

Charity gets licked today

Is happiness two kinds of ice cream or is it a chance to see how many scoops of the scrumptious stuff you can lick, slurp or gulp down in five minutes?

Whether or not ice cream brings happiness to your heart, it sure tastes great on a hot spring evening — so members of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority are giving entrants the opportunity to enjoy the 31 wonderful flavors of Baskin Robbins Ice Cream in Zeta Tau Alpha's 10th Annual Ice Cream Superbowl.

Proceeds from the ice cream superbowl, to be held at 7 today at Baskin Robbins, 358 E. College Ave., will benefit the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Citizens, said Gretchen Schaffer, Zeta Tau Alpha's philanthropy chairwoman.

The contest is open to independents, as well as sorority and fraternity members. Individuals will be given five minutes, and teams will be given two minutes to eat as much ice cream as they can. Relay teams, who are given three scoops of ice cream, will race to eat those scoops in the least amount of time.

To make the event better than ever, this year the sorority is giving plaques to the 1st, 2nd and 3rd place winners in all three categories. —by Sharon Taylor

Rocco's first in soccer

Although the number of injuries was high, the quality of the competition at Saturday's Kappa Delta Rho/Kappa Sigma Memorial Soccer Tournament was not overshadowed by them, said Brian Lipsitz (12th-geological science), brother of Kappa Delta Rho.

"We had more problems with injuries this year, but it was by far the best competition we've had in three years," Lipsitz said.

In the team competition, Rocco's Pizza placed first, Jerome's Bar and Grill second and "The Turks" third.

Plaques are awarded to the teams placing 1st through third. In addition, the name of the winning team is engraved on a trophy.

Kappa Delta Rho has held the tournament in memory of Kevin Steinberg, a former fraternity brother, for four consecutive years, Lipsitz said.

Centre Cab ownership changes hands today

The state Public Utility Commission has tentatively approved the new rate structure and it is scheduled to go into effect May 9, Fairbanks said.

According to the budget, one cab will run from 6 a.m. to 7 a.m.; two cabs will run from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.; two cabs will run from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.; one cab will run from 8 p.m. to 3 a.m.

The proposed budget total is $142,630, and Fairbanks said the budget assumes that Centre Cab will not incur a loss.

Four used Chevrolet Novas purchased from the State College Police Department will replace the existing four-car fleet, he said, because each Nova has less mileage than the present cabs.

The cabs will be dispatched from the Greyhound-Trailways bus terminal at 152 N. Atherton St. by the Trailways operator. Dispatching hours will be from 6 a.m. to 2 a.m. for the next six months, Fairbanks said.

Centre Cab will become a 24-hour service after the next six months, he said.

The bus terminal will be open during dispatching hours, Fairbanks said.

The service phone number is 234-7153.

Rodeo clown Keith Isley rushes in to amusingly distract Gainesville Johnny, well-known rodeo bull, giving Johnny's fallen mount time to sprint for safety.

Cowboys to gather at Undine Rodeo

Participants do not have to belong to a professional rodeo association, he said.

Sciacca said contestants will ride bucking horses, steers, calves and Brahma crossbred bulls from Florida, Texas and Oklahoma.

The livestock, he said, will be provided by the Seven Cross Rodeo Productions, Inc. and Magnum Productions.

Sciacca said the American Rodeo Association, Annapolis, Md., has approved Undine Rodeo '81 and the rodeo will be conducted under the guidelines set up by the American Humane Association of Denver.

Ticket sales started April 7 and tickets can be purchased:

- In State College — at Hat ta Boot Western Wear, 3406 W. College Ave.; The Rathskeller, 108 S. Pugh; Action Sports, 120 E. College Ave.; Kirk's Apparel II in the Nittany Mall; and Sciacca said contestants will ride bucking horses, steers, calves and Brahma crossbred bulls from Florida, Texas and Oklahoma.
- In Bellefonte — at the Undine Fire Company Things, 315 W. High St.

Tickets are $5 in advance and $6 the day of the rodeo for adults and $4.50 and $5 for children, Sciacca said.

The rodeo is a fund raising event for Bellefonte's Undine Fire Company, he said.

"Frontier Days in Centre County" will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday, April 25 and at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 26 on the Bellefonte Undine Fire Company's carnival grounds.

Competition includes bull riding, saddle and bareback bronco riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, team roping and ladies' barrel racing and is open to those living within a 25-mile radius of Bellefonte, Sciacca said.

Amtrak expands service Western Pa. to get 3 full runs

By TOM McCANN
Daily Collegian Staff Writer

Amtrak passenger service along the Conrail main line in western Pennsylvania will be increased to three trains each way daily with the inauguration April 26 of the Fort Pitt, a new train between Altoona and Pittsburgh.

The Fort Pitt, sponsored jointly by Amtrak and the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation, will also serve Johnstown, Latrobe and Greensburg.

This commuter-type service will allow same-day business or pleasure trips to Pittsburgh from Altoona for $25 round-trip.

The train will provide commuter-type service to these cities and will allow travelers to make same-day business or pleasure trips to Pittsburgh.

Jung Lee, Amtrak public relations spokesman, said the train, as originally scheduled, will leave Altoona at 6 a.m. Monday through Friday, arriving in Pittsburgh at 8:37 a.m. On Saturdays, Sundays and holidays it will depart Altoona at 7:15 a.m. and arrive in Pittsburgh at 9:32 a.m.

The eastbound run, Lee said, will leave Pittsburgh at 5:40 p.m. and arrive in Altoona at 8:15 p.m. every day. A special inaugural run is scheduled for April 25, with a tentative 8 a.m. departure from Altoona.

A one-way ticket between Altoona and Pittsburgh will cost $16.40, Lee said. A round trip excursion fare of $25 will also be available.

The train will come under the same cost-sharing plan that Amtrak and PennDOT use to fund the Philadelphia-Pittsburgh Pennsylvania, inaugurated in April, 1980.

Under this plan, Amtrak will pay 80 percent of operating costs and PennDOT will pay 20 percent the first year of operation.

The Amtrak-PennDOT split will be 65-35 the second year and 50-50 for subsequent years. Lee said PennDOT will pay about $274,000 and Amtrak $98,000 for the new service the first year.

Lee said the train will use the same type of streamlined "Amfleet" cars as are used on the Pennsylvania, providing both coach and coach snack-bar service.

An efficient equipment utilization plan will enable Amtrak to use the same two trains for both the Pennsylvania and the Fort Pitt. Instead of sitting overnight at Pittsburgh, the westbound Pennsylvania will turn around there and run to Altoona as the eastbound Fort Pitt.

In the morning, the westbound Fort Pitt will make its run to Pittsburgh, turn around again and leave the city in the afternoon as the eastbound Pennsylvania.

In addition to these trains, travelers on this route can also use the Broadway Limited, an overnight express from New York and Washington, D.C. to Chicago.

The inauguration of the new train returns three-daily service to the Conrail main line west of Harrisburg for the first time since 1972, when Amtrak discontinued the New York-Pittsburgh Duquesne. Until October, 1979, daytime service on the route was provided by the now-discontinued National Limited, a New York-St. Louis train.
