

Senior Dayle Tate suffered a broken jaw earlier in spring practice, leaving the quarterback duties to either Frank Rocco, Jeff Hostetler or Todd Blackledge.

QB situation unresolved

By TOM VERDUCCI
Daily Collegian Sports Writer
The field for the second annual Penn State Quarterback Derby has been cut to three, and of that trio there is no favorite.

Scratch the No. 17 horse, senior Dayle Tate, from your programs. The 1979 Derby winner suffered a broken jaw in a contact drill earlier in spring practice that has put his football career in jeopardy.

Senior Bookie Moore is being tried at fullback to give more experience to the running corps. Junior Mike Meade, who carried the ball 29 times last year, also is a top candidate for the fullback position. Curt Warner is literally the big news at tailback. The sophomore from Wyoming, W. Va., bulked up from 180 pounds to 197.

Spring practice also marks the return of safety Pete Harris and defensive tackle Frank Case, who are battling back from academic difficulties. Both have been working with the third team in defense.

Defensive back Karl McCoy, who also missed last season due to grades, is no eligible yet and is reported to be headed for the Canadian Football League.

The spring season is scheduled to conclude May 3 with the annual Blue-White game in Beaver Stadium, but the Lions still have 12 practices to get in because some earlier workouts were canceled due to rain.

Blackledge used a quick drop-back and a good touch to help move the offensive unit. In one series, Blackledge drilled a 29-yard sideline pass and then will be looking at three young thoroughbreds to run his multiple-set offense: sophomores Frank Rocco and Jeff Hostetler and freshman Todd Blackledge.

"We must have a much more balanced offense this fall," Paterno said. "Our No. 1 concern is to come out of spring practice with a big league quarterback and hopefully, a backup."

There aren't many differences among the quarterbacks," Phillips said. "There couldn't be a depth chart at this time. They all are physically the same and have good size. They all can throw the ball long and hard. They've shown they can be good passers and runners."

Tate had his jaw wired shut and could lose up to 40 pounds. The spring roster lists him at 6-1, 170 — already down 10 pounds from last year.

For Tate, it is the most crucial in a long series of injuries. Tate missed all of the 1977 season with a broken hand, appeared in the opening game of 1978 against Rutgers and broke his collarbone, injured his thumb against Temple last year and then injured his shoulder against Pittsburgh.

With Tate out of the race, Joe Paterno

Softball team hosts twinbill

By GLENN KAUF
Daily Collegian Sports Writer
Compared with the competition and the weather the softball team (13-7) has been competing all season, the Lady Lions may think they are on a vacation in Florida at 1:30 this afternoon on Lady Lion Field.

But the Lady Lions cannot afford to get out the sunbath and relax in either game of the double-header against Lock Haven today because Penn State plays regional runner-up Temple on Thursday and Ohio State on Saturday.

"I will be very disappointed if we don't win both of the games of the double-header against Lock Haven," Penn State coach Pat McCartney said. "Recently, we have been dominating Lock Haven on the field. The last few years we have won more of the games consistently from them and we should win the double-header."

The team will not win, however, if we go into the competition not ready to play and a little bit off. We need to be sharp and will have to play as well as we have against any competition that they have faced all season. We have to use this game to get into the best shape for the competition coming up — Temple and Ohio State."

Last year against Lock Haven, the Lady Lions swept a double-header, 6-3, 19-4, and held Lock Haven to only 12 hits in the two games.

"Last year they did not have a very good pitching staff and their team was not one of the best," McCartney said. "However, I think they did reasonably well the rest of the season. They just did not compete well against us."

Both the Lady Lions and Golden Eagles have eight returning starters, including their top pitchers and hitters from last year.

Rayne Yori will probably start the first game for the Lady Lions. She is 6-1 on the season.

Kim Eckly will probably get the nod for Lock Haven in the first game. Eckly led the Golden Eagle pitching staff last year, posting a 6-3 slate.

McCartney is planning on keeping the same lineup she used over the weekend against Slippery Rock.

NOTES: Leadoff batter and center fielder Kathy Boyle will probably not see action again today because of a knee injury. . . The starting pitcher for Penn State in the second game will be named after the first game. . . Because Temple lost to West Chester and Penn State defeated West Chester, postseason invitations are up in the air.

Homecoming for netwomen

By JEFF SCHULER
Daily Collegian Sports Writer
The women's tennis team will finally get a taste of the homecourt advantage when it plays only its second home match of the spring at 3 p.m. today against Bucknell.

The last time the Lady Lions played at home was April 2 when Princeton downed Penn State, 6-3.

"We're looking forward to playing at home," Penn State coach Candy Royer said. "We finally get to stay at one place to play."

Not only that, but if the weather stays good the Lady Lions will get to play outdoors for the first time this spring.

"I'll be different, both for us and for Bucknell," Royer said. "We've only practiced outside once or twice this spring. It's always tougher outside."

Royer doesn't expect the Bisons to be as challenging as some of the other schools on the schedule, but said Bucknell has some good players at the top of its lineup.

Royer also had some good words for the team's performance in last weekend's Middle States Tournament in Princeton, where the Lady Lions finished second to the host Tigers.

"I thought we had a good tournament," she said. "We were well in range to win."

Entering final action Sunday, the Tigers and the Lady Lions were tied, but Princeton outscored the Lady Lions 8-2 to pull out the title.

Although no Lady Lions brought home any individual championships, the team did well.

Carol Daniels advanced to the singles semifinals — before being eliminated by eventual runner-up Suzanne Kuhlman of Georgetown.

Cherie Dow, eliminated by eventual champion Suzie Replogle of Princeton, came back to win the consolation title with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Boston University's Johanna Steeper.

The No. 1 doubles team of Gail Ramsay and Sue Whiteside made it to the semifinals, only to lose to the eventual winning duo of Chris Kinney and Anne Renfrew of Princeton.

Homecoming for netwomen

By JEFF SCHULER
Daily Collegian Sports Writer
The women's tennis team will finally get a taste of the homecourt advantage when it plays only its second home match of the spring at 3 p.m. today against Bucknell.

The last time the Lady Lions played at home was April 2 when Princeton downed Penn State, 6-3.

"We're looking forward to playing at home," Penn State coach Candy Royer said. "We finally get to stay at one place to play."

Not only that, but if the weather stays good the Lady Lions will get to play outdoors for the first time this spring.

"I'll be different, both for us and for Bucknell," Royer said. "We've only practiced outside once or twice this spring. It's always tougher outside."

Royer doesn't expect the Bisons to be as challenging as some of the other schools on the schedule, but said Bucknell has some good players at the top of its lineup.

Royer also had some good words for the team's performance in last weekend's Middle States Tournament in Princeton, where the Lady Lions finished second to the host Tigers.

"I thought we had a good tournament," she said. "We were well in range to win."

Entering final action Sunday, the Tigers and the Lady Lions were tied, but Princeton outscored the Lady Lions 8-2 to pull out the title.

Although no Lady Lions brought home any individual championships, the team did well.

Carol Daniels advanced to the singles semifinals — before being eliminated by eventual runner-up Suzanne Kuhlman of Georgetown.

Cherie Dow, eliminated by eventual champion Suzie Replogle of Princeton, came back to win the consolation title with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Boston University's Johanna Steeper.

The No. 1 doubles team of Gail Ramsay and Sue Whiteside made it to the semifinals, only to lose to the eventual winning duo of Chris Kinney and Anne Renfrew of Princeton.

Homecoming for netwomen

By JEFF SCHULER
Daily Collegian Sports Writer
The women's tennis team will finally get a taste of the homecourt advantage when it plays only its second home match of the spring at 3 p.m. today against Bucknell.

The last time the Lady Lions played at home was April 2 when Princeton downed Penn State, 6-3.

"We're looking forward to playing at home," Penn State coach Candy Royer said. "We finally get to stay at one place to play."

Not only that, but if the weather stays good the Lady Lions will get to play outdoors for the first time this spring.

"I'll be different, both for us and for Bucknell," Royer said. "We've only practiced outside once or twice this spring. It's always tougher outside."

Royer doesn't expect the Bisons to be as challenging as some of the other schools on the schedule, but said Bucknell has some good players at the top of its lineup.

Royer also had some good words for the team's performance in last weekend's Middle States Tournament in Princeton, where the Lady Lions finished second to the host Tigers.

"I thought we had a good tournament," she said. "We were well in range to win."

Entering final action Sunday, the Tigers and the Lady Lions were tied, but Princeton outscored the Lady Lions 8-2 to pull out the title.

Although no Lady Lions brought home any individual championships, the team did well.

Carol Daniels advanced to the singles semifinals — before being eliminated by eventual runner-up Suzanne Kuhlman of Georgetown.

Cherie Dow, eliminated by eventual champion Suzie Replogle of Princeton, came back to win the consolation title with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Boston University's Johanna Steeper.

The No. 1 doubles team of Gail Ramsay and Sue Whiteside made it to the semifinals, only to lose to the eventual winning duo of Chris Kinney and Anne Renfrew of Princeton.

Homecoming for netwomen

By JEFF SCHULER
Daily Collegian Sports Writer
The women's tennis team will finally get a taste of the homecourt advantage when it plays only its second home match of the spring at 3 p.m. today against Bucknell.

The last time the Lady Lions played at home was April 2 when Princeton downed Penn State, 6-3.

"We're looking forward to playing at home," Penn State coach Candy Royer said. "We finally get to stay at one place to play."

Not only that, but if the weather stays good the Lady Lions will get to play outdoors for the first time this spring.

"I'll be different, both for us and for Bucknell," Royer said. "We've only practiced outside once or twice this spring. It's always tougher outside."

Royer doesn't expect the Bisons to be as challenging as some of the other schools on the schedule, but said Bucknell has some good players at the top of its lineup.

Royer also had some good words for the team's performance in last weekend's Middle States Tournament in Princeton, where the Lady Lions finished second to the host Tigers.

"I thought we had a good tournament," she said. "We were well in range to win."

Entering final action Sunday, the Tigers and the Lady Lions were tied, but Princeton outscored the Lady Lions 8-2 to pull out the title.

Although no Lady Lions brought home any individual championships, the team did well.

Carol Daniels advanced to the singles semifinals — before being eliminated by eventual runner-up Suzanne Kuhlman of Georgetown.

Cherie Dow, eliminated by eventual champion Suzie Replogle of Princeton, came back to win the consolation title with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Boston University's Johanna Steeper.

The No. 1 doubles team of Gail Ramsay and Sue Whiteside made it to the semifinals, only to lose to the eventual winning duo of Chris Kinney and Anne Renfrew of Princeton.

Homecoming for netwomen

By JEFF SCHULER
Daily Collegian Sports Writer
The women's tennis team will finally get a taste of the homecourt advantage when it plays only its second home match of the spring at 3 p.m. today against Bucknell.

The last time the Lady Lions played at home was April 2 when Princeton downed Penn State, 6-3.

"We're looking forward to playing at home," Penn State coach Candy Royer said. "We finally get to stay at one place to play."

Not only that, but if the weather stays good the Lady Lions will get to play outdoors for the first time this spring.

"I'll be different, both for us and for Bucknell," Royer said. "We've only practiced outside once or twice this spring. It's always tougher outside."

Royer doesn't expect the Bisons to be as challenging as some of the other schools on the schedule, but said Bucknell has some good players at the top of its lineup.

Royer also had some good words for the team's performance in last weekend's Middle States Tournament in Princeton, where the Lady Lions finished second to the host Tigers.

"I thought we had a good tournament," she said. "We were well in range to win."

Entering final action Sunday, the Tigers and the Lady Lions were tied, but Princeton outscored the Lady Lions 8-2 to pull out the title.

Although no Lady Lions brought home any individual championships, the team did well.

Carol Daniels advanced to the singles semifinals — before being eliminated by eventual runner-up Suzanne Kuhlman of Georgetown.

Cherie Dow, eliminated by eventual champion Suzie Replogle of Princeton, came back to win the consolation title with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Boston University's Johanna Steeper.

The No. 1 doubles team of Gail Ramsay and Sue Whiteside made it to the semifinals, only to lose to the eventual winning duo of Chris Kinney and Anne Renfrew of Princeton.

Election Day

USG Dept. of Political Affairs will be providing rides for students who live in Stuart, Hastings, Snyder, and Stone Halls. Students will be met every hour on the hour in front of Findlay Post Office to make voting more convenient for you.

Get Out and Vote

THE TRAIN YARD EXTRAVAGANZA
FRIDAY APRIL 25 ~ 5 P.M. ~ 2 A.M.
ALL DAY HAPPY HOURS
Warren O. Fitting Pitchers of Release Valves Backgammon
Raindate - Monday April 28
LOCATED BEHIND THE TRAIN STATION
JUNCTION OF COLLEGE AVE. & GARNER ST.
OPEN DAILY 8 P.M. ~ 2 A.M. FRIDAY OPEN AT 3:00 P.M.

Sponsored by Eco-Action 2-24 FUBB 863-1972

Tuesday, April 22, 1980

Sunrise Celebration
A gathering of people to celebrate the sun's rise. Meet at the IM Field East of Beaver Stadium.

Recycling Center Open House
An open house at the recycling center to refurbish the center and learn about community recycling. Meet at the center, parking lot 8N. 11:30 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Setting Barn Owl Boxes
A workshop to place barn owl boxes throughout the State College area, in conjunction with the borough of State College. Meet at the Eco-Action office, 224 HUB. 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Low Energy Activities for People
A time of pause, reflect and act upon how the things we do daily affect other people and the earth. Visit the recycling center, help clean up your backyard, neighborhood, or school, or use mass transit instead of driving to work or school. Be Creative!

Sunset Celebration
A potluck dinner/gathering to celebrate the earth. All people are invited. Bring a covered dish and utensils. Meet at Sunset Park, McKee Street. 6:00 p.m.

Village Inn Pizza
1767 N. Atherton • 237-1484

$1.35 Chef's Salad & Soup
Tues, Wed, Thurs 11:00 - 2:00

Lunch for your taste buds and wallet
The Other Side of State College

Get in the picture...

with the free CIEE student TRAVEL CATALOG

Int'l Student I.D. Cards, low-cost student flights, summer jobs, railpasses, car deals—a world of information about travel abroad!

For your Student Travel Catalog send $5* for postage and handling to CIEE, STS, Dept. PENS, 205 E. 42 St. New York, NY 10017

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____

Transamerica Airlines Council on International Educational Exchange

DATE 'N' STEAK
AT THE ARENA EVERY MONDAY AND TUESDAY

THE ARENA'S SPECIALTY SIRLOIN STEAK DINNER FOR TWO

INCLUDES THE FABULOUS ARENA SALAD BUFFET

130 Heister St., State College 237-0361

"PRIME TIME"
EVERY THURSDAY
$1.00 OFF ANY PRIME RIB DINNER
includes baked potato or steak fries

Never a better time, never a better place, never a better price for roast prime rib of beef at its tender, juicy best.

All prime rib dinners include the fabulous ARENA Salad Buffet

EVAN PUGH SCHOLARS

The Evan Pugh Scholars are those juniors and seniors who were in the upper 0.5 percent of their respective classes at the end of winter term, 1980. All have been full-time students for at least six terms prior to selection. The juniors this year have cumulative grade-point averages of 3.97 and above. The seniors have averages of 3.96 and above.

Awards will be presented at the Honors Convocation at 2:00 p.m. Sunday, May 11, in the Milton S. Eisenhower Auditorium.

The 1980 Evan Pugh Scholars are:

- Juniors:
- Jeanette Anthony, Stroustown, PA, University Park, Physics
 - Susan L. Beyerle, Bloomfield Hills, MI, University Park, Finance
 - Karen E. Blackwell, Phoenixville, PA, University Park, Accounting
 - Linda C. Bush, Stroudsburg, PA, University Park, Economics
 - Betsy L. Davis, Bethel Park, PA, University Park, Business Administration
 - Ronald G. Ely, Quakertown, PA, University Park, Physics
 - William C. Fitch, Sewickley, PA, University Park, Chemistry
 - Donna L. Fisher, Howard, PA, University Park, Accounting
 - James J. Furlong, Lemont, PA, University Park, Secondary Education
 - Catherine Harmonosky, Winterset, PA, University Park, Industrial Engineering
 - Karen J. Heilbronn, West Chester, PA, University Park, Accounting
 - Lizabeth Herbst, Pittsburgh, PA, University Park, Accounting
 - Elizabeth W. Herr, Narvon, PA, University Park, General Arts and Sciences
 - Charley A. Hinkle, Weatherly, PA, University Park, Administration of Justice
 - Edward J. Kochin, Carnegie, PA, University Park, Animal Biosciences
 - Geoffrey E. Mann, New Cumberland, PA, University Park, Chemical Engineering
 - Diana I. Mariani, North Versailles, PA, University Park, Accounting
 - Richard G. Mistrick, Leesburg, PA, University Park, Architectural Engineering
 - Kathleen J. Schiewer, Harmony, PA, University Park, Dairy Production
 - James G. Shriner, Fairfield, PA, University Park, Education of Exceptional Children
 - Jeanette M. Smelko, Mt. Pleasant, PA, University Park, Accounting
 - John E. Umer, Schuylkill Haven, PA, University Park, Architectural Engineering
 - Valeda Ann V. Versa, Schuylkill Haven, PA, University Park, Journalism
 - Marie I. Weber, St. Clair, PA, University Park, Animal Biosciences
 - Laura L. Weinberger, Clinton, PA, University Park, Animal Biosciences

- Seniors:
- Cindy Ade, Philadelphia, PA, University Park, Engineering Science
 - Stephanie K. Berdoff, Harrisburg, PA, University Park, Spanish
 - Don E. Burgess, Friendsville, PA, University Park, Physics
 - Courtney A. Callison, Lovittown, PA, University Park, Education of Exceptional Children
 - Carol A. Davis, Lebanon, PA, University Park, Labor Studies
 - Mark S. Dietz, Camp Hill, PA, University Park, Aerospace Engineering
 - Donald Ellenberger, Murhal, PA, University Park, Advertising
 - Lois P. Fehr, Pine Grove, PA, University Park, Horticulture
 - Donna L. Fisher, Howard, PA, University Park, Accounting
 - Lori L. Friedgen, Lafayette Hill, PA, University Park, Elementary & Kindergarten Education
 - Nanette M. Gabbe, New Enterprise, PA, University Park, Individual and Family Studies
 - Michelle T. Gorazick, Morton, PA, University Park, Hospital Planning and Administration
 - Lee Ann Hess, State College, PA, University Park, Management
 - Irene M. Hughes, Old Forge, PA, University Park, Elementary and Kindergarten Education
 - Nancy J. Jubb, Pittsburgh, PA, University Park, Ceramic Science and Engineering
 - Douglas R. King, State College, PA, University Park, Biochemistry
 - Stacy L. Kissinger, Seneca, PA, University Park, Chemical Engineering
 - Mark G. Marshall, Erie, PA, Behrend, Political Science
 - Nancy A. Miller, Reading, PA, University Park, Education of Exceptional Children
 - Kenneth G. Monks, Hazleton, PA, University Park, Chemical Engineering
 - Kimberly A. Neely, Emontown, PA, University Park, Chemistry
 - Charles J. Petreolis, Pittsburgh, PA, University Park, Finance
 - Sandra J. Randis, Drums, PA, University Park, Petroleum and Natural Gas Engineering
 - Karen J. Severson, Pittsburgh, PA, University Park, Accounting
 - Gene A. Snyder, Houston, PA, University Park, Insurance and Real Estate
 - Anthony G. Stair, Hyndman, PA, University Park, Agricultural Business Management
 - Valeda Ann V. Versa, Schuylkill Haven, PA, University Park, Journalism
 - Mark D. Vancura, Washington, PA, University Park, Computer Science

Interesting people read Collegian ads.