Councilman indicted

HARRISBURG (AP) — Johnstown City Councilman Patrick Casey was charged yesterday with forgery and theft in connection with his job as Revenue Department investigator, the Justice Department said.

According to a Justice Department spokesman, Casey collected $164 from Killian's Market in Johnstown in August 1975 but didn't turn over the money to the state.

Student fined at arraignment

Allen Earnest Caldwell, 515 Stoney Lane, State College, a student, was arraigned before District Magistrate Clifford Yorks Friday and theft charges were dropped. Caldwell was arrested by University police last Wednesday in connection with an alleged theft of construction site warning lights near the Mechanical Engineering Building. Yorks ordered Caldwell to pay a fine and costs. Delmar Elwood Rearick, Warriors Mark RD1, non-student, was arraigned before District Magistrate Robert Shoff in Philipsburg and charged with burglary. Police arrested Rearick July 23 after he allegedly was caught loading maintenance equipment from the landscaping building into his vehicle.

Care on pipeline asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two environmental groups charged yesterday the Interior Department has taken only "token gestures" to correct persistent welding problems on the Alaska oil pipeline before the Arctic winter begins.

In a letter made public yesterday, officials of the Wilderness Society and Friends of the Earth asked Interior Secretary Thomas Kleppe to order a full inspection of the partly constructed pipeline.

Both groups were plaintiffs in a suit which helped make sure strict environmental and technical stipulations, including requirements of records on x-rays of all welds, were contained in the 1974 agreement for construction of the pipeline. They said auditors' findings that builders' records of welding X-rays are in poor order show the Interior Department has not fulfilled its responsibilities.

"Only careless quality control procedures and lack of vigorous enforcement by the responsible federal agencies could have allowed this situation to continue a full year after problems were first uncovered," said their letter dated July 29.

"We cannot tolerate violations of these stipulations. We will not sit idly by if the Department of the Interior continues to exercise but token gestures to enforce compliance with these stipulations."

The department told the builders, Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., July 20 to bring its records into "auditable condition at the earliest possible time."

House studies wiretaps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John Moss, whose subcommittee is studying government use of warrantless wiretaps, charged yesterday President Ford has been "just as pernicious" as Richard Nixon in using executive privilege to keep information from Congress.

The administration obtained a U.S. District Court order last Friday permanently blocking the subcommittee's subpoena of telephone company records about the national security wiretaps.

Moss' House interstate and foreign commerce subcommittee asked the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday for a prompt review of the decision.

The case is expected to go all the way to the Supreme Court.

"The use of executive privilege by President Ford has been just as pernicious as its use by President Nixon," Moss said in a statement announcing the court action.

"From Congress to the presidency," the California Democrat said, "Gerald Ford has not only reversed his former opposition to excessive presidential secrecy but expanded the concept of the imperial presidency, reminiscent of the Watergate era."

Moss said Ford, in his days as a congressman, was "vocal" in opposing presidential encroachments on congressional rights.

He cited a 1963 speech Ford made as the ranking Republican on a House appropriations subcommittee which tried to obtain a secret report on the Bay of Pigs invasion over the opposition of President John Kennedy. At that time, Ford said such use of executive privilege expresses "some power akin to the divine right of kings."
