

FG by Intercourse lad climaxes Linden victory

The man from Intercourse did it on the IM fields near East Halls last night.

Jim Hopkins from Intercourse, Pa. hit a 40-yard field goal early in the game that held up as Linden House (1st and second floor Hamilton) beat Sequoia House 3-0 in intramural action last night.

Jim, who played soccer at Pequea Valley High School, warmed up well and appeared confident as his teammates lined up the attempt. It was good all the way.

Jim also played defensive back and made a timely play by slapping away a pass intended for a Sequoia receiver in the end zone late in the game. A late drive for a touchdown by the Sequoia squad was stalled at the five yard line.

The game was marred by numerous offsides and roughing penalties followed by the usual cries of "I didn't touch the guy."

Lasorda named Dodger manager

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tommy Lasorda's 18-year dream came true yesterday when he was named manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, succeeding Walter Alston. The move surprised only Lasorda.

Alston announced Monday that he would retire as manager at the end of the season. But he said after Lasorda's appointment Wednesday that he would step aside immediately for the final four games of the season.

"It would be good for Tommy to take over from this point on and get a start on next year," Alston said. "I sure want him to win because these games go on my record."

Lasorda, 49, a native of Norristown, Pa. was selected only 40 hours after Alston announced that after 23 years as field manager — each on a one-year contract — he would take another job in the Dodger organization.

Lasorda was asked if his deal, too, was for one year, and Walter O'Malley, chairman of the board, answered for him: "You bet!"

The former winless major league left handed pitcher had a spectacular record for the Dodgers as a manager in the minor leagues, winning five league titles through 1972. Since then, he has been the Dodgers' third base coach.
