

Warnke compromise offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican Sen. Robert Griffin suggested yesterday that Paul Warnke should be given only one of the two arms control posts for which President Carter nominated him.

Apparently offering a way for conservatives to accept Warnke, Griffin indicated he would be willing to accept him as director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency if Carter named someone else as chief disarmament negotiator with the Russians.

Warnke was nominated for both posts but drew heavy opposition to Senate Foreign Relations Committee confirmation hearings from conservatives, including Griffin.

The hearings ended Wednesday with committee action unlikely before Feb. 22 after the Senate - returns from recess. But the Warnke question erupted into unscheduled debate on the Senate floor yesterday with the Armed Services Committee seeking a piece of the action.

Later it was announced that committee would hold a closed meeting this morning to discuss a role in the Warnke hearings.

Warnke's critics contend

he has advocated unilateral disarmament in the past which makes him unacceptable as chief U.S. negotiator in seeking a new agreement with the Soviet Union on strategic arms limitation.

Griffin, noting Warnke has been a critic of the B1 bomber, the Trident submarine and the Cruise missile, told the Senate: "If I wanted to sell my house, I wouldn't go out and get a real estate agent who said my house was worth 0 per cent less than I wanted to get for it."

Griffin said he had no problem with Warnke's nomination to head the arms control agency.

Greeks to sing for cystic fibrosis charity

Although the Greeks weren't known for their singing, Penn State Greeks will sing their hearts out for Cystic Fibrosis 2 p.m. Sunday in the HUB Ballroom.

Alpha Chi Omega sorority is sponsoring the fourth annual Greek Lyre Sing, a talent show for fraternities and sororities.

The competition is divided into two divisions — traditional and original. In addition to singing, the participants can also put on a skit during their five minutes of stage time.

There is no limit to the numbers of persons in each organization's entry. Each group pays a $5 fee to enter one of the competitions, and $10 to enter both.

Trophies will go to the first, second and third-place finishers in each division. Sorority spokesman Mary Ann Yurasic said the response to the event has been overwhelming, with 12 fraternities and 12 sororities doing their number for cystic fibrosis.

Yurasic said the sorority works especially hard on this philanthropic project for a special reason — one of the sorority's members has cystic fibrosis. She said the "sing's" success is important. "It really hits home when it concerns someone you care about," she said.

Spectators are asked to pay a 25-cent donation at the door.

WDFM allocated money for equipment, survey

The Associated Student Activities Budget Committee last night appropriated $1,226.34 to WDFM for upgrading equipment and a listener survey.

The radio station was denied another $2,930 that would have been spent on new equipment. Chairman

Jeannette Morris said the committee felt the equipment the station now used was adequate.

The committee allocated $773.70 to the East Residence Association (ERA) for programming that includes a Valentine's Day Dance and hypnotist program.

Other ERA funding was for office and athletic equipment. The group was denied another $164.32 for extra equipment.

ASA gave the Graduate Student Association $227.50 of a $2016.66 request. A coffeehouse received funding, but some large equipment purchases and additional copies of the GSA tax guide were denied.

Morris said the committee felt the equipment for the coffeehouse was unnecessary and it was too late to finance so many more tax guides.

Free University received $487.30 of the $979.90 they had requested to publish their booklet. Morris said the group was denied reimbursement of money spent from unrestricted funds because such reimbursement is not allowed.
