

O'Neil may miss Navy

Penn State linebacker Ed O'Neil, who was in on 10 tackles in the Lions' opener at Stanford last Saturday, may miss this weekend's encounter at Navy with a wrist injury.

"We were working on our goal line defenses when it happened," O'Neil said of the injury which came Tuesday in practice. "My thumb was bent the wrong way..."

"I don't know what the situation is. Coach (Joe) Paterno hasn't talked to me about playing or not playing yet. I'll have to see what Dr. Fleagle has to say."

Dr. S.B. Fleagle, however, refused comment last night, saying: "You'll have to talk with John Morris (the sports information director who could not be reached.)"

But Paterno, speaking on the television show "TV Quarterbacks" last night, said O'Neil's status at this time is not certain. He may miss the Navy game, Paterno said.

All-America candidate O'Neil was one of 12 nominated for the Associated Press's College Linebacker of the Week award for his play in the 20-6 win at Stanford. Five of O'Neil's 10 tackles were solo efforts, several coming off Penn State's devastating blitz.

Is Navy tougher to sink?

By RICH MUKA
Collegian Sports Writer
Navy breezed to an impressive 37-8 victory over VMI Saturday in their season opener. But the next two weeks on the Midshipmen's schedule don't have any more VMI's.

Two perennial football powerhouses — No. 7 Penn State and No. 5 Michigan, as ranked by the Associated Press — present what one might call "somehow more formidable opposition" for the Middies.

The last time Navy beat Penn State was an embarrassing 23-22 squeaker aired on national TV in the 1967 opener. The Middies didn't even come close after that until last year. And that took a super second-half effort from All-America

the Collegian sports

The Daily Collegian Thursday, September 20, 1973-7

linebacker John Skorupan who picked off an errant pass to cap a 21-10 Penn State win.

In between those two games, Coach Joe Paterno's teams literally blew Navy away with scores of 31-6, 45-22, 55-7 and 56-3.

Saturday's game doesn't figure to be nearly as lopsided, however. Numerous factors should keep the game close, including Navy's new coach George Welsh, who was one of Paterno's assistants last year and knows the Penn State system.

"At Penn State we saw a significant difference in the type of football player on last year's Navy squad as compared with the ones we played against in 1968 and 1969," Welsh said.

"It's obvious to me that the machinery has been set in motion," he said before the season began, "and there are people working at Annapolis to do the job of attracting the kind of football player and athlete we need to compete with the teams on our schedule."

Twenty lettermen return this year from a Navy squad which finished with a 4-7 slate last season under former Coach Rick Forzano. Seven seniors start on defense for Navy including the three deep secondary men who work as a "very cohesive unit" according to the Penn State scouting report.

Navy's offensive corps could surprise a lot of people with the line averaging 6-3, 236-pounds and anchored by guard Don Montgomery and tackle Max Legg who both go 6-4, 260-pounds.

Quarterback Allen Glenny, a distinct threat to run or pass, will direct the Midshipmen attack. Running back Cleveland Cooper who rambled for over 1,000 yards last year as a sophomore to set a new Navy record should be tough to stop.

If the running game bogs down, Glenny has two talented senior receivers — Bert Calland and Larry Van Loan — that can get open. Calland ranked seventh nationally in pass receiving last season with 61 catches which also tied an all-time Navy record, but Van Loan remains doubtful for the Penn State encounter.

Mets bomb Pirates 7-3

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher George Stone contributed to two rallies and Cleon Jones walloped a pair of homers to drive in five runs in leading the New York Mets to a 7-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates that tightened the tense National League East division race last night.

The victory pulled the Mets into a third-place tie with the St. Louis Cardinals, 1½ games in back of the front-running Pirates.

The Cardinals lost to the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2. The second-place Montreal Expos, who lost 8-6 to the Chicago Cubs, remained one game behind Pittsburgh.

Stone pitched six innings and scattered eight hits, but his biggest contributions came in the third and fifth innings, when he figured in the scoring of two runs.

After Jones hit a two-run shot in the second inning, Stone beat out an infield single and raced to second on a grounder. Stone then scored as Felix Millan singled up the middle for a 3-2 New York lead.

In the fifth, Stone knocked in what proved to be the winning run. Jerry Grote opened with a double off the left field wall, moved to third on Bud Harrelson's base-hit bunt and came home on Stone's ground-out.

The Mets wrapped it up on Jones' three-run homer in the eighth.

Willie Stargell slammed his 41st homer of the year into the Met bullpen in the sixth for the Pirates.

Carlton stops Montreal 3-2

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Steve Carlton raced home on a wild pitch by Tom Murphy in the fifth inning to break a 1-1 tie and the Philadelphia Phillies went on to a 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last night.

Carlton started the fifth with a single. Denny Doyle doubled Carlton to third and he scored on the wild pitch. Del Unser singled home Doyle with an insurance run.

The Cardinals blew a chance to move from third to second place in the tight National League East Division race as the Montreal

Expos lost to Chicago earlier in the day.

St. Louis took a 1-0 lead in the first when Lou Brock singled, reached second when Carlton threw wild on a pickoff attempt, took third on an infield out and came home on a high chop to the pitcher.

Philadelphia tied it 1-1 in the fourth as Willie Montanez tripled and scored on Mike Schmidt's single.

St. Louis added another run in the ninth on a single by Joe Torre, a wild pitch and a double by Terry Hughes.

Artists series

Tickets for the Artists Series performance by the National Ballet Saturday, Sept. 22, in Rec Hall are currently on sale at the HUB.
Following the Ballet on the Series Sept. 28 will be tenor Seth McCoy, who began his singing career with the famous Jubilee Singers and comparatively late in life has become a leading tenor in opera, oratorio, and solo recitals. He has sung as soloist with the leading orchestras on the continent, in Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco, Ottawa and Toronto and many others. He was recently chosen to be a regular member of the Bach Aria Group while still maintaining a tour schedule. Among the highlights of his career was the honor of appearing during inaugural week of the new Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, in Washington, D.C.
For some area residents he is no stranger, for he has appeared as soloist with the State College Choral Society a number of times.
On his schedule this year are performances with the San Francisco Orchestra, Cincinnati Symphony, Cleveland Orchestra, and the Akron Symphony.
Tickets for the performance (Friday, Sept. 28, 8:30 p.m., Schwab) will go on sale to the public Wednesday, Sept. 26, at 9 a.m. in the HUB. Sale to students will begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 25.

Mick Peterson, a featured dancer with the National Ballet, will perform during the program Saturday (Sept. 22) in Rec Hall (8:30 p.m.) on the Artists Series. One of his appearances will be in the dance set to Bartok's Piano Concerto.
