday nights for the third and fourth games. The fifth game will be played next Sunday night at the Forum here.
