

Kindrachuk lifts Flyers to victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Orest Kindrachuk's rebound score over Boston's sprawling goaltender in the second period snapped a tie, and the Philadelphia Flyers went on to beat the Bruins 3-1 Sunday night for their first victory in this National Hockey League semifinal playoff.

It was Kindrachuk's second shot in the series and his second score.

Kindrachuk's goal from the left circle helped Philadelphia reduce the Boston lead in the best-of-seven series to 2-1.

The fourth game is scheduled to be played here Tuesday night.

Kindrachuk's go-ahead goal that snapped a 1-1 tie came after Tom Bladon's shot from the right point rebounded off the left pad of Boston goalie Ron Grahame. With Grahame Kindrachuk beat the goalie to the near side.

Earlier, the Flyers brought the sellout crowd of 17,077 to its feet with a first-period goal by Andre Dupont at 11:36 from just inside the blue line.

Dupont's second goal of the 1978 playoffs whizzed into the far corner, beating Grahame, starting in goal for the first time in the series.

But in the second period, at 13:24 with Rick LaPointe in the penalty box for tripping, the Bruins tied it on a power play.

With 1:06 of the penalty left, Terry O'Reilly passed back to Brad Park, who fired a slap shot past Flyers' goaltender Bernie Parent on the stick side to make it 1-1.

In the third period, the Flyers scored an insurance goal at 3:22 when Bobby Clarke carried the puck around the Boston net and laid a perfect pass on the stick of Bill Barber, who was standing on the doorstep of the Bruins goal.

Barber just knocked it past Grahame, a fugitive from the World Hockey Association.

So, the series thus far has been a home ice affair, with Boston winning 3-2 in overtime and 7-5 at the Boston Garden.

Then the Lions 'wised up' and beat the Owls

Princeton snaps netmen's 15-game streak

By JON SARACENO
Daily Collegian Sports Writer

The men's tennis team remembered something very important Saturday morning at Princeton.

It remembered how to lose, as 20th-ranked Princeton walloped the visiting Lions 8-1. Not since March 14, when Maryland edged the host Lions 5-4, had State even been involved in a close match, let alone a losing one.

The Lions, 16-2, regained their magic touch Sunday afternoon at Temple with a 6-3 victory over the Owls and, in the process, set a school record for most wins in a season with 16.

"Princeton is just a super team with a lot of talent and class," said Lion coach Holmes Cathrall. "The kids are just plain tired. Getting up for them and losing was a letdown," Cathrall said.

Mark Darby, the Lions No. 1 singles player, had an especially rough two days losing to Princeton's Jay Lapidus, 6-3, 6-3 and Temple's Nick Gregory, 7-5, 3-6, 7-5.

The Princeton loss also marked sophomore Tim McAvoy's initial defeat of the season, as the Tiger's Jon Gross beat him 6-4, 6-3.

In other results of the Princeton match, the Tiger's Tim Brightfield beat

State's third-ranked Alex Davidson, 6-2, 6-3, Jim Zimmerman defeated Bill Schmucker, 6-4, 6-2, Leice Shiras edged John Freatman 7-6, 6-4, and Tim Wilson lost to Steve Meister, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Penn State's only point of the match came when Davidson Schmucker teamed up to beat Brightfield-Gross, 6-3, 6-3. Lapidus-Shiras defeated Darby-McAvoy, 6-4, 6-1 and Zimmerman-Meister got by Freatman-Wilson in three sets, 6-7, 6-4, 6-4.

Cathrall said he was pleased with the team's win over Temple. "Temple is one of our rivals, so we were happy to beat them," Cathrall said.

In that match McAvoy bounced back to crush Temple's Alan Bond, 6-1, 6-1, while teammate Freatman beat the Owl's Gary Solomon, 6-4, 6-2. Wilson edged Dan Waintrup, 6-2, 7-6. Davidson lost to Felipe Oreamundo, 6-4, 6-4 and Bob Litterst defeated Schmucker, 6-0, 7-6.

The Lions swept doubles against the Owls with Darby-McAvoy pulling out a 2-6, 7-5, 7-5 win over Gregory-Bond. Davidson-Schmucker beat Rami Rothlost and Litterst, 6-3, 6-4 and Freatman-Wilson defeated Oreamundo and Mark Boggs, 6-4, 6-4.

Watson chips his way past Trevino for third title

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Watson, twice tied by Lee Trevino, responded to the pressure with a boyish grin and some magnificent shots down the stretch and scored his third victory of the season Sunday in the $200,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

The dynamic red-haired Watson finished off the 4-under-par 66 with a fantastic chip shot from deep trouble on the 18th, saving par there and the $40,000 first prize that made him the season's leading money winner and the game's 17th $1-million winner.

Watson acquired his ninth American title — not including his two British Open triumphs — by a single stroke over the onrushing Trevino with a 72-hole total of 272, eight shots under par on the 6,993-yard Preston Trail Golf Club course.

Trevino, now a two-time runner-up this season, also shot a 66 in the hot, muggy weather and finished at 273.

It was another 3 shots back to the group of four tied for third at 276. Veteran Don January and two-time

PGA champion Dave Stockton shot 67s, Ed Sneed had a closing 68 and nervous Joe Inman a 69.

Defending champion Ray Floyd was alone at 277 after a 67.

South African Gary Player, whose three-tournament winning streak was broken last week, closed with a par-70 and a 285.

Current PGA champ Lanny Wadkins shot 69-293, Arnold Palmer was 74-291 and Johnny Miller 69-288.

St. Francis slips past booters

Rain wasn't the only thing that fell Friday night. Playing in the pouring rain and an hour later than scheduled, the Penn State soccer team fell to St. Francis of Brooklyn, 2-1, in exhibition soccer.

Penn State started out well, dominating both the offense and the defense and keeping the ball in St. Francis' zone much of the time. Herb Menhardt, assisted by Jim Stamatis scored 31 minutes into the first period to give Penn State a 1-0 edge, but just three minutes later St. Francis came back to tie it up. Halfway through the second period St. Francis scored again and

Penn State was unable to reciprocate.

"We played well in spots and we played poorly in spots," Coach Walter Bahr said. "The first 20 minutes and the last 20 minutes we did a good job but in the middle there was a lot of standing around. The major problem was a lack of effort throughout the entire game."

Tomorrow night the soccer team will host American University at 7:30 on Jeffrey Field. Bahr said that this game will differ from the St. Francis game in that he wants to play the top 14 of 15 members, plus give an additional 12 players some game time.
