

Israel still holds 13 atom bombs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Israel has 13 atomic bombs that were hastily assembled and readied for use during the Yom Kippur War of 1973 when the battle was going badly for the Israelis, according to Time magazine.

Time also said Israeli warplanes were ordered to shoot down a U.S. reconnaissance plane that flew over the underground tunnel where the bombs were being assembled. The U.S. spy jet outdistanced the Israeli Phantom jets and returned to its base with significant readings, Time said.

Time said Golda Meir, then

Israeli premier, gave Defense Minister Moshe Dayan permission to activate the atomic bombs Oct. 9, 1973, after he reported that Israeli forces were being routed by Syrians on the Golan Heights and had been repulsed by Egypt along the Suez Canal.

"This is the end of the third temple," Dayan was quoted as telling Mrs. Meir in a religious reference to the State of Israel.

"Mrs. Meir thereupon gave Dayan permission to activate Israel's Domsday weapons," Time said. "As each bomb was assembled, it was rushed off to waiting air force units. Before any triggers were set, however, the battle on both fronts turned in Israel's favor."

Time said the atomic bombs were taken from the planes and stored in desert arsenals "where they remain today, still ready for use."

Time said each bomb has a 20-kiloton yield or roughly the same explosive power as those dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki at the end of World War II.

Time also said the Soviet Union also may have learned through a spy satellite that Israel had atomic bombs and was preparing to use them in the Yom Kippur War. The Soviet response may have led to the global alert of U.S. forces, Time said.

Time said the Russians shipped nuclear warheads "to be fitted on Russian Scud missiles already based in Egypt."

Speakers stress rights for blacks

By LAURA SHEMICK
Collegian Staff Writer

The struggle for black equality in America continues, according to speakers at the Martin Luther King, Jr. Day program last night at the Paul Robeson Cultural Center.

Members of five fraternities and sororities told what King's work meant to them and Butch Randolph of Black Caucus spoke on the need for King's work to continue.

Randolph said King was highly criticized by the white clergy, who felt he should have more patience with the "wheels of progress."

"But King felt he had to break unjust laws to make just ones," Randolph said.

"King was heaven-sent," Rudolph said. "He came at a time when he was most needed."

Leila Herron of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority said, on behalf of her sisters, that she wanted the spirit of King to live on. "We will try to bring about his dream in our lifetime," she said.

Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity brothers Carter Cloyd and Berchard Suber spoke on King's background and education and mentioned that King belonged to Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. "We should keep the struggle going and accomplish his dream!" Cloyd said.

Roy Long of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity spoke about King's unfulfilled dreams, and called on blacks to carry them out, despite King's death.

Tyrone Sudduth of Omega Psi Phi fraternity said that because he was very young when King died, "I really didn't get to share his ideology as much as other black leaders. But he was a great man, and I respect him."

Jessie Woodson of Zeta Phi Beta sorority characterized King as "a quiet storm. He used words instead of sticks and stones to get his points across."

Bob Ross of the National Student Coalition against Racism organized the program and introduced the speakers. He gave a short speech about the busling rally scheduled for April 24 in Boston and urged everyone to become involved in the fight for rights.

Charles McCargo of Alpha Phi Alpha presented Ross with a plaque for the Robeson Cultural Center.

The Black Christian Fellowship Mass Choir provided music for the program. Films on King were shown at the end of the evening.

Plaque presentation Charles McCargo (left) presents a plaque commemorating Martin Luther King, Jr. Day to Leila Herron and Bob Ross, accepting it on behalf of the Paul G. Robeson Cultural Center.

Canoeists place in race

Penn State canoeists came in 11th place out of 35 entered in Saturday's concrete canoe race on the Schuylkill River in Philadelphia, according to crew member Peter Soltys (9th-civil engineering).

"We missed being in the semi-finals by two and four seconds with each of the canoes," he said.

The City College of New York, the only team with a female crew, won the race.

"Both Akron's and New York's canoes were very light canoes," Soltys said.

"This also probably had a lot to do with their winning the race," he said.

Soltys said that Penn State's canoes were strong and well built, although heavy, and did not leak or crack as did Drexel University's, the only canoe in the race that sunk.

Soltys said the crew plans to go to the Akron race May 1 at Spring Lake. Soltys said he believes this will be a "circuit" race and not a "straight-line" course as was Saturday's race.

The canoes handled like regular canoes in the water, but were quite strenuous rowing, he said. "The only real difference was in picking them up," Soltys said.

Soltys hopes to participate again in next year's race with fellow crew members, also ninth-term civil engineer majors.

A lot was learned from other meet members about canoe construction which Soltys said will be put to practical use. "We know what to do with the canoes for next year," he said.

Campus electric power to be interrupted

Fifteen-minute power interruptions have been scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today for work on the University electrical system. South, Pollock, McElwain, Simmons and Atherton Halls, and White Building will be affected.

Campus 4-H will meet at 7 tonight in 215 Armsby.

services in the Secretariat of the United Nations, will speak in the Master of Business Administration Distinguished Executive Speaker Series at 4 p.m. today in the Eisenhower Chapel lounge.

Ryan will discuss "National Organization Versus International Organization — the Managerial Viewpoint."

West Halls will present a program, "Summer Employment — How and Where to Get a Summer Job," at 7:30 tonight in Thompson lounge.

HUB lounge.

The Free U course, "Science Fiction Society," will be held at 8 tonight in 69 Willard.

A meeting and planning session for "Folk Week" will be held by the Penn State Folklore Society at 7:30 tonight in 314 HUB.

The Free U course, "Rocking and Rolling with the Rolling Stones," will be held at 8:30 tonight. Call 234-6080 for information.

tonight in 131 Sackett.

William Parker will discuss contract probation at the Lambda Alpha Epsilon Honor Society meeting at 7:30 tonight in S-209 Human Development. A coffee hour will follow Parker's speech.

Congressman Albert Johnson will speak on issues and legislation affecting veterans at 3 p.m. today at the Vet's House, 229 E. Nittany Ave.

A physical therapist will speak at the Rehabilitation Education Organization meeting at 7:30 tonight in 312 Boucke.

An air hockey tournament will be held at 7 tonight in Simmons Halls. This is the Centre Halls leg of the Big Ten Circuit Tournament. All players and spectators invited.

The Penn State Coed Gym Club will meet at 7 tonight in Rec Hall south gym.

Architectural drawings by Julian Weiss, University architecture instructor, will be on exhibit until Sunday in Hammond Gallery.

The exhibit, predominantly, temple forms, will be shown from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today through Saturday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Collegian notes

"Beauty and the Beast" by Jean Cocteau, and "The Andalusian Dog" by Salvatore Dali and Luis Bunuel, will be shown at 7 and 9 tonight in Kern auditorium as part of a French film series sponsored by France Cinema.

Free U will sponsor "Movement and Sound from the Inside-Out," an instructional gathering featuring yoga, tai chi, chanting and dance improvisation at 7 tonight at the Wesley Foundation. Bring a candle.

Black Caucus membership cards will be sold from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. today through Friday on the HUB ground floor.

The cards are necessary to vote for Caucus officers. Applications for officers will also be available at the Caucus table.

Colloquy will meet at 6:30 tonight in 316 HUB.

Paul Woolley will speak on international health at the Women's Premedical Society meeting at 7 tonight in the McElwain Piano Lounge.

Today is the last day entries will be taken for Coed Softball Teams. Applications will be accepted at the Intramural Building until 4:30 p.m. The names of five men and five women are required to sign up a team. Call 865-9202 for more information.

Vincent S. Boyer, president-elect of the American Nuclear Society, will speak at a banquet of the Penn State Student Chapter of the society at 7:30 tonight in the State College Hotel.

Boyer, who is vice president of the Engineering and Research Department of Philadelphia Electric Company, will discuss "Why Build a Nuclear Plant?"

Microbiology Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in 350 N. Frear. Daniel Fung will speak on jobs and graduate schools.

"What's Wrong with Nuclear Energy?" will be the topic of the Eco-Action meeting at 7:30 tonight in 119 Boucke.

Penn State Model Railroad Club will meet to finalize plans for the Spring Railroadiana Auction at 7 tonight in 111 Sackett.

Robert J. Ryan, assistant secretary-general for general

Free U will meet at 6:15 tonight in the second floor

• GET INTO THE GRIND •

with the NEWEST selection of GRINDERS only at

HI WAY PIZZA CUT SHOP

Monday thru Thursday

Hours: 10¢ off CHEESESTEAK Grinders CUTSHOP
Regular price and 112
MEATBALL Grinders S. Garner St

HI WAY Cut Pie Shop introduces CALZONES deep fried cheese and ham parts

5th Annual Ice-Cream Eating Contest April 14th at

BASKIN & ROBBINS

Youth Goodwill Mission of the Republic of China

中華民國青年友好訪問團

PERFORMANCE: SCHWAB AUDITORIUM, 8:00P.M., APRIL 7, WED.
RECEPTION: 111 KERN, 12:00-2:00P.M., APRIL 7, WED.

Free ticket available at HUB and Kern Building Information Desks.

Dorm rooms still open

Temporary space in the residence halls is still available for 86 undergraduate men and 223 undergraduate females, the Office of Housing and Food Services said Friday.

Assignment Office Manager William Mulberger said contracts will be accepted as long as space is available.

The following number of contracts was filed in each category of students:

- 6,633 continuing students from University Park;
- 230 students who lived off-campus, were readmitted, were on leave of absence or had advanced standing;
- 79 students returning from practicums, study abroad or student teaching;

- 3,058 first-term freshmen;
- 725 students enrolling Summer Term who will be second-term students;
- 1,404 Commonwealth Campus students; and
- 454 were classified as reserved spaces.

SLA calls actions 'mistakes'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The four survivors of the Symbionese Liberation Army said in a New Times magazine interview that the SLA's two most dramatic acts — the killing of Marcus Foster and Patricia Hearst's kidnapping — turned out to be mistakes.

The interview of the four SLA survivors — Bill and Emily Harris, Russell Little and Joseph Remiro — all in prison, was published in this week's edition of New Times.

The SLA became prominent when its members shot Foster, the Oakland Schools Superintendent, and wounded his assistant Robert Blackburn, with cyanide bullets the night of Nov. 6, 1973.

Little and Remiro were convicted of the shootings but Emily Harris said their conviction "was a total farce."

She said that neither man was in the SLA at the time of the shooting and that two other members, Nancy Ling Perry and Patricia Soltysk, aided by Donald "Cinque" De Freeze, were responsible.

Emily Harris said Patricia Hearst was kidnapped just after Remiro and Little were arrested when the SLA was disorganized. "Looking back I think many of the problems and shortcomings of the SLA arose out of the failure to build an adequate infrastructure before jumping off into a major action like the Hearst kidnapping."

An offshoot error of the kidnapping, said Little, was allowing Miss Hearst to join the SLA. "It's obvious now and should have been obvious then that there was no way in hell Hearst was ready to become a guerrilla..." Little said. "What they should have done was send her home and let her tell her story to the press."

Computer data missing

The theft of unpublished computer data from the Computer Building was reported to University police Friday morning. The stolen material reportedly is under a security code which is not for public use.

University police are investigating the incident.

Austin "Gus" McNamara (7th-business administration) remained in serious condition last night at the Milton S. Hershey Medical Center. Hospital officials said his condition was satisfactory and remained stable. McNamara received serious burns last month when he contacted high voltage wires atop the transformer at the Patterson substation of the West Penn Power Co.

Police log

Red paint was poured over the top of the water tower located near North Halls early Sunday morning.

Red paint was poured over the top of the water tower located near North Halls early Sunday morning.

Red paint was poured over the top of the water tower located near North Halls early Sunday morning.

Camp time is just around the corner.

Counselors needed for camp Somerset for girls and Camp Cobbossee for boys.

Camps are located in Maine. Should be at least 21 years of age with previous camp counseling experience. Somerset needs: Sail, Swim (WSI), Scuba, Riffery, Tennis, Ski, Canoe, Arts & Crafts, Dramatics, Archery, Gymnastics, Riding (English), Tripping, Secretaries. Cobbossee needs: Swim (WSI), Tennis, Riffery, Shop, Ski, Sail, Scuba, Trampoline, Archery, Team sports. Please write full details immediately to: Camp Office, 225 East 57 St., New York NY 10022.

members of

THE VETS HOUSE

WISH TO CONGRATULATE

HENRY LITYNSKI

JEFF WEAVER

as co-winners of

DUNCE OF THE TERM

WINTER '76

HALT INCREASING TUITION

HALT INCREASING TUITION

Membership Drive

Meeting

Monday, April 5

9 pm 225 HUB