

Nation's 2nd best strong in win

Ursinus dominates stickwomen

By BARB SHELLY
Collegian Sports Writer

Ursinus' field hockey team outran, outshot, and outscored Penn State Saturday to chalk up its 12th season win.

Ursinus, second-ranked team in the nation, showed its class in the 2-0 shutout. Offensive pressure from the Bearettes kept Penn State's defense working non-stop, and the visitors marked the Lady Lions so closely it was difficult to get any offensive drives going.

Ursinus took 19 shots on goal, eight of which were blocked by Penn State goalie Lee Stang, who made some impressive saves during the afternoon. The Bearettes got the ball in the cage, however, at 20:37 in the first half. All-American Nancy Zurn centered a shot to Ursinus' tiny forward Sue Rowe who, mightier than her size showed, drove in the goal from the right side.

The first half was all Ursinus, and it was not until only 7:50 remaining that Penn State got off its first real attack. Penn State forward Charlene Morett challenged the Ursinus defense with two tries, but failed to hit the mark.

The Lady Lions spent the first part of the second half containing Ursinus' offense, but as the clock was winding down Penn State started doing some of the pressing. The Lady Lions had scoring opportunities from several corner shots in the final five minutes but failed to find the nets. The Bearettes did however. With 2:56 remaining in the game, forward Betsy Meng followed up a clear by Stang and drove in what proved to be the clincher. That goal gave Meng a grand total of 17 goals so far this season.

Despite the win, Ursinus coach Adele Boyd felt her team should have scored more goals. "Some of our girls played well but we made a lot of individual mistakes," she said. The Bearettes had been averaging 4.5 goals in a game before Saturday.

Boyd was somewhat critical of the opposition also. "We anticipated that Penn State would be faster," she said. "Sometimes it seemed like the team got so excited about having possession they forgot where the goal cage was."

Boyd did have kind words for some Penn State players. "Chris Larson was a threat to us throughout the game," she said, and also praised the performance of freshman halfback Nancy Deal. Deal played the game wearing a facemask, due to six stitches above the eye she received in last Tuesday's game.

Penn State coach Gillian Rattray called the outcome a "disappointment" although she commended her team for keeping the score as close as it was. "They were good on fast breaks and excellent in the circle," she said. "I think our defense did well to hold them in the circle."

Penn State fullback Sharon Duffey, tired out from trying to control Ursinus' repeated onslaughts, termed Ursinus the "fastest offense" the Lady Lions have encountered so far. "They were fast and had really good centers," she said.

This was the story of the afternoon as Penn State's field hockey team lost its first game of the season - a 2-0 shutout to Ursinus. Here, Penn State forward Chris Larson takes a spill in the last few seconds of the game.

Malley wins Central, team takes 2nd

By ALAN SCHLEIN
for the Collegian

The individual championship of the Central Collegiate Conference Cross-Country Meet came down to an all-out sprint by Penn State's George Malley, and Michigan's Greg Meyer, both cross-country All-Americans. As close as the individual race finish was, this was almost parallel to the team conclusion.

In a last effort Malley, the 6', 160-pound harrier from Glen Dale Maryland, squeezed past his Wolverine rival at the tape, to improve on his second place finish of last year, where he lost to teammate Paul Stemmer.

The team contest also came down to the wire, but unfortunately for the Lions, it turned out in favor of Michigan 48-51.

Although most people think of distance running as an individual sport cross-country was certainly a team sport Saturday at Kent State.

Moments after Malley crossed the finish line, unsure of his victory, he turned around and tried to see what the team finish was.

The seven-man traveling squad, composed of senior captains Malley, and Walt Majak, juniors Bruce Baden, Bob Snyder, and Greg Stremmel, sophomore John Ziegler, and freshman Ray Krombel had geared their cross-country season to three goals — a solid finish in the Central Collegiate, qualifying for the NCAA Championships, and a good showing at that meet to be held on Nov. 22, in Denton, Texas.

Immediately following the gun, the Michigan crew went to the front of the pack. By the mile mark, Meyer, the Wolverine captain, had opened up a 60-yard lead on Malley.

But by 1 1/2 miles, the Penn State harriers had closed the gap and was matching him stride for stride. At this point, Michigan had their four other scorers even or ahead of the Lions second man Bruce Baden. At two miles, Michigan was still well ahead, but the Lions had not given up. Bill Donakowski, the Wolverine number two man, was directly in front of Baden; and Steve Elliot, Michigan's third man, was right behind them.

John Ziegler, the Lions third man was in front of Bruce McFee, Michigan's fourth, and they were followed by Bob Snyder, Michigan's Mark Foster, Walt Majak, and the rest of the pack.

By three and a half miles, Majak had made a successful move on Foster, and Ray Krombel had moved into contention of Dan Heikkinen and Foster, the Wolverines fifth and sixth men.

Krombel almost reversed the team scoring when he made a final move at 4 1/2 miles. At that point, Michigan's lead had been cut to almost nothing, and last year's Division AA State two-mile champ had passed Foster and Heikkinen, taking Air Force's Gary Shepard with him. At the same time, Steve Elliot, a Wolverine sophomore, who ran a 4:06 mile in high school, went past Baden in an uphill sprint off a sharp turn, and the Lion runner was unable to match the footspeed of his Michigan adversary.

While the battle continued in the middle of the pack, Malley, and Meyer had opened up a 15 second lead on third placer Tom Duits of Western Michigan. The two rivals, who battle throughout the year in their specialty, the steeplechase, had picked up the pace to as fast as they could lift their legs for the final 200-yards of the race.

Donakowski and Elliot had opened up on Baden, but the third year man from Webster, N.Y. collected an individual medal for 9th place. Ziegler finished directly ahead of Michigan's Bruce McFee for 12th, but the Wolverines nabbed 13th ahead of Penn Staters Bob Snyder, and Walt Majak, on the modestly tough, five-mile course.

Harry Groves, the Penn State coach, summed up the meet. "It was a great team effort, but fell a little short. We found some holes that need punching up and some other things that need fixing to beat a team like Michigan, and that's what we will be working to do in the next three weeks. Nobody has been able to stomp all over us, and that's a great plus for our runners."

Rutherford takes World Series

COLLEGE STATION, TEX. (AP) — Texas Johnny Rutherford outdueled Gordon Johncock on the 92nd lap and roared to his first victory since winning the Indianapolis 500 yesterday in the championship car portion of the World Series of Auto Racing at Texas World Speedway.

A.J. Foyt, led most of the Indy car race until he crashed his Coyote-Foyt into a retaining wall on the 83rd lap, held the pole position going into the 200-mile stock car race later yesterday.

Rutherford, hooked in a tight race for the United States Auto Club national championship car driving title with Gordon Johncock, trailing most of the race.

Foyt lost a rear tire on the fourth turn of the 83rd lap and when the race resumed on the 90th lap, Rutherford was running second to Johncock. But Rutherford came down under Johncock on the 92nd lap and took the lead for good. Rutherford's victory gives him 4,220 points toward the USAC driving title and Johncock's second place finish left him with 4,000 points. The championship will be decided Sunday in the Phoenix 150.

Al Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., finished third followed by Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa. and Billy Vukovich, Fresno, Calif.

Foyt, who won both ends of the Indy car-stock car at Michigan International Speedway last week, was in good position to win the Indy car race yesterday until his car veered against the wall on the fourth turn.

Foyt walked away from the accident, waving to his family, watching the race from above a hill over the fourth turn.

Ruggers survive fights, beat Allentown

By GEORGE WEIGEL
Collegian Sports Writer

Chris Mather scored 20 of 24 points as Penn State's rugby team beat Allentown Saturday afternoon 24-12 in a fight-marred contest at Allentown.

The game was stopped about five minutes early due to the fighting. The referee warned Allentown's captain twice about his team's "belligerent aggressiveness" before finally calling the game.

Penn State's wing forward Kevin O'Toole received a broken nose in one of the fights and will probably miss this week's game.

One of Allentown's players was thrown out because of fighting so both teams ended the game with 14 players a side.

Fly half Terry Ryland said the fights were caused by frustration on the part of Allentown.

Allentown likes to play rough, physical ground game, Ryland said, but Penn State was kicking a lot and preventing Allentown from playing its game.

In addition to that, the Lions scored six penalty kicks.

Chris Mather booted five of these six kicks in the first half to give the Lions a 15-6 halftime lead.

The kicks ranged from 25 to 50 yards. Mather then added a 35-yard penalty kick about five minutes into the second half to make the score 18-6.

Mather also set up Penn State's only try of the day on a weak side play. He booted a high cross-kick to the wide side of the field where Jim Dolphin picked it up and ran 20 yards for the try.

Mather added the conversion to stretch the lead to 24-6 before Allentown scored again late in the game to make the final 24-12.

Ryland said that strategically, it was Penn State's best game of the year.

He added that the kicking game, especially by Mather, is what made the difference in the game. Allentown had the pressure on them all day because of the accurate, well-placed kicks by Penn State.

The win was the Lions' seventh straight of the year while Allentown dropped to 5-

For Quick Results... CLASSIFIED ADS

ladies night at le bistro most drinks half price for the ladies every Monday 210 w. college

Our Prices Are Being Cut to the Bone Up to 50% OFF and MORE

LIQUIDATION SALE EVERYTHING IS ON SALE —

- Women's Blouses from 2.95
- Dresses from 4.95
- Men's shirts from 4.95
- Indian Spreads from 4.95
- Waterbeds, all sizes 29.95
- Water Buffalo Sandals 2.50

HOUSE OF SHALIMAR
Boutique Fashions
130 Calder Alley 237-1717
* Pick up layaways before Oct. 30th

Meyer Dairy Store & ICE CREAM PARLOR
Our own fresh milk in returnable half-gallon bottles; dairy & bakery goods.
Try our creamy ice cream in a sundae, shake, or cone! Open 10 to 10 daily.
S. Atherton, between State College & Harris Acres

ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEW SCHEDULE FOR GRADUATING STUDENTS CAREER DEVELOPMENT AND PLACEMENT LIBRARY ROOM 413 BUCKLE

RECRUITING DATE	EMPLOYER NAME
November 1 & 2	Aerofuel Nuclear Corp.
November 1 & 2	American Hospital Supply Corp.
November 1	Arco Chemical Co.
November 1 & 2	Miller Brewing
November 1	Strawbridge & Clothier
November 2	Bandix Communication Division
November 2 & 3	FMC Corp./Material Handling Equipment Division
November 2 & 3	Gatty Oil Company
November 2 & 3	Gulf Oil Corp.
November 2 & 3	Lord & Taylor
November 2, 3, & 4	John Manville Research Center
November 2	Templo University
November 2	Phillip Morris, USA
November 2	U.S. Geological Survey/Conservation
November 2 & 3	Bell Systems
November 2 & 4	Davidson's
November 3	Digi-Data Corp.
November 3 & 4	Korvette Dept. Store
November 3 & 4	Liberal Mutual Insurance Co.
November 3	Peabody Coal Co.
November 3	Procter, Inc.
November 3 & 4	Procter & Gamble Co.
November 3	Spery New Holland
November 3 & 4	Standard Oil of Cleveland
November 3	University of Rochester/Grad. School of Business
November 4	Bechtel Power Corp.
November 4	Gimbels/Pittsburgh
November 4	Northrup Services, Inc.
November 4 & 5	Phillips Petroleum
November 4 & 5	Travelers Insurance
November 4 & 5	Westinghouse Electric Corp.
November 5	Allia Chalmers
November 5	Ell Lilly Co.
November 5	Ingersoll Rand Co.
November 5	Parinco
November 5	Addressograph/Multigraph Corp.
November 5	Amoco Production
November 5	Insurance Services Offices
November 5 & 9	Union Carbide Corp.
November 5	SASF Wynotite Corp.
November 5	Brookway Corp.
November 5	Federal Land Banks
November 5	Field Enterprises
November 5	GTE Sylvanite Corp.
November 5	Gimbels/Philadelphia
November 5	Graduate Sch. of Business/New York Univ.
November 5	Hughes Aircraft Co.
November 5	Mead Corp.
November 5	Prudential Insurance Co.
November 5	Reanord Corp.
November 5	Rohm & Haas
November 5	Singer Simulation
November 5	Singer Corp./R&D Labs
November 5	Sienley Works
November 5	U.S. Dept. of Agriculture/Rural Electrification
November 10 & 11	All Division of Cutler Hammer
November 10	Arco Chemical
November 10	Atlantic Richfield
November 10	Birming Glass
November 10	Data General Corp.
November 10	Drexel University
November 10	Main LaFrenz & Co.
November 10	Pomero
November 10	Raytheon Co.
November 10	SCM Corp.
November 10 & 11	Texas Instruments, Inc.
November 10	U.S. Coast Guard/Officer Training
November 11	A.L. Tech. Specialty Steel Corp.
November 11 & 12	Hughes Aircraft
November 11	Hamilton Standard/United Tech.
November 11	Philadelphia Naval Shipyard

* Employers with interviewing times still open.

In conjunction with Fall Term graduation, our office will promote a special resume referral program to assist unemployed November graduates. If you are interested in the details, please drop by 413 Buckle.

Uncle Eli's
ART SUPPLIES, PRINTS, GRAPHICS, FRAMES, & ETC.

Proud of your Hometown Award!

Who's kidding who, dear readers? Deep down in your heart, regardless of how much you may want to forget your maybe sorrid past, there's a secret pride for your old hometown! Ah, memories - Main Street, the Dew Drop Inn, Louigi's Pizza and last, but not least, Frank's Periodicals. So put down your hankies and get into this. Uncle Eli's wants to reward your nostalgia by giving special recognition to readers from selected All-American hometowns. For example, this week, if your hometown is WILLIAMSPORT, PA. and you can prove it, we'll give you a two dollar gift certificate. Just come into Uncle Eli's at 129 Beaver Avenue and say "I'm from Clarks Summit and proud of it, Hotsch!" We'll be picking other towns from time to time, so don't feel left out — just keep watching!

Doesn't Uncle Eli's take good care of you?!

RULES: Bring this ad with you. Offer expires this Saturday. Applicable only to Pennsylvania communities.

Chocolate BUTTERED RUM Ice cream

BASKIN-ROBBINS ICE CREAM STORE
358 East College Avenue

PENNSYLVANIA TRIALS RIDERS and ROARING BRANCH MOTORSPORT present

NOV. 7 NOV. 7

KEYSTONE STATE NATIONAL

United States Observed Trials Championship - Round 8

Admission: (Includes Sat & Sun Camping)
$4.00 Advance
$5.00 At Gate

Entries: JERRY YOUNG
Box 116
Proctor Star Route
Williamsport, Pa
17701 (717) 435-0393

STARTS 11:00 A.M. - NO TRAILRIDING NOV. 7

Tickets:
ROARING BRANCH MOTORSPORT
Box 116 R D 2 Williamsport, Pa. | 17765
(717) 673-8983

30 miles North of Williamsport on Rt. 14