Punk rocker Vicious fails in suicide attempt

NEW YORK (UPI) — British punk rock star Sid Vicious, free on bail in the stabbing death of his American girlfriend, yesterday slashed his arm in a suicide attempt to "keep my part of the bargain."

The 21-year-old Vicious reportedly screamed, "I want to die, I want to join Nancy!" as he inflicted a deep cut almost the entire length of his right forearm just before 3 a.m. in the Seville Hotel room he shared with his mother.

Friends of Vicious quoted the distraught musician as crying out, "I didn't keep my part of the bargain!" just after he tried to take his life with a broken light bulb and razor blade.

Vicious, whose real name is John Simon Ritchie, was taken by ambulance to Bellevue Hospital, where he was listed in satisfactory condition.

A police spokesman said Vicious' private psychiatrist, Steve Teich, summoned police to the Manhattan hotel about 2:50 a.m.

When officers entered Room 814, Vicious, who was clad in only a pair of pants and bleeding profusely, was struggling with Teich. Police said Teich told them Vicious had tried to jump out the window but he restrained him.

His mother, Ann McDonald, who came from England to be with her son after his arrest on Oct. 12, was in the room with him, crying, police said.

It was not immediately clear whether Teich and Mrs. McDonald were in the room when Vicious cut himself.

Vicious allegedly confessed to killing his girlfriend, Nancy Spungen, on Oct. 12 after police found her bloody and scantily clad body in the bathroom of the $35-a-night room they shared at Manhattan's Chelsea hotel.

Miss Spungen, a native of Huntington Valley, a Philadelphia suburb, had been stabbed in the stomach with a hunting knife.

Vicious, a one-time member of the now-defunct spitting and stomping Sex Pistols, was released from the Rikers Island jail last Monday after his attorney, Bradley Wexler, posted the $50,000 bail for his release.

Vicious was kept at the prison detoxification center during his stay at Rikers because he was suffering from withdrawal of methadone.

At a hearing last Tuesday in Manhattan Criminal Court, Judge Leon Becker allowed Vicious to remain free on bail pending a preliminary hearing Oct. 30.

It is believed the case is being presented to a grand jury.

After his release, Vicious' former manager Malcolm McLaren said Vicious would try to line up some concerts, complete a film on the Sex Pistols and work on an album, in an effort to raise money for his defense.

USG record, tape exchange tomorrow

The Undergraduate Student Government expects to attract both bargain hunters and browsers at its record and tapes exchange from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow in the HUB Reading Room.

Persons interested in selling albums or tapes may register from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"Last year's record exchange went very well," Marina Zeccarda, head of the USG Programs and Services Department said. "Everyone liked it — we got a lot of good feedback," she said.

This year's record exchange will be set up differently than last year's was. Albums will be on tables this year, instead of being stacked on shelves. Also, a three-part voucher will be given, with one copy going to the person selling the album, one going in the USG's files, and one attached to the album.

"Last year each person got one voucher; this year each record gets one voucher," Zeccarda said.

The seller's ID number also will be put on the voucher and the record. "We're trying to do a better job with the book-keeping this year," she said, citing the problems with lost vouchers last year.

"Albums that cost $5.99 downtown usually run from $2.50 to $3.50 at the record exchange," Zeccarda said. "The albums are usually in good condition, although they should be checked before being purchased," she said.

Alcohol arrest made after four-car crash

State College police said Robert Fay, 133 W. Irvin St., was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on Saturday, following a four-car accident on E. College Avenue.

According to police, Fay's car was traveling east on College near Porter Road, when it struck the median strip and collided with a car owned by Harold Welsh, 221 Park Ave., Woolrich. Fay's 1973 Ford station wagon then crossed the median strip and hit two westbound cars, one driven by Myrna Zamick, 457 Nimitz Ave., and the other driven by Roberta Hutchinson of Williamsport.

Damages to Fay's station wagon were estimated at $1500, while those to the Hutchinson's car and Welsh's car totaled about $700.
