

Social Security bill hops Senate hurdles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill to raise Social Security taxes for 100 million workers — and increase them even more for employers — got by two big hurdles in the Senate yesterday.

By a 54-36 vote, the Senate killed a proposal by Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., to send the bill back to the Senate Finance Committee for further study until February.

Later, the threat of a filibuster was removed.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., and several others had threatened to "talk at length" unless they were allowed to bring up for debate an amendment they are supporting.

The amendment, caught up in a dispute over compliance with Congress' budget process, would allow persons over 65, beginning in 1982, to earn unlimited wages and still collect full Social Security benefits. They now begin to lose benefits after earning $3,000.

But the Senate agreed by voice vote to allow this and several other amendments to come up for debate and a vote today, and Dole said that made the filibuster unnecessary.

Earlier in the day, the Senate voted in favor of raising Social Security taxes more steeply for employers than employees. It rejected 49-41 a substitute by Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., which would tax them equally as would a House-passed bill.

But that matter was not finally settled, because Curtis said he probably would press today for another substitute, which also would tax employers and employees equally but through a different formula.

UN approves anti-hijack action

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The U.N. General Assembly yesterday unanimously approved an appeal to all nations of the world to unite and end the threat of air hijackings, although some nations said the action was weak and ineffective.

International airline pilots who demanded the United Nations take up the air terrorism issue by threatening a worldwide strike said they were satisfied and cancelled their walkout plans.

The United States hailed the resolution as a "major step forward," but Israel said it was disappointing. Cuba complained the declaration revealed a discriminatory bias because the most recent notorious hijacking involved European tourists.

"The U.N. has listened to the voice of the people," said Capt. Derry Pearce, president of the International Federation of Air Line Pilots Associations.

"IFALPA does not plan to take any strike action at this time," said W.A. Murphy, deputy president of the group.

"Any nation that violates the spirit of the resolution will be held accountable by the rest of the world."

Missile, neutron bomb okayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress yesterday gave President Carter authorization to go ahead with development of the neutron bomb and the cruise missile.

The Senate passed a $476.4 million supplemental defense authorization bill and a $2.6 billion military energy authorization measure which also includes provisions for experimenting with a successor to the B-1 bomber.

The House-Senate conferees agreed yesterday in their second session:

— To provide $15 million to study the feasibility of turning the FB-111H into a replacement for the B-1, with further funding held in abeyance.

— To provide $73.9 million to purchase four F-14 fighters for the Navy, but to withhold $77.7 million for advanced procurement.

House conferees said they would seek a new vote in the House for rescinding funds originally marked for production of the cancelled B-1.

After protracted and stormy passage through the committee stages when both the neutron bomb and the future of the B-1 roused angry controversy, the bills got final congressional approval with minimum debate and by voice vote in the Senate.
