Lafayette outlasts, outslugs Lion nine

By BRIAN MILLER
Collegian Sports Writer

It was all so nice in the beginning. The sun was glowing warmly, both pitchers were in control and it looked like a good, quick baseball game was developing.

But then the clouds rolled in and the temperature dropped, both pitchers (and their successors) started to get hit, and what had seemed like a fast, pitchers battle turned into a long, involved slug-fest.

Lafayette survived the three hour plus marathon and posted a 16-13 win over Penn State yesterday on Beaver Field.

Penn State and Lafayette combined for 35 hits for the afternoon as the Lions sent six different hurlers to the mound to try and stop the onslaught.

"The cold was no excuse for the way I pitched," Len Bartek said, who hurled the middle frames for the Lions. "It's a lack of work. We haven't played in so long, none of us have pitched."

Bartek filled in for Jim Farr who replaced starter Mitch Lukevics. Lukevics lasted just two and a third innings before Lion coach Chuck Medlar pulled him for Farr. Lukevics seemed to be in control in the first two stanzas but three hits mixed in with two errors combined to give the Leopards three runs in the third. Farr gave up two walks, a double, and two more walks and he was gone.

Both clubs had big innings although a five run outburst by Lafayette in the seventh made the difference.

In the Leopards third, 13 batters went to the plate, and eight crossed it later in the inning. The barrage featured a double by Madden, who had four hits on the day, and a two base knock for Tom Walsh, the Leopards right fielder.

The five-run outburst in the seventh meant the end of Bartek. The highlight of the inning was a home run by Lafayette second baseman Art Fischetti. The drive brought in three runs and Bartek got the gate as Steve Nielsen attempted to end the hit parade.

Nielsen lasted a third of an inning and was relieved by Steve Correl who later in the game was replaced by Tim Pearson. In other words, the Lion pitching staff had a long afternoon.

"I threw one bad pitch," Bartek said, "It was a sinker that didn't sink to Fischetti."

"I felt pretty good all afternoon. I didn't feel tired at all."

Penn State scored a lone run in the first and another in the third on a Greg Vogel home run. Penn State's big inning was the fourth when the Lions scored six runs on six hits.

The highlight of the inning was a three run blast by left-fielder Bob Miller.

"It was a fastball right down the middle," Miller said. "You get it up in that wind, and its gone."

A triple by Lion shortstop Kevin Maronic in the fifth with two on after a run scoring fielders choice by Vogel, meant three more Penn State tallies. But except for two more runs in the ninth, Penn State was finished for the afternoon.

"Yea, I think we should have beaten Lafayette," Miller said. "Our pitchers should never let in 16 runs."

Bingoes - Miller had four RBI's on the afternoon...Penn State had three doubles, two triples and two home runs...Next Lion game is away, Saturday in Bucknell.

Lion laXers slash F & M

Evidently, someone forgot to tell the Penn State laXers they were supposed to have another mediocre season.

After a poor pre-season showing, Penn State has exploded to a 4-1 record, winning the last three contests by handy margins. The latest win came last night in Lancaster as the Lions overwhelmed Franklin & Marshall 19-12.

At first it looked like the string was broken, as F&M beat goalie Rich Caravella for two quick scores. When the hectic first period was over, the Lions were down 5-2. The first two minutes of the second quarter were filled with action, as Penn State scored three times and F&M scored once.

At intermission the score was 8-8 and from there on the game belonged to Dick Pencek's Lions. Penn State outscored the Diplomats 11-4.

Once again, Penn State's Keith McGuire was high point man, with three goals and five assists. Gary Alex contributed four goals to the winning cause. Paul Friedman and Sam Goodall had four each for the Diplomats. Eight other Penn Staters scored, opposed to only three other Diplomats.

Caravella made 22 saves while giving up the 12 tallies. Don Braun relieved for five minutes and added Penn State's 23rd save.

LAX FAX—Penn State played without the services of Rich Mauti, who stayed behind for football drills with Joe Paterno.

Dick Pencek's coaching record at Penn State is now 56-59-2. None of the ten Penn State lacrosse coaches have compiled a career winning record.

The 13th ranked Lions return to action Saturday night (8 p.m.) against Syracuse, another top 20 team. Jeffrey Field is the site for the action.

Bets high in Mass

BOSTON (AP) — Illegal betting on sports, horses and numbers is at least a $2-billion annual business in Massachusetts, the National Gambling Commission was told yesterday.

agent in charge of the FBI's Boston office, also told the panel that even at the minimum of 8-13 per cent profit of the gross, which he said was earned from sports betting, illegal gambling produces profits of $166.6 million in Massachusetts for organized crime.

Newpher noted profit from horse betting was 18 per cent of the handle while the odds on winning on the numbers were 999-1, although the payoff is only 600-1.
