Teng's return rumored in China

HONG KONG (UPI) — A 20-foot-long wall poster plastered yesterday on a side street in Peking said twice-purged Teng Hsiao-ping, close friend and onetime heir apparent of late Premier Chou En-Lai has been restored to power.

Sources in the Chinese capital reported that the poster, hailing a "warm welcome" to "Comrade Teng" was put up on a back street by the first and fourth bureaus of the Economic Affairs Ministry.

There was, however, no official confirmation of the wall poster.

Diplomatic sources in Peking said the meeting of the Chinese Communist party Political Bureau (Politburo) would take up the rehabilitation of Teng as one of the key items on its agenda.

When he was purged for the second time in his career in April, 1976, Teng was a vice chairman of the party, the first vice premier and chief of the General Staff of the Armed Forces. Teng also was purged during the Cultural Revolution of the mid-1960s.

The poster said Teng, 74, had been reinstated to those three posts as well as to the vice chairmanship of the party's Military Affairs Commission.

There had been widespread speculation in Peking and Hong Kong that Teng would be reinstated to a position of power before the end of the month. Some diplomats in Peking said he may take over as premier, a position now held by Hua Kuofeng, the Communist Party chairman.

Teng was serving as the chief executive for a long time before being purged last year because the late Premier Chou En-Lai was suffering from cancer and was unable to fulfill his duties.

Some Chinese reading the poster told foreigners that Teng's return to power "has been expected."

Teng, who is strongly supported by the army, is believed to have been active in decision-making for the past few months.

Policies which he advocated while serving as first vice Premier, severely attacked last year, have now been adopted by the new leadership.
