18—The Daily Collegian - Wednesday Nov. 5, 1980 Wind ensemble concert Upcoming events: • The School of Music will present practice at 6:30 tonight in the the Symphonic Wind Ensemble in wrestling room of the Intramural concert at 8:30 tonight in the Music Building Building Recital Hall. This is the group's first performance of the year. • The Society of Engineering Sciences will meet at 7 tonight in 232 Hammond.

• The University Readers will present the comedy "Socrates Wounded" at 7:30 tonight in 112 Kern. Human Development. Admission is free.

Natatorium.

• The Model Railroad Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in 312 Boucke.

• The Interlandia Folk Dancing Ensemble and the Tussey Mountain Tamburasi will present a program of 7:30 tonight in 308 Boucke. dances from Europe and the Middle East at noon today in the lobby of Kern.

• The Kokokan Judo Club will Nittany Ave.

• The Penn State Overcomers will hold a fellowship meeting at 9 tonight in 323 HUB

HUB

• The Accounting Club will present Ernst Woods of Author Young and Co. speaking on "Opportunities in Tax Accounting" at 7:30 tonight in S209

• The Environmental Resource • Nittany Divers will meet at 8 Management Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in the classroom of the tonight in 301 Agricultural Administration Building

> • The German Club will meet at 6:30 tonight in the lounge of Warnock

• FROTH Magazine will meet at

• The Penn State University Veterans Organization will meet at 8 tonight at the Vet House, 227 E.

Black Caucus, will speak on black Davis, caucus president, said. Sullivan will address the importance of directors, Davis said.

A seminar on "Violence in Our our community." Community," centering on the causes of Olney, one of three panelists who will held. acts, will be held at 7:30 tonight in 320 Rubinstein, of Homophiles of Penn groups," Olney said.

dation said the program is being held "to dinator of black studies, will discuss emphasizing the panel. help point out that there is violence in violence against blacks. After those

Try coming up with a mackerel." 660M9 1999 Goa EORGE BURNS + JOHN DENVER + "OH, GOD!" + TERI GARR + DONALD PLEASEN N+ Screenplay by LARRY GELBART VEINTRAUB + Directed by CARL REINER Produced by JERRY PG 🖘 From Warner Bros. 😯 A Warner Co FRI.-SAT SUN õ
7, 9, 11
● 111 FORUM $1.50

Friday, November 7 — Schwab Auditorium Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee — Inside/Out As interpreters and tellers of tales, the distinguished Student $4.50, 3.00 Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee explore the range of human Nonstudent $6.00, 4.50 experience through folk tales, slave stories, and modern writings. "These consummate artists bring to their work a flesh and blood reality ... a rare and thrilling evenina." — Time Friday, December 5 — Schwab Auditorium Uta Hagen in Charlotte The play by Peter Hacks about Goethe's mistress Student $4.50, 3.00 Charlotte van Stein, has been revised and is played. as a monodrama by Uta Hagan. "Miss Hagan is a great

Parental guidance suggested.

actress, and this greatness is demonstrated in Charlotte." - N. Y. Times

Nonstudent $6.00, 4.50

Phone orders on Mastercharge & Visa accepted at 863-0255, November 5, 6, 7 only ARTISTS SERIES

The Daily Collegian Wednesday Nov. 5, 1980-19 Lawyer asks jury to disregard Nixon's testimony in FBI trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal prosecutor asked a jury vesterday to disregard former President Richard Nixon's testimony and make the Constitution "speak loudly" by convicting two former top FBI officials of approving illegal break-ins.

But defense lawyers for W. Mark Felt, the FBI's former No. 2 man. and Edward S. Miller, the bureau's retired intelligence chief, argued the two acted in a good faith belief they had authority from above for break-ins to combat terrorism. "You have to get in their shoes and walk a few miles," Felt's lawyer, Frank Dunham Jr., told the jury in closing arguments at the seven-week-old trial. "Ask yourself whether you would have acted differently."

Felt and Miller are charged with conspiring to commit civil rights violations by approving break-ins — known as "black bag jobs'" — at private homes in a hunt in 1972 and 1973 for fugitive members of the radical Weather Underground. Chief U.S. District Judge William Bryant was expected to send the sequestered jury into deliberations Wednesday morning in the precedent-setting trial of high U.S. intelligence officials. Never before have FBI employees been criminally prosecuted for allegedly illegal surveillance. If convicted, Felt and Miller each would face penalties of up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Chief prosecutor John W. Nields, sitting on the prosecution arguments, told the jury the searches were unreasonable in violation of the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution. He said the FBI kept its practice of conducting break-ins secret for 30 years because bureau officials knew "from the top of their heads to the bottom of their socks they were doing something wrong." "Make the Constitution speak and speak loudly --- so loudlythat officials of the United States government will hear it, even when they are making their decisions in secret and listening to the din of national security and foreign intelligence," he told the panel.

Nields urged the mostly black jury to reject defense contentions that the "bag jobs" were part of a national security investigation because the Weather Underground leaders had ties to foreign nowers.

He said leaders of the antiwar group, which took credit for dozens of terrorist bombings, were "bad people," and the FBI was doing its duty by investigating them. But he said the Weather Underground had no serious connections' with the North Vietnamese or Cuba. Nixon testified he delegated authority for break-ms directl to the FBI and that the "bag jobs" in the Weather Underground probe were justifiable because the group threatened to affect the outcome of the Vietnam War.

