

Boston's Jean Ratelle (left) scrambles for the puck with Flyers' Bobby

Hot Leach burns Bruins

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —
Sharp shooting Reggie Leach equaled a National Hockey League record with five goals as the Philadelphia Flyers beat the Boston Bruins 6-3 last night and reached the Stanley Cup final.

Leach joined the legendary Maurice "Rocket" Richard and Darryl Sittler as the only players in the 82-year history of the NHL to score five goals. in one Stanley Cup playoff game.

The defending champion Flyers eliminated the Bruins, 4-1, in the best-of-seven game semi-final series and earned the right to try for a third straight NHL title.

The Cup championship hat trick has been turned only by Toronto twice and Montreal once since they started playing for the trophy in 1893. The 26-year-old Leach also tied the record of 15 goals in playoff competition, previously set by Montreal's Yvan Cournoyer in 1973 in 17 games. Leach has his 15 in only 12 games, with still at least four games to play.

The six-foot Leach, from Riverton, Manitoba, Canada, set still another NHL record with his first goal at 5:45 of the first period. It was the ninth consecutive game of this year's playoffs in which the 185-pound right winger turned on the red light.

Montreal's Richard held the old record of eight consecutive goal scoring games, which he did twice, both times over two playoff years.

Leach is the first to score in eight or more straight games in one playoff season, and he has a chance to boost that in the final series. Leach's second goal, which came at 2:02 of the second period, came after Boston' had tied the scored 1-1 only 59 seconds into the period. Leach followed it with goals at 8:51 and 17:09 to become the 11th player ever to score a hat trick in one period of a playoff game. At 8:07 of the third period.

Leach blasted his fifth goal of Park to the puck on the left the game, equalling a feat boards, skated in and accomplished by Richard on March 23, 1944, at Montreal against Toronto, and equalled by Sittler for Toronto against the Flyers in the sixth game of this year's quarter-finals. The Flyers missed a golden scoring opportunity in the first few minutes of the game when Boston had two men in the penalty box, giving the Flyers a five-three power play edge for 1:34. The Bruins killed the penalties, but then

Leach killed the Bruins. At 3:45 of the first period, Leach beat Boston's Brad whipped a back-hander past goalie Gilles Gilbert into the far corner of the net.

The Bruins tied it at 0.59 of the second period when Gregg Sheppard deflected Dallas Smith's shot from the blue line under Flyers goalie Wayne Stephenson.

The tie lasted until 2:02 when Bobby Clarke passed to Leach at the blue line. Leach zeroed in on Gilbert from the right side and blasted a 15footer right between the goalie's pads. Leach's third goal came at Savard for the Bruins

9:51. Orest Kindrachuk passed from center ice to Terry Crisp, who pushed the puck to Leach. The red hot Leach, who set a record of 61 goals for a right winger during the regular season, backhanded a score with rookie Steve Langdon hanging on his back.

Leach completed his second period hat trick at 17:09 when Clarke stole the puck along the right board, skated to the end of the face-off circle and dropped a pass back to Leach. Leach fired a 15-footer from the middle of the circle into the far corner

Boston momentarily stopped the Leach assault at 6:09 of the third period with a goal by Don Marcotte that made it 4-2. Less than two minutes later, Leach backhanded a 12-footer for his fifth goal to make it 5-2.

The scoring was wrapped up by Larry Goodenough for the Flyers at 17:13 and

Canadiens, Celts win playoff contests

If you read the above story you know the Flyers advanced to the Stanley Cup finals, so here's some news from some other tournaments

defeated the New York and playoffs: In Montreal, the Canadiens

Islanders 5-2, winning the best-of-seven series 4-1. Montreal now meets the Flyers in the Stanley Cup finals, with the first two games slated for Montreal. The initial game of the series is Sunday night.

Boston Celtics, led by John Havlicek, Jo Jo Whtie and Cleveland Cavaliers, 111-99 in Moving outdoors, Jack under-par 66 for the e Nicklaus shot a first-round 69 lead in the $200,000 event.

was penalized two-strokes on the first tee when officials found an extra club in his bag. The club belonged, as it turned out, to another golfer, but neither could figure out how it got in the Golden Bear's Bag.

Mark Hayes fired a fiveunder-par 66 for the early semis. The Cavs tied the Score 77-77 at the end of the official score of 71. Nicklaus reached the semifinals of the World Championship of Tennis with a 5-7, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2 win over Bob Lutz. Vilas will play the winner of the Raul Ramirez — Dick Stockton match, with the winner advancing to the finals against the Harold Solomon — Bjorn

> The finals match will be nationally televised Sunday And finally, in tennis, afternoon. And that's all.

LaXers — Penn in THE game

Clarke

Collegian Sports Writer

Since the beginning of the men's lacrosse season, Penn was all you ever heard about. Well, "this game will be a close one, but nowhere near as tough as Penn will be," one of the players might say. Or, "oh yeah, this is an important game, but not nearly as important as the Penn game is."

The Lions laxers wrap up their home season tonight against the visiting Quakers, and now finally everyone will get a chance to see first hand what all the buildup is about.

There is a lot at stake. Penn State is ranked 13th in the country, Penn 11th. Both teams have only this game plus one other before the playoffs, and both teams must win tonight if they have any hopes of competing in post season play. Selection for the playoffs is limited to eight teams, and the only serious consideration is given to teams within the top 10.

"It goes without saying that this game is extremely important to us," said Penn State coach Dick Pencek. "I don't know whether we're going to be considered for the playoffs or not. But I'm not really thinking so much about that. I'm just 'trying to get by first Penn, then Bucknell."

The Quakers' record is 4-4, but don't let the won-lost status fool you into thinking they're a mediocre team. Even their losses have been impressive. When they lost to Cornell two weeks ago, 14-7. Penn was extremely pleased . . . it was the closest any team had gotten to Cornell this year.

attackman Peter Hollis, with 17 goals and 15 assists, is the leading scorer for Penn. Midfielders Doug Frey and Mike

Page are also threats to the Lion defense. "Hollis is an excellent attackman, and he has the same style as (Penn Stater) Keith McGuire," Pencek said. "Page, though, is probably their best middie, and I expect them to go to him in pressure situations."

Meanwhile Penn is worried to the extent that coach Jim Adams has five times scouted the Lions - worried because they have not been shooting well recently, and worried because they know all too well they were stung by the Lions last year on their home turf 12-10.

In that game, Hollis scored three goals and added two assists. Page scored four times. But the Lions' Gary Alex found the goal three times, Larry Warshaw and Paul Repp each added two, and goalie Rich Caravella made 23 saves to ensure the victory. Although Penn relied heavily on their goalie last year for his superb net tending, he has since graduated and the Quakers are left with an "adequate" goalie, according to Pencek.

"We've been scouted a lot which means that they must consider this a very important game, too," Pencek said. "They need very much to win."

Bucs keep heat on slumping SF

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Jim Rooker and reliever Larry Demery combined for a five-hit shutout to lead the Pitts-

It was the 10th loss in 11 games fifth in a row for the inning when Rennie Stennett singled off starter Jim Barr, took third on a single by Richie Hebner and scored on Al Oliver's sacrifice fly. Rooker scored a run in the third when he beat out an infield single, advanced to third on another single by Stennett and scored when Hebner grounded into a forceout.

Barr yielded the final run in the sixth on consecutive

				 			,	,
NATIONAL LEAGUE					AMERICAN LEAGUE
East					East
	W	ı.	Pct	GB		W	L	Pet
Phila	13	6	.684		New York	12	5	.706
New York	15	9	625	٠,	Milwaukee	9	5	.643
Pitts	11	9	.550	212	Cleveland	10	9	.526
Chicago	'n	13	.458	412	Detroit	8	8	500
St. Louis	10	12	.455	41.	Baltimore	8	11	.421
Montreal	7	13	350	61	Boston	ĕ	ii	353

Cincinnati at Chicago San Diego at New York, n Los Angeles at Philadelphia, n Atlanta at Pittsburgh, n San Francisco at Montreal, n

_aXwomen hold on for

The Pirates stacked Rooker to a 1-0 lead in the first burgh Pirates to a 3-0 victory over the slumping San Francisco Giants last night.

singles by Dave Parker, Richie Zisk and Duffy Dyer.

		_					_	,
NATIONAL LEAGUE East					AMERICAN LEAGUE
					East
	W	ı.	Pct	GB		W	L	Pet	GB
Phila	13	6	.684		New York	12	5	.706	-
New York	15	9	625	را	Milwaukee	9	5	.643	112
Pitts	11	9	.550	212	Cleveland	10	9	.526	3
Chicago	îi	13	.458	41.2	Detroit	8	8	500	31,
St. Louis	10	12	.455	41.	Baltimore	8	11	.421	5
Montreal	7	13	.350	6^{1}_{2}	Boston	6	11	.353	6
	West
Los Ang	14	9	.609	-		West
Cincinnati	12	9	.571	1	Texas	12	6	.667	_
San Diego	11	11	.500	$2^{1}2$.	Kan City	9	7	.563	2
Houston	12	13	480	3	Oakland	11	ıi	.500	3
Atlanta	8	14	.364	512	Minnesota	8	9	.471	31,
San Fran	8	14	.364	51.	Chicago	6	9	400	412
					California	7	15	.318	7
Wed	nesday's	Resu	lts		Camornia	•	10	.DIO	•
Los Angeles
Philadelpin

Philadelpia 6, Houston 3
Pittsburgh 6, San Francisco 1
St. Louis 4, Atlanta 0

San Diego at Montreal, n Only games scheduled Today's Games

Maior league standings

St. Louis 4, Atlanta 0
San Diego 6, Montreal 4
Cincinnati 2, New York 0, 11 innings
Yesterday's Games
Los Angeles at Chicago, ppd, rain
Cincinnati at New York
San Francisco at Pittsburgh, n
St. Louis at Atlanta, n
San Diego at Montreal n

· Wednesday's Results Kansas City 8, Boston 4 Baltimore 2, Chicago 0 Minnesota 8, Detroit 2

Texas at Milwaukee, ppd., rain New York 10, California 4 Cleveland 3, Oakland 1 Yesterday's Games Minnesota at Detroit, ppd, rain, cold New York at California, n Only games scheduled Today's Games

Texas at Boston Kansas City at Baltimore, n Chicago at Detroit, n Minnesota at Milwaukee, n Cleveland at California, n New York at Oakland, n

Over in the National Basketball Association, the Paul Silas, outlasted the the first game of the Eastern third period, but Boston outscored Cleveland 17-4 in less than seven minutes and pulled out the win. Golden State and Phoenix resume the Western semifinal battle tonight in Phoenix. Each team has one win in the best-of-seven series.

in the Byron Nelson Golf

Changes galore in Blue-White

Borg semi.

Some things change and others stay the same, that's life. And both will be evident at the Annual Blue-White intersquad football game, 2 p.m. tomorrow at Beaver Stadium.

The changes are the works of coach Joe Paterno, who happens to be the nation's winningest football coach. Each year about this time he's full of changes — converting an offensive back in to a linebacker or a defensive safety into a running back.

The thing that remains the same is his team's success on the field. Eight of the past years, the Lions have been ranked in the top ten nationally and have gone to a major bowl game as Paterno compiled a 94-18-1 record.

Paterno has an interesting challenge this year for among the 11 graduated seniors he must replace, seven were on defense, which was the backbone of last year's team. New faces are needed at two linebacker spots, two positions in a three-deep secondary, two defensive tackles and a defensive end in addition to both offensive guards, a split end and an offensive halfback.

Seven of last years 28 letterman involved in the present spring cleaning are George Reihner moving from offensive to defensive tackle, Neil Hutton from offensive to defensive back, Randy Sidler from defensive end to linebacker, Paul Suhey from fullback to linebacker, Dave Shukri from center to offensive guard or tackle, Keith Dorney from offensive tackle to center and Jimmy Cefalo from alternating at flanker and tailback to a full-time flanker job.

The scrimmage, to be played under near-game conditions, will find half the first team offense and half the first team defense going to each squad.

Chuck Fusina and Doug Hostetler will probably handle the quarterbacking chores for the two teams, as regular quarterback John Andress is still troubled by a knee injury. If he plays it will be at less than 100 per cent. Also injured is outside linebacker Kurt Allerman who will be replaced by Tom DePaso, Greg Buttle's backup last

Some newcomers to look out for in the offensive backfield are fullbacks Tony Alguero and Bob Torrey who have been pushing senior Larry Suhey, and halfbacks Rich Milot and Kevin Thrower who are competing with Steve Geise for the departed Woody Petchel's tailback

Trackers go solo for Pitt Invite

By RICK WEBER Collegian Staff Writer

In the double-dual meet with Maryland and Michigan last week, the Penn State trackmen combined efforts for the good of the team in a scoring meet. In the sixth annual Pitt Invitational today, they'll go all out to achieve top individual performances. The Pitt Invitational, with events scheduled for both today and tomorrow, has gaining momentum year and is quickly becoming one of the East's top invitational track meets. Last year's classic featured 36 schools and over 500 athletes. The Lions took on those top challenges last year and brought home seven firstplace finishes.

"It will really be a good meet this year with top teams and individual stars from the East and a good represent-ative sampling from the midwest," coach Harry Groves said. "Up to now, it's been mainly relays and invitationals for us. The nice thing about an invitational where you don't have to score is that you can move the guys around into events in preparation for the larger meets coming up (the Central Collegiate Conference Championship and the NCAA Championships). Due to the large size (with trials, semi-finals, finals) we begin to change our approach," Groves continued. 'We're not trying to win a title in the meet. We're worrying about individual excellence, not the team scoring total as in a dual meet individuals in good competition to develop in a good, positive way. This meet is another step on the road to the Central Collegiates and the NCAA's.

> Some of the best athletes in the country are set to compete today and tomorrow in Pitt Stadium. The Lion trackmen have shown their strength against this top competition in the past, setting eight meet records. Three of those were set last year by current trackmen George Malley and Bill Gifford. Malley won the sixmile run in a meet record time of 28:26.2 and the 3000meter steeplechase in a meet and stadium record of 8:46.8. Gifford recorded a meet record in the pole vault as he topped 16 feet, one inch. One of the most interesting battles shapes up in the hammer throw competition between Penn State's Al Jackson and

In the Central Collegiates, Schoemer beat Jackson in the 35-lb. weight throw championship. But Jackson came back and got revenge by topping Schoemer in the Penn State's top high jumper, senior Pete Kiproff, also expects a tough battle in his event. "The competition in the high jump will be excellent," Kiproff said. "A lot of good jumpers will be there.

"I'll be trying to qualify for the NCAA's," he continued. "I've had a couple of good jumps in practice this week, and I'm going for seven feet this weekend. "My approach will be a little bit different. We'll be qualifying on Friday and then jumping on Saturday. It'll be a good experience to jump two days in a row. It should be beneficial to me because that's the format that is used

Penn State's Karen Bretherick (8) and Becca Garwood attempt to foil East Stroudsburg's Paula Mckeeman from behind

High scorer Charlene Morett (left) netted Penn State's eighth and deciding goal in yesterday's contest against East Stroudsburg

By BARB PARMER Assistant Sports Editor

The Penn State women's lacrosse team survived a late surge by East Stroudsburg yesterday to clinch its fifth straight win, the ball over to offense. Right attack wing Lynn Watkins made it 2-0 on a score from the left side of the crease following a snappy pass from Larson. Second home Sharon Duffey continued the offensive onslaught as she waltzed through the defense to shoot at point blank range for her first tally of the day. By the 10-minute mark into the game, Penn State had built a surprising 4-0 lead, with Larson breaking the tight three-man defense in front of the cage for her second goal of the afternoon.

as they romped over the East Stroudsburg iavvees, 11-4. A flurry of late first period goals and again in the early part of the second half gave the women all they needed to record their fifth win in a row. The lacrossewomen meet Cortland tomorrow at 1 p.m. on Pollock Field.