
Photo by Randy J Woodbury

Forward Jon Marshall (43) will need his soft shot at Ohio State tomorrow

Buckeyes, cagers in shootout

By MARK SIMENSON
Assistant Sports Editor

Jerry Lucas, John Havlicek and Larry Seigfried, to name a few, found the baskets at the Buckeye arena to their liking. Each went on to shoot profitably for money in the NBA.

Down through the years in the Big Ten, Ohio State has ranked as one of the best shooting teams in the conference. Last year the Buckeyes were tops from the foul line with a .747 accuracy.

Penn State motors into Woody Hayes country for a contest tomorrow night in the spacious St. John's Arena (capacity 13,489). That is, if it can make it past the tractor trailer blockades outside of Columbus along Interstate 70.

Once inside the arena, the Lions will have to contend with the Buckeyes who are still burning from an overtime loss to Notre Dame, a game which many people thought they should have put away in regulation time.

Don Ferrell is one of them. The Lion assistant basketball coach scouted the Notre Dame-Ohio State clash. A missed free throw, ironically, cost the Buckeyes the game.

"We're in for a true test," Ferrell concluded last night as the Lions fixed all the loose ends for this morning's trip to Columbus.

"Ohio State ranks right up there with Indiana, Michigan and Michigan State in the Big Ten. They are one of the top four teams," he said.

Ferrell found himself looking at an almost mirror image of the Lions when he scouted the Buckeyes. "We match up well against them," he said, adding the only advantage Penn State has is at center where 6-9 Randy Meister is two inches taller than Bill Andreas.

Despite the "even" matchups, Ohio State is favored to win by as many as 15 points.

John Bach, hoping to pick up win number three of the season, probably will try to exploit the advantage at the middle.

"We can't win against the major teams without a top center," Bach empahsized.

Meister had a mediocre game against Bucknell, scoring only nine points. He reversed himself Wednesday night by hitting short range jumpers and layups for 15 first half points.

The Baldwinsville, N.Y. junior added 20 pounds before coming to fall practice. Bach, though, is satisfied with the size of his pivotman. "I've seen a lot of tall skinny kids do the job," he said.

When Fred Taylor began thinking of a starting lineup, he had to locate some offense. Guard Allan Hornyak (24.6 points per game) and forward Luke Wittee (15.4) graduated, leaving one scorer in double figures and nobody else with more than seven points a game.

Wardel Jackson is one of seven returning lettermen and should score better than his 15.9 clip of a year ago. At 6-7, 200 pounds, Jackson gives a little muscle to the front line that also has Andreas (6-7, 214) and Jack Wolfe (6-6, 208).

Before the season started, Taylor wrote in the press guide, "We do not have a team of stars; therefore we have to play as a unit. We have prided ourselves on being able to do this in past years and there is no reason why we can't expect it again."

Bach isn't expecting an easy time after his team coasted over Virginia. "They're a typical Big Ten team. They're well disciplined, rough and aggressive."

While the Lions have been showing more offense this season, it is the defense that is causing the Lion coach problems. "I wasn't pleased with our defense," he said after the Virginia game. "We were too soft in the belly. It's a luxury we can't afford."

Against the tough shooting Buckeyes, defense could decide the outcome.

Tourney starts tonight

Champs on Rec mat

By RICK STARR
Assistant Sports Editor

Only 10 NCAA Wrestling Champions are crowned each year and four of them will be at Rec Hall tonight and tomorrow when Penn State tries out its first invitational wrestling tourney.

A card of that caliber few tournaments boast, first year affairs or otherwise. It now remains to be seen if Penn State students will come and see it since they have to pay.

It may be worth every penny owing to an extremely strong team from Clarion State which would make a tough show against the Lions by itself.

But add four more wrestlers who earned medals in the 1973 NCAA meet and six more teams and it gives Lion wrestling coach Bill Koll cause for comment.

"This should be a great tournament," Koll said. "It is a chance for local eastern teams to get a shot at us and it's good for us to wrestle good competition. It gives eight teams a chance to test themselves against good early season competition."

The eight-team field for the tournament includes Clarion State, Lock Haven State, Indiana State (Terre Haute), Michigan, Slippery Rock, Virginia, West Chester State and Penn State.

The four 1973 NCAA champions in the field are Clarion's three champs; Wade Schalles, Don Rohn and Bill Simpson, and Jarrett Hubbard of Michigan.

Tickets can be purchased—a new experience for most student wrestling fans — at the Rec Hall ticket office and at the door prior to each of the three sessions. Tonight's session begins at 8 p.m. with tomorrow's semifinals scheduled for 2 p.m. The finals will then go at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets are still available for all three parts.

the daily Collegian sports

The Daily Collegian — Friday, December 7, 1973—9

Jerry Villecco

John Fritz

The NCAA medal winners who will be on the mats are Michigan's Jim brown (third at 188), Bill Davids (fourth at 126), Gary Ernst (fourth at heavyweight) and Penn State's John Fritz (third at 126). Fritz ended last season with a 19-1 mark.

Teamwise, the tourney has three very good teams, some good teams and some not-so-good teams.

Penn State, Michigan and Clarion State will be at each other with a fury. May the best team win.

Virginia comes from a conference not feared for its wrestling. But the team had four champs in last week's tourney at Charlottesville and the team may hold surprises. Indiana State came up with three champs of its own last weekend when they hosted their own invitational and may also raise a few eyebrows although they are light in the middle of the linup.

Lock Haven State is wrestling four sophomores and two freshmen but have two State College Conference Champs.

Slippery Rock may be on the rocks with its best gun, NCAA College Division champ Jack Spates, silenced with an ankle injury.

West Chester state may also have a few problems.

Bob Medina captains Penn State's effort at the eight team tourney

Wrestling tourney facts

TIME — Tonight at 8, tomorrow at 2 p.m. (semifinals) and 8 p.m. (finals).

PLACE — Rec Hall

ADMISSION — Tickets available for all sessions at Rec Hall ticket window and at the door. Individual session tickets are $2 for tonight and tomorrow afternoon, $3 for the finals Saturday. Series tickets for all three sessions are $6.

TEAMS — Clarion State, Michigan, Virginia, Penn State, Lock Haven State, Indiana State (Terre Haute), Slippery Rock and West Chester State.

OUTSTANDING INDIVIDUALS — 1973 NCAA champions Wade Schalles, Don Rohn, and Bill Simpson from Clarion State and Jarrett Hubbard from Michigan.

OUTLOOK — Tournament will provide the best level of competition in Rec Hall since the NCAAs were held there in 1968.

Schalles shifting sights to team-oriented goals

By JEFF YOUNG
Collegian Sports Writer

While he is hoping for a good showing, Schalles has fairly well set opinions on the outcome of the match.

"Michigan has got to be on top. They're going to be too tough for anyone. Clarion and Penn State will fight it out for second place."

Of his hosts, Schalles said, "Penn State has a fine team, always one of the best in the East, along with Lehigh and Navy. I do think that they are down this year, from normal years. They've had their injuries, and we've had ours also. It should be very interesting to see what happens."

Schalles, who is not yet sure of which weight (158, 167 or 177) he will wrestle at, said he feels that there are good possibilities for upsets during the individual competition.

"It's going to be a real outstanding caliber of wrestling," he said, "with outstanding individuals on each of these teams, so you never know. Like maybe John Fritz (Penn State's 126-pounder, third nationally last year) will get upset. I don't think it will happen, but the chance is there."

So while everything points to a very enjoyable time for the fans, Schalles indicates that he will enjoy it as well.

"Everybody has his ups and downs, and being able to look forward to the Nationals would make it much more enjoyable, but I've just got to restructure my interests to the team."

Tonight, as most people know by now, there will be a lot of wrestlers in Rec Hall for Penn State's First Annual Invitational Wrestling Tournament. Among these wrestlers many different types of motivational factors are used. Wade Schalles of Clarion State is one who finds himself motivated for reasons somewhat different from those he has known.

Schalles, is in his fifth year of wrestling and a two-time NCAA champion, and therefore one of the big attractions of the tournament. But this season is different for Schalles as he is no longer eligible for post-season competition.

"It is quite different from what I have experienced," he related, "because it's not as colorful as the other years. This year I'm wrestling much more for the team, for Clarion State." He did add, however, that he hopes to go to the Olympics in 1976 and he must therefore work to become a "more standardized wrestler."

This "wrestling more for the team" has its connotations going into tonight's action, as Schalles said, "I would like for the team to make a real good showing. It would mean a lot to me for the team to win. Even though there is no real title, people will be keeping score. The team is really looking forward to the match."

Grid notes

More honors for Cappy

By RAY McALLISTER
Collegian Sports Editor

In the wake of John Cappelletti's scooting off with the Heisman, the other awards have to seem almost insignificant. But yesterday Cappelletti kept his perfect string intact by being named first team All-America by United Press International.

The UPI also brought such news to defensive tackle Randy Crowder, who, hampered by a knee injury, did not have quite the glamorous season anticipated after coach Joe Paterno called him "as quick as Mike Reid."

Offensive tackle Charlie Getty, offensive guard Mark Markovich and linebacker Ed O'Neil were named to UPI's second team while tight end Dan Natale and defensive back Buddy Ellis were accorded honorable mention.

In addition to Cappelletti, the first team offensive backfield included Kansas quarterback David Jaynes, and running backs Archie Griffin of Ohio State and Roosevelt Leaks of Texas.

Leaks, incidentally, has had his knee cast removed and doctors indicate he'll be ready for the New Year's Cotton Bowl encounter.

***

Pitt coach Johnny Majors has been named coach of the year by the Walter Camp Football Foundation. Majors, who turned Pitt's worst-in-history record of 1-10 into a 6-4-1 this year, previously had been given the same honor by the Detroit Sports Extra, a weekly football publication. The Sports Extra noted that Pitt ranked 86th on its list for the 1972 season but now stands 16th.

***

While on the subject of coaches, Paterno — who already has turned down pro offers from the Pittsburgh Steelers, Green Bay Packers and the New England Patriots — has found himself on the receiving end of new coaching rumors.

This time it's the New York Giants who supposedly are interested in Paterno as a replacement for Alex Webster. But on a recent "TV quarterbacks" program Paterno said his future would be with Penn State, adding "you're stuck with me."

And the man who turned down an estimated $1.3 million 11 months ago was even more emphatic when contacted by the New York Times. "No, they (the Giants) haven't contacted me and I hope they don't," he said. "I want to stay in college coaching. I thought I settled that last winter."

***

Penn State already has sold out its allotment of Orange Bowl tickets, it was announced yesterday. The University was provided with 12,500 tickets by the Bowl, then received another 1000 from LSU. But, despite the energy crisis and accompanying fuel shortage, all 13,500 went quickly.

***

After a two-week layoff, Penn State begins light workouts this weekend for that bowl. In order to regain some timing, Paterno plans pad-less practices today and tomorrow.

The Lions will go through about 10 practices before breaking for the Christmas holidays Dec. 21. They'll leave for Miami from Harrisburg Christmas night.

***

And finally, a word on one of the more unsung bowl games of the season: the first annual Toilet Bowl. (No cracks about the Orange Bowl now that LSU has lost to Tulane, please.)

This one pits Ogontz, the intramural dormitory champion, against Butler. Butler, incidentally failed to score a single point all season and managed very, very few first downs. The best against the worst, in other words.

The game, for which bowl bids were extended on toilet paper, is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. tomorrow on the IM fields. The winner, of course receives a brand new shiny toilet seat.

DUNKEL'S BASKETBALL INDEX

Ohio State 15-point pick over Penn State

By DICK DUNKEL
© 1973 Dunkel Sports
Research Service

Two serious contenders for national honors in college basketball will be tested by the best this week.

Indiana's Fightin' Hoosiers first visit Kentucky, then play at home against Notre Dame. San Francisco's Dons entertain Long Beach, then pack for Providence.

Their prospects, according to the Dunkel Index:

Tonight: San Francisco 2 over Long Beach;

Saturday: Indiana 10 over Kentucky;

Tuesday: Indiana 4 over Notre Dame;

Thursday: Providence 3 over San Francisco.

In contrast, UCLA and N. C. State tune up for their December 15 tremender by playing SMU and Vermont respectively. The Wolfpack rates a 47-point bulge, the Bruins only 31.

Despite the squeaker over Maryland, UCLA leads the Index with a rating of 84.1, earned by being 11.5 scoring points per game better than opposition Indexed at 72.6.

Ohio State, Penn State's opponent tomorrow evening, is 19th on the current Index with a 67.9 rating. The Buckeyes, with the home advantage, thus are 15-point favorites over Penn State, which is Indexed at 56.7.

Here's the season's first ranking of major and minor teams:

MAJOR LEADERS

U.C.L.A.	84.1	Wisconsin	66.7
N.C.State	80.5	Penn	66.5
Indiana	74.5	Duquesne	66.4
NotreDame	74.5	St.Johns,NY	66.3
LongBeach	73.2	Tex.ElPaso	66.3
Maryland	73.1	Houston	66.0
Marquette	73.0	Kansas St	66.0
N.Carolina	73.0	Jacksonv'le	65.9
Memphis	72.8	Minnesota	65.9
SanFrancisco	71.7	Va Tech	65.8
Providence	70.7	Purdue	65.6
Arizona St	70.2	Alabama	65.4
Cincinnati	69.5	Centenary	65.1
St Louis	69.5	Kansas	65.1
St.Jos.Pa	69.3	OralRoberts	65.1
S.California	69.1	LaSalle	65.0
S.Carolina	68.8	Wichita	65.0
Clemson	68.6	Kentucky	64.8
Ohio State	67.9	Vanderbilt	64.7
Iowa	67.4	Washington	64.7
Florida St	67.2	Hawaii	64.3
Louisville	67.1	Furman	64.2
N.Mexico	67.0	Tennessee	63.8
Syracuse	66.9	Marshall	63.7

MINOR LEADERS

Ky.Wesleyan	61.9	Ky State	54.8
Va.Com'w'th	60.6	Md.E.Shore	54.5
Tenn.State	59.0	N'west La	54.0
Akron	58.0	N'east La	53.7
Mercer	57.2	Valparaiso	53.7
La.Tech	56.8	S.DakotaSt	53.6
McNeese	56.3	Idaho St	53.5
Lincoln,Mo	56.0	Brockport	53.3
Roanoke	55.5	Capital	53.3
Xavier,La	55.3	E.Stroudsb'g	53.1

In the following schedule, 4.0 has been added to the rating of each team playing at home.

Higher Rating Team	Rating Diff.	Opposing Team
GAMES OF FRIDAY, DEC. 7
WITH TOP 30
N C State* 84.5	(47)	Vermont 37.6
St.Jos.Pa* 73.3	(33)	Albright 40.2
SanFran* 75.7	(2)	LongBeach. 73.2
OTHER MAJORS
Colo St* 62.7	(1)	Weber St 61.9
Columbia* 54.2	(15)	Iona 38.7
xN Mex.St* 67.7	(6)	Brig.Young 61.4
Washington 64.7	(3)	Seattle* 61.9
Mountaineer Classic, D. 7-8
Oregon St 62.7	(14)	Seton Hall 49.0
California 63.8	(5)	W.Virginia* 58.8
Show-Me Classic, D. 7-8
Unpaired Entries
Tex.ElPaso 66.3		Kent St 56.5
Missouri* 62.3		Cornell 40.2
Steel Bowl, D. 7-8
Clemson 66.6	(1)	FloridaSt 67.2
Duquesne* 70.4	(9)	Pittsburgh* 60.9
GAMES OF SATURDAY, DEC. 8
WITH TOP 30
Arizona St 70.2	(0)	Kansas St* 70.0
Cinc'nati 69.5	(5)	Temple* 64.3
Houston* 70.0	(13)	Florida 56.8
Indiana 74.5	(10)	Kentucky 64.8
Louisville 67.1	(13)	Butler* 53.8
Marquette* 77.0	(10)	Iowa 67.4
Memphis* 76.8	(30)	So.Miss 46.6
N.Carolina* 77.0	(39)	Vermont 37.6
NotreDame* 78.5	(9)	St Louis 69.5
Ohio St* 71.9	(15)	PENN ST 56.7
Penn* 70.5	(15)	Navy 55.5
St Johns,NY 66.3	(12)	G'town DC* 54.7
So Calif 69.1	(6)	Illinois* 62.6
S Carolina 68.8	(1)	Mich St* 67.7
Syracuse 66.9	(10)	Army* 57.3
U C L A * 88.1	(31)	S M U 56.8
OTHER MAJORS
Arizona* 67.4	(16)	Cal P Pom 51.3
Arkansas* 63.3	(29)	Wabash 34.3
Ball St* 57.8	(2)	W.Michigan 55.9
Bowl gGr'n* 61.3	(8)	E.Illinois 53.3
Brown* 59.8	(10)	BostonCol 49.9
Canisius* 59.2	(20)	Catholic U 38.9
Cha'nooga* 56.6	(10)	E.Tenn 46.8
Colorado* 62.2	(10)	Nev LasV 52.2
Connect't 59.1	(3)	Harvard* 55.7
Davidson 59.8	(3)	E Carolina* 56.5
Dayton 58.1	(5)	L I U.* 53.4
Denver 59.6	(3)	Wyoming* 56.4
Drake* 63.7	(7)	Texas 56.2
Fairfield 59.6	(8)	St Fran.Pa* 51.8
Fordham* 55.3	(2)	Lafayette 53.4
G Wash'n* 64.2	(22)	St Peters 41.8
Iowa St* 66.8	(5)	Bradley 61.8
J'ksonv'le* 69.9	(22)	Ga South'n 48.2
Kansas* 69.1	(30)	N Iowa 38.4
LaSalle 65.0	(21)	Hofstra* 43.5
L.S.U.* 65.3	(8)	Pacific 57.7
Marshall* 67.7	(24)	M Harvey 43.7
Miami,O* 66.9	(1)	Purdue 65.6
Michigan 62.6	(2)	Detroit* 60.2
Morehead* 59.2	(8)	Charlotte 51.5
Murray* 52.3	(13)	La Coll 39.1
Niagara 56.7	(16)	Buffalo St* 40.9
N'western* 63.4	(6)	DePaul 57.2
Ohio U* 62.1	(16)	E.Michigan 45.7
Okla.St* 65.3	(18)	Neb Omaha 49.2
Princeton* 63.1	(7)	Villanova 56.1
Rutgers* 66.4	(4)	Manhattan 62.1
St.Bon'ture* 59.7	(20)	Loyola Md 39.6
Texas Tech* 63.3	(14)	Stetson 49.5
Toledo 58.9	(9)	Loyola Ill* 49.5
Tulane* 53.4	(13)	Ga State 40.2
Tulsa* 62.7	(9)	N'east La 53.7
Utah* 64.0	(5)	Utah St 59.0
Virginia* 69.7	(6)	Duke 63.4
Va Tech 65.8	(6)	Auburn* 60.0
Western Ky* 57.5	(2)	Baylor 55.2
Xavier* 52.2	(11)	T More 41.0
Yale* 50.5	(1)	HolyCross 49.4
OTHER EASTERN
Albright* 44.2	(16)	Muhlenb'g 28.0
Allegheny* 32.4	(10)	GroveCity 22.5
Bloomsb'g* 50.8	(17)	Kutztown 34.0
Bucknell 48.2	(2)	Rider* 46.3
Cheyney* 54.5	(1)	E Stroudsbg 53.1
Clark* 40.4	(1)	Springf'ld 39.7
Delaware 45.7	(1)	Lehigh* 45.0
Dickinson* 44.7	(18)	Wash Md 27.0
Edinboro* 48.0	(4)	Clarion 44.4
F Dick'son 50.7	(2)	N'eastern 48.5
Hartford 40.6	(21)	Norwich* 19.2
Indiana,Pa 41.6	(6)	Alliance* 35.5
J Hopkins 36.6	(9)	Sw'thmore* 27.5
Leb.Valley* 50.2	(30)	Eliz'town 20.4
Lk.Haven* 42.7	(11)	Calif St 31.9
Lycoming* 34.4	(15)	Juniata 19.6
Messiah* 34.7	(4)	Sus'hanna 30.5
M'lers-Ple 35.1	(6)	Shippensbg* 28.9
Montclair 33.1	(22)	New'k CE* 10.9
Phil Pharm 22.1	(2)	Haverford* 19.8
Phil Tex* 52.8	(5)	Widener 47.6
Point Pk* 45.1	(1)	Mercy'h'st 43.9
Trinity 37.3	(11)	M I T * 25.9
Upsala 42.1	(15)	Del.Valley* 28.9
Ursinus* 26.7	(0)	F & M 26.5
Utica 34.3	(0)	Paterson* 33.8
Wesleyan* 32.7	(11)	Bowdoin 21.3
W Chester* 36.4	(2)	Mansfield 33.9
Wilkes* 39.1	(14)	Wagner 25.5

* Home Team