

Winds of fate finally changing

At least baseball coach Chuck Medlar can't complain that his team was rained out again — this time it was a tornado.

The Lion nine was foiled in its attempt to open its season at George Washington when a tornado swept the Washington-Virginia area early yesterday.

The Lions did not even make the trip after Medlar got wind of the field conditions and the Washington-area weather report.

"Right now our pitching rotation is pretty well disrupted by the weather," Medlar said. "We have to play more baseball games to stay sharp."

Penn State tries again tomorrow at 3 p.m. at Beaver Field against Ithaca.

Bucs hang on to edge Phils

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates jumped on rookie righthander Larry Christenson for six runs and seven hits in the first three innings, then held on for a 6-4 exhibition baseball victory over the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday.

The Pirates got two runs in the opening inning on a one-run triple by Al Oliver and Bob Robertson's double and added three more in the second on an error, a single and another Robertson double.

The final Pittsburgh run

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's top collegiate basketball players probably will be able to compete against the Soviet Union later this month, a special House education subcommittee was told yesterday.

Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Union, told the subcommittee there would be no reprisals against the athletes nor the schools if they participate in the basketball tour.

All this is provided the Amateur Athletic Union applies for NCAA sanction of the games and the sanction is granted.

Attorneys for the AAU and NCAA immediately huddled and the AAU began completing the required forms.

Byers, careful not to promise certification, told the subcommittee the NCAA could make a determination by Friday or Saturday.

"We will not relax our rules and regulations," Byers said.

Under the existing regulations, however, Byers said, the tour could be certified.

Under prodding by Rep. Peter Peyser, R-N.Y., Byers said NCAA rules did allow member student-athletes to participate in the tour if it was not billed as an "all-star" team and if the AAU asked for certification.

Members of the subcommittee, including Reps. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., and John Dellenback, R-Ore., assured Byers they were not attempting to force any student-athletes into taking part in the games, but rather were trying to provide for them to do so if they wished.

Byers had questioned the effect on the athletes' studies if they were to play.

Bob James, commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference, testified that regardless of the NCAA action, schools in the ACC probably would not allow their student-athletes to play since the tour would come during exams.

Byers also cautioned the subcommittee that the AAU, which is sponsoring the tour, has not completed arrangements for all of the games. Therefore, he said, the NCAA might not sanction every game.

Make jogging fun and easy.

Jogging with a friend is a fun way to exercise, and keeping in shape always seems easier with good company along. So you don't want to give up even one day's run, and certainly not several days due to your period.

That's why you should depend on the protection of Tampax tampons. Because they're worn internally, you'll feel completely comfortable. When the tampon is properly in place, you won't even know it's there. And you'll be free to keep up with your jogging.

Active lives demand reliable internal sanitary protection. So is it any wonder that more women in more countries around the world turn to Tampax tampons?
