

'In a situation statewide where voters are asking for lower taxes and less spending, the nonpreferreds are going to get

-Michael G. Day

Day calls himself only alternative

Michael G. Day has called himself "the Legislature, Day has said. only clear-cut Democratic alternative"

Centre County in the race for the 77th Day has asserted that Democratic quirements for state Representatives. Centre County numbers between 9,000 to Brazill has denied that he is ineligible. If Brazill won the election, the question of his eligibility would be decided by have taken a pro-choice position on aborand glaucoma victims. tion. He has said that while he is personally opposed to abortion, he would not impose that decision on anyone else. "There are certain decisions that aren't to be made by the federal government, or the state," Day said this fall. As one of his top legislative priorities, Day has called for an amendment to the preferred appropriations. Such a free ride." Though listed on the ballot as an in- measure would give the University and Day has termed his candidacy "an dependent candidate for state House of other nonpreferred appropriations equal alternative to-the economic policies of Representatives, State College Attorney funding priority with the state Gregg Cunningham." "In a situation statewide where voters has called for a tax credit for ding, the nonpreferreds are going to be and create new jobs. the ones to get hurt," he said. Day has said students may have a partly because corporate taxes are high nominee Robert C. Brazill (8th-political greater impact on this election than in science) is not eligible to serve because 1978, when Cunningham was elected, he does not meet the residency re- because student voter registration in wonderment as to who is going to get the the House. Brazill might not be able to student vote." Day has said he favors the decriminalization of marijuana and the Day is the only candidate in the race to legalization of the drug for use by cancer Day entered the race as in independent in July when the question of Brazill's eligibility first surfaced.

as a four-to-one margin because of the private contributions. He has not received any contributions from political "Mr. Cunningham was willing to let it state Constitution to eliminate the ride," Day said. "I wasn't, because I

Day said he entered the race because

To help create jobs in the state, Day

Pennsylvania has been overtaxed, you be uppermost in the minds of voters of the 77th district when they cast their to incumbent Gregg L. Cunningham, R- are asking for lower taxes and less spen- businessmen who hire new employees ballots in Tuesday's general election. "The economic issues for permanent Business is leaving the state, Day said, residents are jobs; the economic issues and partly because of recently passed related to the economic health of the share of unemployment insurance. "When you overtax a state the way > election campaign on the issue of his ef-However, he said, "It is a great get to the point of diminishing returns." fectiveness in representing the Univer-Day opposes legislation, supported by Gov. Dick Thornburgh and Cunningham, of the University's interests is stronger that would cut able-bodied people from than his predecessors. state general assistance rolls.

"We have bettered that (his predecessor's record) enormously," he received his law degree from the Nasaid, referring to the University's basic tional Law Center at George Washington appropriation and additional funding for capital projects. he thought Brazill might lose by as much Day has financed his election with The additional funding includes $800,000 for changes in University facilities to accommodate the handicapped, $8.5 million for alterations to the West Campus Power Plant and $4.5 million for new sewage treatment facilities.

Daily Collegian Staff Writer

State Rep. Gregg L. Cunningham, R-

Centre County, has said he believes the health of Centre County's economy will

Robert C. Brazill and independent can- Organization for Women, said last didate Michael G. Day, Cunningham has March that Cunningham has been lacknot taken a position on amending the ing in his representation of women in his state Constitution to abolish the dif- district. ference between preferred and nonpreferred appropriations.

measure would help insure full funding reformed Pennsylvania's divorce laws Cunningham has said he will support supported. the position of the University on any 130 Heister St.

Cunningham has worked to make his drug laws that will compound the propro-life stand on abortion clear blems we have in this community, with throughout his freshman term as a state our young people being savaged by Representative. He favors amending the drugs to the extent that they are." U.S. Constitution to make abortion He has introduced legislation, which is awaiting action by the Legislature when In comparison to Day's budget of for students are tuition," Cunningham it reconvenes in November, that would about $3,700 and Brazill's $100 camsaid, adding that both issues are closely cut off state funding for Medicaid-funded abortions except in cases of rape, incest than $8,000 of which $600 came from the or danger to the life of the mother. Cunningham has centered his re- Also, Cunningham has said he will sup- bination of private and organizational port legislation, to be introduced in the General Assembly next year, that would sity's interests in Harrisburg, and has be what he calls the toughest antiasserted that his record as an advocate abortion law in the United States. Among many provisions, the legisla tion would require notification of the

Cunningham stands on record

48-to-72 hour "cooling-off period" between when an abortion is approved and when it is performed, and funeral arrangements for an aborted fetus. During his first term, Cunningham has come under fire from women's groups for his positions opposing abortion and the Equal Rights Amendment, and his spring 1979 proposal to require engaged couples to wait six months before getting parents of a minor having an abortion, a

Vandy Wayland, president of the Cen-Unlike his opponents, Democrat tre County Branch of the National Calling Wayland's charges "bizarre and cynical," Cunningham responded by Day and Brazill have said such a pointing to his sponsorship of a bill that - a measure that NOW strongly

Cunningham opposes the legislative proposal which might affect decriminalization of marijuana in Penn-ill-advised to do anything with any of our money to spend in the campaign than either of his opponents.

237-0361

'The economic issues for permanent residents are jobs; the economic issues for students are tuition.

-state Rep. Gregg L something special." Tonight, let it be Löwenbräu.

The Daily Collegian Friday, Oct. 31, 1980-27

Centre County voters increase by 16 percent

Centre County has about 54,569 registered voters eligible to vote in Tuesday's general election - an increase of 16 percent or 8,850 voters since last year. Of the 54,569 registered voters, about 25,968 or 47 percent are registered Republicans: 22,087 or 40 percent are registered Democrats and 6,496 or 11 percent are registered as independent

The numbers of registered voters in student precincts in State College follow the same approximate breakdown, according to Vicki Bumbarger, Centre County chief clerk. The student precincts report the West Central 1 reports 401 registered Republicans, 341 registered Democrats • East 1 has 573 registered Republicans, 432 registered Democrats and 249 independents. • East 2 contains 446 registered Republicans, 423 registered Democrats and 249 registered independents.

• East 3 has 474 registered Republicans, 469 registered Democrats and 234 registered independents. • East 4 reports 653 registered

Republicans, 581 registered Democrats and 342 registered independents. • East Central 1 contains 464 registerd Republicans, 431 registered Democrats and 321 registered independents. • East Central 2 has 348 registered Republicans, 357 registered Democrats East Central 3 reports 371 registered Republicans, 346 registered Democrats and 168 registered independents.

Ag Hill Festival

October 31, 1980 at the HUB

Dinner 5:30-7 pm in Terrace Room

Activities after meal include:

Slide show, Naming of Mr. and Ms. College of Ag, Bingo, and Square Dancing

Come and Enjoy Yourself

RARENA

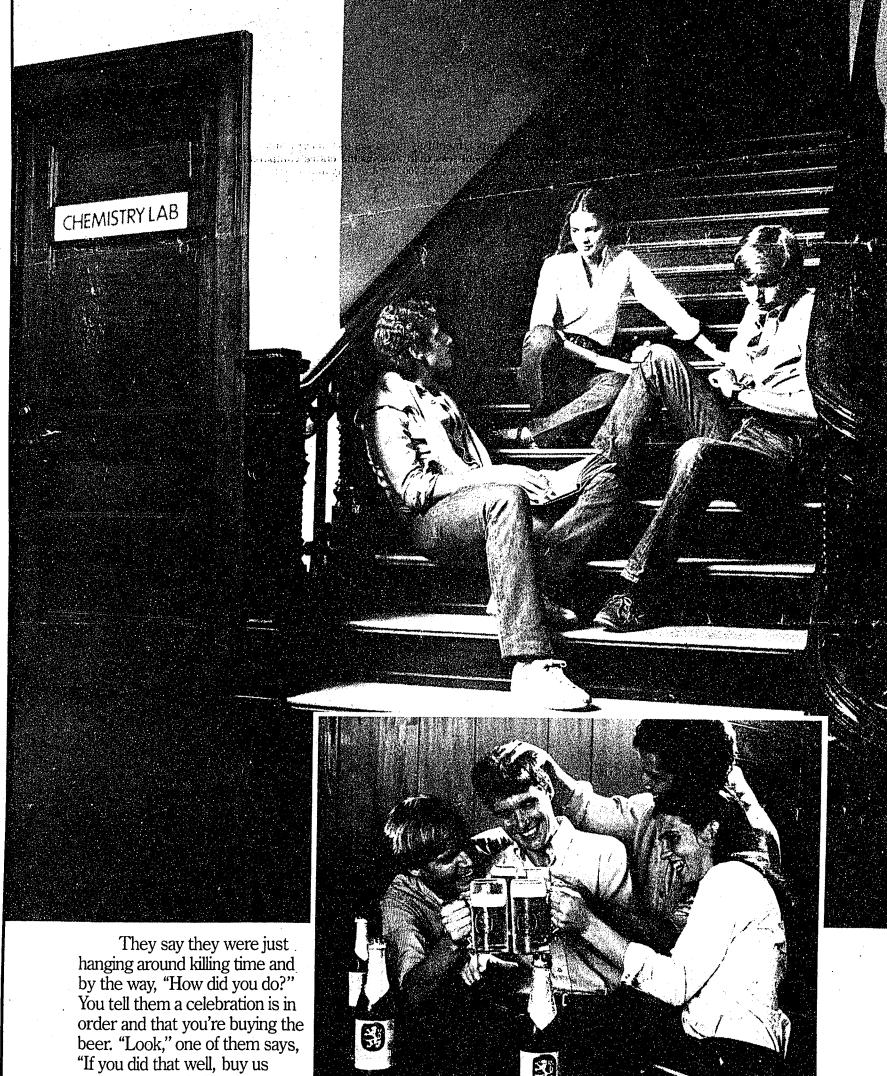

The Arena's New Luncheon Buffet. Includes Soup, Salads, and an Assortment of Sandwich Meats. All you can eat only $3.25.

Now includes Two Hot Entrees daily. 130 Heister St. (next to the Cinemas)

234~5886

Friends wish you luck on a big exam. Good friends stick around to see how you did.

Löwenbräu. Here's to good friends.

Brazill confident on qualifications

Daily Collegian Staff Writer

University student Robert C. Brazill (8th-political science), Democratic candidate for the state House of Representatives, has said that his qualifications - "I'm a student, I'm in- Centre County and a "bottle bill," which would prohibit nonterested, I'm a concerned voter" — are sufficient to represent the 77th District in Harrisburg. "I think that's all it takes. You can't make the legislature an ment to the state Constitution that would eliminate the distinc-

Democratic primary last April. Although he has lost the support of local party leadership in torney Michael G. Day. a dispute over his eligibility, Brazill said House leaders have assured him that he meets the legal requirements for candidacy and that his eligibility will withstand challenges in the However, Grégory Stewart, chairman of the State College tion on whether he meets the residency requirements of the and the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency.

As required by the Pennsylvania Constitution, state Representatives must live in the state for four years before more information before saying where the cuts can be made. Brazill declared residency in New Jersey in order to vote there in 1977, and that may have made him ineligible. If Brazill wins the election and his eligibility is challenged, the entire House will vote to decide the question, and the case could end up in court. While the decision is being made, the 77th District could be without a representative, according to a schools and programs to help pregnant women. legal counsel to House Majority Leader Matthew J. Ryan, R-understanding of problems concerning students and the rest of

"The tuition increases that come all the time hit me as well as anyone else. I'm a student. I'll continue to be a student and I'll represent (students) better than anyone else," Brazill said. He has also said he hopes for support from students in the won't be as sweet," he said.

Brazill said three issues are most important to his campaign: funding for the University, hazardous waste disposal in returnable beverage bottles in Pennsylvania. On the University funding question, Brazill backs an amend-elitist group," said Brazill, who ran unopposed in the tion between preferred and nonpreferred institutions — a position also taken by his independent opponent, State College At-If such an amendment were adopted, the University and priority for state funding with state-owned institutions and

As a short-term solution to the University funding question, Democratic Committee, said last month, "There's a real ques- Brazill proposes to increase funding for both the University To do this, he said, Pennsylvanians "need to cut back some of the bureaucracy in Harrisburg," although he said he needs He supports the decriminalization of marijuana, along with > anybody in jail for smoking a little dope." Brazill has described his position on abortion as "proalternative," meaning he wants to eliminate abortions but supports alternatives, such as increasing sex education in public "I think there are better ways of dealing with (unwanted pregnancies) than abortion," he said.

its legalization for medical use, saying, "It's dangerous to put

Development Authority to encourage small business in Without the financial support of his party, Brazill has had to finance his campaign entirely out of his own pocket and will probably have spent less than $100 on the entire campaign. This compares with about $3,700 spent by Day and $8,000 by incumbent Rep. Gregg L. Cunningham, R-Centre County. YOU BREAK YOUR APX Proudly Welcomes Our Fall Pledges

'The tuition increases that come all the time hit me as well as anyone else. I'm a student. I'll continue to be a student and I'll represent (students) better than anyone else.'

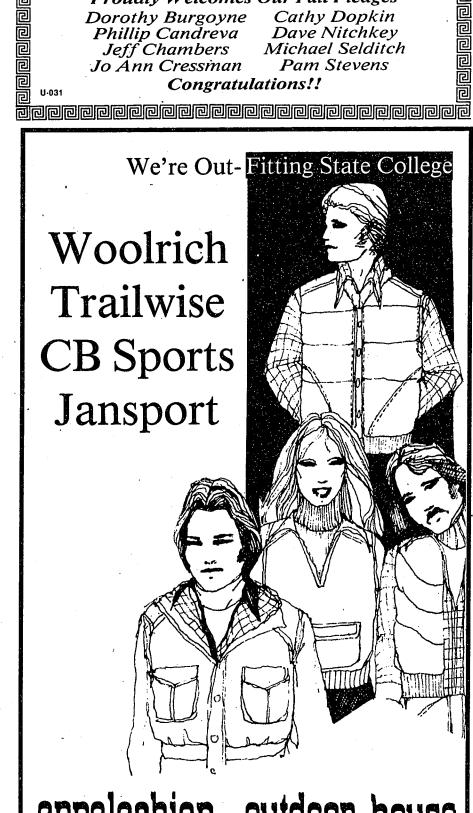

-Robert C. Brazill

SPLITTING HARES...TO BE CONTINUED

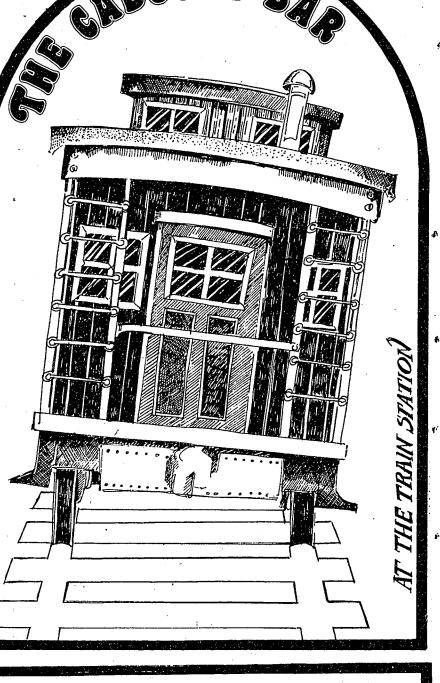

a paid political announcement by the Students for Anders

West College Avenue

near Atherton Street

Open Wed, Thurs, Fri until 9
Free Parking in Rear

Very Conducive to friendliness & mashing EVERY FRIDAY JUNCTION OF COLLEGE & GARNER STATE COLLEGE.

Plenty of Parking behind the STATION~11a.m~2-a.m daily