Fran Tarkenton won't be doing any more scrambling like he did here against the Philadelphia Eagles. Tarkenton has called it quits after 18 years in the National Football League.

Tarkenton retires, heads for ABC

holder of every major passing record as the quarterback for the Minnesota Vikings, has quit pro football to become a television commentator, Roone Arledge, president of ABC News and Sports, announced yesterday.

Tarkenton frustrated defensive linemen for 18 seasons in the National Football League, setting records for most career completions, most yards passing, most touchdown passes and most total passes.

He will confine his scrambling this season to the broadcast booth between Tarkenton will do the six regular season games that regular commentator Don Meredith doesn't do.

With Tarkenton's illustrious football career behind him, he will probably beremembered as the man who: - Set the standard for the scrambling, mobile quarterback; Held every major NFL career quarterback record, and - Never won a Super Bowl despite three shots at it.

Meredith and ABC could not reach agreement on an increased workload, 16 Frank Gifford and Howard Cosell on Monday night games plus three Thursday night games and one Sunday night game, so ABC began negotiations with Tarkenton.

Merrill Swanson, the Vikings' public relations director, said the team had been aware of Tarkenton's discussions with the networks for some time but was hopeful that he would return for another season.

"We would be stupid not to want him back," Swanson said. "He's a magician. There are so many things he could do for a team. He always made things ex-

Tarkenton's retirement leaves the Vikings with veteran Bob Lee, Tommy Kramer and rookie Steve Dils of Stanford, who was selected on the fourth round of last week's NFL draft.

Besides the regular season games, the 39-year-old Tarkenton will be commentator for three preseason games and the Pro Bowl in Honolulu for a total of 10 games in the 1979-80 season. His first ABC appearance will be at the Hall of Fame exhibition game in Canton, Ohio in

For the past three years, Tarkenton has been a commentator on NBC's pregame NFL broadcasts. His contract expired and he told all three networks of

Nuss, Malone, Byrne spark softball squad

Daily Collegian Sports Writer Nuss and Malone and Byrne may not have the same ring as Tinker and Evers and Chance, and Laura Nuss, Deb Malone and Peggy Byrne aren't even the double play combination for the Lady Lion softball team. But yesterday those three meant as much to the Lady Lions as Tinker, Evers and Chance did to the Chicago Cubs. In a double-header yesterday with Cortland, Nuss drove in the game-winning runs in both games, Malone had three hits, three RBIs, scored two runs and put on a sparkling defensive exhibition and Byrne pitched a 6-5, 3-1 sweep. "I was really pleased with the way we played," Lady Lion coach Pat McTarsney said. "We had six seniors out there and were really hoping to finish with two wins. Laura was hitting good today, and she helped us when we needed it. Deb Malone made some excellent plays at three-hitter in the second contest to lead Penn State to a shortstop, and Peggy Byrne pitched a good game. She did a real nice job. We played a good, solid game."

The first game was see-saw from the start. The lead changed hands three times and was tied once before ending up at five-all in the middle of the seventh inning. Nuss then came up with her first heroic hit of the afternoon when she singled in Diane Dixon in the bottom of the seventh for the win.

The hit came at an opportune time for not only the team, but also for Nuss herself. She could have ended up the goat of the first game after she let a fly ball by Cortland's Lori Slaght go over her head in the top of the fifth. The fly turned into a homerun that scored two and tied the game at five.

"I never knew it was over my head," Nuss said. "It was my fault. There was no sun in my eyes; it was a little misjudgement. I was glad I got the game-winning hit and was able to help the team then."

Nuss was also responsible for two of the three runs in the second game, singling in Malone in the fourth and scoring herself on a Cortland error.

Malone was the Lady Lions' version of "Charley Hustle" yesterday. She sparked an early comeback effort in the first game with a two-run single that put Penn State ahead 4-2. Malone also combined with Penn State catcher Patti Fogarty to throw out four Cortland runners trying to steal second.

In the second game, Byrne didn't allow a hit until the fifth inning before going on for the victory, but the senior said she wasn't thinking about another no-hitter in her final appearance for the Lady Lions.

"I just wanted to win," she said. "I didn't feel too bad, and we were lookin' good."

"She (Byrne) tired a little bit near the end, but she pitched five super innings of ball," McTarsney said. 'She did a real nice job.'
