Oklahoma teaches Texas lesson

By The Associated Press

The Texas Longhorns are convinced — for now — that Oklahoma is the nation's No. 1 college football team, but they're not sure how they'd feel if they played the Sooners again next week.

"Oklahoma certainly is the No. 1 team in the nation ... they were today," Texas linebacker Lance Taylor said Saturday after the top-ranked Sooners rolled to a 31-10 victory over the No. 6 Longhorns. But, he added: "This is a game I'd like to be able to play again next week. We'd just like to go back and start this game over again."

That's because Oklahoma stormed 77 yards in just five plays on its first possession, with Billy Sims scoring from 18 yards out after a 55-yard dash by Kenny King. Sims, who carried 25 times for 131 yards, tallied again on a 1-yard plunge in the second period and the outcome never really was in doubt thereafter.

Uwe von Schamann kicked a 35-yard field goal on the final play of the first half, making it 17-3, while Thomas Lott threw a 24-yard touchdown pass to Bobby Kimball in the third quarter and David Overstreet ran 2 yards for the Sooners' final score in the closing minutes.

Meanwhile, the Oklahoma defense, somewhat overshadowed by the Sooners' explosive offense, held Texas to 142 yards rushing and 49 in the air as the Longhorns completed only 5 of 19 passes. The Sooners intercepted three and recovered two Texas fumbles.

"I gave all the defensive players a game ball. They played super," said Barry Switzer, possessor of an amazing 56-5-2 head coaching record. "We had challenged them to hold Texas to 10 points, and they did."

Southern California, runner-up in The Associated Press ratings, had the weekend off but Michigan, Arkansas and Penn State, the 3-4-5 teams, kept pace with Oklahoma.

Michigan, however, almost stumbled just one week after Coach Bo Schembechler promised the Wolverines would be psyched up for every game. They fell behind Arizona 17-7 in the first half but rallied to grind out a 21-17 triumph when Russell Davis plunged across from a yard out with 5½ minutes remaining — on fourth down, no less.

Jerry Eckwood and Micheal Forrest each scored twice in leading Arkansas to a 42-3 romp over Southwest Conference rival Texas Christian while Ron Calcagni threw a touchdown pass to Robert Farrell and directed the fourth-ranked Razorbacks to three other scores.

Fifth-ranked Penn State extended the nation's longest major college winning streak to 15 games and avenged last season's only setback by blasting Kentucky 30-0.

Kansas City fans give team warm welcome

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — They were down — again — but the fans of the Kansas City Royals appeared to be a long way from being out.

A crowd of about 2,000 cheering faithful greeted the Royals Sunday afternoon as the American League West champions returned to Kansas City after losing the AL playoffs to the New York Yankees in four games.

The decisive 2-1 defeat Saturday night to New York marked the third straight season the Royals won their division only to fall to the Yankees in the playoffs.

Banners reading, "Royals You Did One Hell-of-a-Job. Thanks," "We're Still Loyal to the Royals" and "1978, No. 1 in Our Hearts; 1979, No. 1 in the World" expressed the fans' optimism as they crowded inside the airport terminal and around two charter buses outside.

The crowd roared when the first Royal, catcher Darrell Porter, stepped through the terminal and cheered repeatedly with the appearance of each player.

A few of the Royals — including pitcher Dennis Leonard and outfielder Joe Zeb — smiled or grinned, but most were grim-faced as they filed onto the buses.

There was no dampening the determined enthusiasm of the fans, however. The site of center fielder Amos Otis prompted the familiar "A.O.! A.O.! A.O.!" chant.

Then the Royals' playoff hero, George Brett, appeared and the crowd shrieked as he quickly vanished into a bus.

Perhaps the Kansas City third baseman was just exhausted, maybe he had said all he could in New York, maybe the disappointment was just too great.

Dodgers hope for a different ending

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Baseball's 75th anniversary World Series begins Tuesday evening in Los Angeles with the National League champion Dodgers facing the American League champion New York Yankees and hoping for a change from last year's script.

Both teams advanced impressively, winning their league championship series in four games. The Dodgers eliminated Philadelphia and the Yankees knocked off Kansas City, both repeats of last year's pennant playoffs.

Because Los Angeles and New York both advanced on Saturday, the teams will have two days off before the start of the Series. The two clubs scheduled workouts at Dodger Stadium for late Monday afternoon.

The opening-game pitchers for the Series figure to be Ed Figueroa, a 20-game winner during the regular season for the Yankees, and Burt Hooton, who won 19 games for the Dodgers.

Both right-handers had problems in their lone starts of the playoffs. Figueroa was knocked out in the second inning of Game 2 by Kansas City and charged with the only loss the Yankees suffered against the Royals.

Hooton, staked to a fat early lead in Game 1 against the Phillies, didn't make it past the fifth inning, with the victory going to rookie reliever Bob Welch.

A year ago, when the Yankees beat the Dodgers in six games for the world championship, Figueroa did not pitch. He had an injured finger, but was so upset at being passed over that he asked permission to go home to Puerto Rico before the final game.

Early this season, he asked to be traded because he wasn't pitching as often as he wanted. No deal developed, and when Bob Lemon replaced Billy Martin as the Yankee manager, Figgy became an integral part of New York's dash to its third consecutive pennant.

Hooton, who became the ace of the Dodgers' staff this season, enjoying the best year of his career, started twice against the Yankees in the 1977 World Series. He beat them 6-1 in the second game but was the starter and loser in the sixth and final game when Reggie Jackson rewrote the Series record book with three consecutive home runs.

Jackson finished last year's Series with five homers, eight runs batted in and a .450 batting average and was named the outstanding player of the championship showdown. The Yankee slugger warmed up for this Series by ripping two home runs and batting .461 in the four-game playoff against Kansas City.

Under the system of alternating rules, the American League's designated hitter will be used in the Series this year. Jackson likely will occupy that role for the Yankees while Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda may alternate the assignment.

Los Angeles has been platooning center fielders Bill North and Rick Monday and could use the DH rule to keep both of them in the Series lineup.

Or, the Dodgers might choose to use one of the other batters on their deep bench that includes pinch-hitting specialists like Lee Lacy, who had five pinch homers during the regular season, Manny Mota and Vic Davallilo.

The Dodgers are healthy for the Series and will present the same set line-up that changed from behind in August to overtake San Francisco and Cincinnati for the NL West title.

READ THESE LINES. THEY REALLY SAY "CAREER OPPORTUNITY"

If you can easily read the above lines, you may have the kind of language talent that the National Security Agency needs.

Opportunities now exist for candidates skilled in the languages shown, plus certain other unusual foreign languages as well. Those selected will be able to make valuable contributions in the production of national defense intelligence.

The National Security Agency offers a variety of challenging assignments for language majors ... translation, transcription, area research projects, to name a few. Newly-hired linguists receive advanced training in their primary languages and can plan on many years of continued professional growth.

Intellectual challenge is part of NSA's language, too ... plus attractive surroundings in our suburban Maryland headquarters. Salaries start at the GS-7 level for BA degree graduates, plus all the usual benefits of Federal employment.

U. S. citizenship is required.

We can't do it without you.

The Systems Division of Computer Sciences Corporation has mounted the most aggressive campus recruitment program in its history.

As a consequence of our growth, both in types as well as magnitude of contracts, the entry level opportunities now at CSC are as numerous and diverse as an encyclopedia of communications and computers, with systems ranging from undersea to outer space.

Intensely challenging programs underway serve almost every branch of government, and every corner of industry.

Unlike other large firms which concentrate on design, development, and manufacture of computers and related hardware, CSC is entirely systems oriented. Here you will find yourself in the unique position of creating software for systems (which you will also be helping to create) out of your knowledge of customer needs, and awareness of all of the hardware available, from any and every manufacturing entity in the nation. Perhaps the world.

From the beginning, you will enjoy the career advantages that arise out of CSC's stature as one of the largest information sciences companies in the world. But you'll soon realize the value to you as an individual of the fact that CSC is not a giant monolithic employer. Even within our fast growing Systems Division, each operation and technical team maintains its own identity and individuality.

So you will enjoy greater visibility for all the good things you do.

Starting in Year Number One.

If your degree is in EE, Computer Sciences, or their equivalent, we'd like to introduce you to people very much like yourself who have helped make CSC the industry leader in software and computer-based systems.

We couldn't have gotten there without them... and we can't stay there without you.

We'll be interviewing on campus Monday, October 16th.

See your College Placement Office for details, or write Chris Pappas, Employment Manager.
