Stickgals impressive despite loss

Daily Collegian Sports Writer Maybe Lady Lion third man Michele Fielder said it best: "We may have lost officially, but we didn't lose inside." The final score of the exhibition game was the world champion English national team 13. Penn State 5. The score was 5-0 England before the Lady Lions even got on the board. And the English outshot them 33-19. But this is a case where the numbers don't begin to tell the

Yes, the English were awesome. Tremendous speed, crisp passing, hard checking on offense and a swarming defense carried them to the win. But the Lady Lions were just as impressive in their own right. They played aggressively and went after the ball. Their defense played a close-marking game, picking off passes and checking for steals. The Penn State passing game was at times crisp and sharp, showing more of the brilliance it can achieve, while goalie Alisa Logan made some impressive saves. And the Lady Lion goals came on fantastic "outrun and outfake the defense and then shoot into the corner of the goal" plays.

For the most part, Penn State stayed with the English team. Many times it was just the victim of the fastbreak goal. But Penn State coach Gillian Rattray said her team did the job it wanted to do. "I thought we gave them a good game, considering the caliber of team they are," she said. "We hung in there. We tried to deny them the ball, and to some extent we did do that. "But we're a young team — we had three freshmen starting out there tonight (third home Jo Javens, attack wing Laurie Hoke and defense wing Jane Koffenberger). And with that experience out there, I think we really stayed with them well. Overall, I was very pleased.'' And Fielder was in agreement. "I thought it was really fun to play them," she said. "We tried to put together a team that would really put the pressure on them and outhustle them. And we really hustled and gave them a erception and go for the ground balls. And for where we are, we just played

Losing goalie turns in a winning effort

By CARYL KAUFFMAN Daily Collegian Sports Writer Lady Lion goalie Alisa Logan dling," Logan said. "They had better stopped two less shots than her season average in the lacrosse game of the net." with the English national team last night. But then the English team is own play is indicative of what she probably twice as good as any expects from herself — a shutout.

Logan has been averaging slightly more than 13 saves per game. Last night she had 11 saves and allowed 13 Logan gets help from former men's goals but it took England 33 shots to get those goals. Thirteen is the lowest number of goals that England has brought here from high school,' scored in an exhibition game in the Logan said.

Lions and England can be compared only one hand. She said that two to a game between the football team hands gives more control over and the Pittsburgh Steelers, Logan's rebounds since the ball won't bounce performance wasn't really below average. In fact, Penn State coach Gillian Rattray said Logan played "Alisa was incredible because their shooting is incredible," Rattray said. "She had a good performance. She really did a good job. Our defense played an extremely good game considering the caliber of play." own performance and said she could the team to repeat as national have had more saves. She did say, champions. ### Two voter areas are switched

Polling places for two student precincts in State College have been changed for today's general primary. East Halls students, in precinct East 1, will now vote at the Findlay Union Building recreation room. North Halls students, in precinct East Central 1, will now vote at St. Paul's United Methodist Church at the corner of East College and McAllister Streets. The polls will open at 7 this morning and close at 8 tonight. About 9,702 University students, or about 33 percent, have registered to vote, said Victor Dupuis, director of the Undergraduate Student Government department of political affairs. Polling locations for other student precincts are as follows:

• Students living in Stewart, Stone, Snyder and Hastings Halls must vote in Callege Township. Those students needing rides to the College Township Municipal Building should meet at the Findlay Union Building Post Office. Rides will leave every hour. • West Halls residents vote in the West Central precinct at Rider Oldsmobile,

🛍 S. Burrowes St. • Nittany, Pollock and McElwain Halls residents vote in the East 4 precinct at 129 Pollock Union Building. • Simmons Hall and South Halls residents vote in the East 2 precinct in the Stephens Hall recreation room. • Most fraternities are located in the East Central_3 and East 3 precincts.
