PSU to compete in Phila. canoe race

Those going home to Philadelphia this weekend might spend a day at the races.

A concrete canoe race will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow on the Schuylkill River in Philadelphia. The annual event will be attended by approximately 25 colleges and universities, including Penn State. The race will be held on a one-quarter mile stretch of the river, a part of the crew course.

Peter Soltys (10th civil engineering), head crew member, said two Penn State canoes will be entered, the CC Titanic and CC Andrea Doria. These canoes, built and raced by civil engineering students, are constructed of light-weight concrete over a steel mesh frame, and painted in blue and white with an epoxy boat paint. The crafts are approximately 14 feet long, three feet wide and weigh about 170 pounds each, he said.

The race is the closing event to a three-day convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers in Philadelphia.

Soltys said another concrete canoe race is planned for May in Akron, Ohio.

6 Gulf executives to repay $2 million

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Six former Gulf Oil Corp. executives, named in a stockholders' suit as major figures in the firm's illegal political slush fund, will make reimbursements valued at $2 million under a preliminary settlement approved by a federal judge yesterday.

The plan also calls for an additional payment of $2 million to Gulf from the North American Insurance Co., which held liability and corporate reimbursement policies for Gulf officers.

The stockholders' suit arose from the company's admission that it illegally funneled more than $12 million to politicians both at home and abroad over a 13-year period.

Howard Specter, an attorney for the plaintiffs, called the agreement "the most far-reaching and significant settlement of the political contribution cases because it provides not only for substantial payments and reimbursements, but changes in corporation policies."

One of those changes calls for on-going communication between minority stockholders and the recently established business practices committee.

The reimbursements, which go to the company and not the stockholders will take the form of forfeited stock options.

Under the plan, which Gulf stockholders must approve before U.S. District Court Judge Joseph Willson holds a final hearing on Nov. 18, Dorsey will give up his rights to 100,000 shares of Gulf stock.

HUB bookstore reports bad checks

A staff member in the HUB bookstore yesterday reported to University police that the store had received 13 bad checks totaling $221.67 since Dec. 10, 1974.

Andrew S. Onktoz, of 310 Jordan, and Michael J. Guerra, of 340 N. Burrowes Road, were issued disorderly conduct citations yesterday for engaging in a fist fight near the Mineral Science Building.

Thomas Dwyer, of 619 Stuart, Wednesday reported his $150 bicycle stolen from a rack outside Pattee Library.
