CIA head expected to be fired

WASHINGTON (UPI) Director William E. Colby said yesterday he knew President Ford would fire him and he described his successor, .George Bush, as 'a very fine man ... a highly qualified fellow. Colby made his first public comments on the firing when he chatted with reporters during an intermission in his public appearance before the House Intelligence Com-

Committee members praised him for giving forth-right testimony throughout their investigation of the CIA and some came to the witness table to shake his hand.

happen, that a new face was needed in the agency to meet a new stage," he told reporters who asked about his Colby was dismissed by

"I knew it was going to

Ford at a weekend White House meeting and then persuaded by the President Wednesday to stay at his post the Senate confirms Bush, the U.S. representative in Peking, to succeed him.

He said he had no objections to Ford's going outside the agency for a new director.

"I've long said as a general practice an outsider would be a good idea," he said.

But he said Ford had not asked his recommendation on who should succeed him, and he offered none.

Asked whether he would brief Bush on the job personally, he said, "I'll undoubtedly talk to Bush about how it works. Sure, I'll be seeing him."

Asked whether he had cleared out his office after the brusque firing Sunday, Colby said he had "picked up a few things and brought them home" but had not vacated.

He said he declined Ford's offer of the ambassador ship to NATO because he thought the continuing controversy surrounding the CIA would make such a move unwise mounted in October to force wholesale prices up by a year. These prices have been increasing by 1.8 per cent, the biggest monthly increase in a year, the Labor Department said yesterday.

Wholesale prices up last month

Big price increases for steel, 1976 cars and other industrial commodities were blamed for the overall increase in wholesale prices, which translates into an annual rate of 21.6 per cent. The report indicates consumers may be faced with another serious surge of inflation in the following months as wholesale costs are passed along into the retail prices of goods and services. For the past three months combined, prices have increased at a compounded annual rate of 13.5 per cent. The increase last month was the biggest since October 1974, when wholesale prices jumped 2.9 per

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Inflationary pressures substantial 1.2 per cent, also the biggest increase in steadily bigger percentages since May.

> Although food and farm products were up 1.7 per cent, economists are more alarmed by the trends in industrial commodities because these prices create inflationary pressures that tend to plague the system longer than the traditionally volatile prices of foods and farm products.

But a Labor Department economist noted the steel industry's recent round of price hikes and higher prices for 1976 model cars and trucks were 'special factors' that distorted the trend. "We won't get anything quite that large next month," he

The prices of farm products rose 2.2 per cent as the result of sharp increases in live poultry, leaf tobacco and milk. This increase, much smaller than the 4.3 per cent jump in September, nonetheless ran counter to a decline in the prices that farmers were receiving for their goods in October.

Processed food and feed prices rose 0.8 per cent in October, led primarily by increases in manufactured animal feeds, dairy products, meats and

The Wholesale Price Index stood at 178.9 in October, a 5.1 per cent increase over last year. This means the same commodities that sold for $100 in 1967, now sell for $178.90.

The overall 18 per cent increase in wholesale prices took seasonal factors into account. On an unadjusted basis, wholesale prices rose 0.7 per cent based on increases of 0.1 per cent in food and farm
