

Want a new major? Learn all on Sunday

By MARYANN HAKOWSKI
Daily Collegian Staff Writer
Representatives from the University colleges will meet students this weekend at a program sponsored by the Residential Life Programs of East Halls.

"Major Decision Sunday" will give students the opportunity to discuss majors with representatives from each University college. Hope Senger, RA for first and second floor Brumbaugh, said the program will have a format similar to the college fairs held in high schools.

"It will be an informal atmosphere," she said, "Each college will have its own table and bring information materials, tapes and posters to put up."

The representatives will answer questions on degree requirements, the possibilities of getting into a major, and the job outlook in specific fields. "The representatives will be able to tell you about the meat of the courses and what is expected of you," she said.

"Students don't know exactly where to go to get specific questions answered,"

Senger said. "We are trying to make them aware of the options available to them."

The Division of Undergraduate Studies, the Career Development and Placement Center and the Graduate School will also have representatives at the program. "The program isn't just geared for freshmen and sophomores," she said. "It is also for juniors and seniors who are considering grad school."

Major Decision Sunday is the brainchild of Senger and several other RAs in East Halls. "There were a lot of questions we would get from students that we couldn't answer," she said. "Hopefully, this will be a chance for them to get the information they need."

Senger said the colleges are enthusiastic about the program. "When we contacted them, they liked the idea," she said. "They gave us no hassles at all and supported the idea very well."

Major Decision Sunday will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Feb. 18 in the FUB rec room. Refreshments will be served.
