Posting the trot: Equestrian team holds its own

"Run the course again, but this time take the wishing well first, then the rolltop and the in and out," shouts the coach. "And MAKE SURE you give a supporting leg on the turns."

Unfamiliar terminology to most, but these words ring at the ears of the Penn State Equestrian Team.

Equitation (horsemanship) began nationally as an intercollegiate sport in 1967. The collegiate rider is judged on his or her ability to direct a strange horse through specified maneuvers and is classified according to his or her skill.

The Intercollegiate Horse Show Association allows riders over 18 a rare opportunity to compete at an Equine horse show. (Any horse shows for riders over 18 years old, including the Olympic and international competitions, are judged on the ability of the horse.)

"It takes constant, intense practice to compete," said Jane Flynn, the team's coach and adviser. Because of individual time restrictions, the majority of the 35 team members, including only one male, get a chance to ride only once or twice a week, she said.

Five to seven team members own horses and board them at Eastwood Farms, on Buffalo Run Road in Bellefonte, where the team practices. "Some of us ride three to five times a week," team member Kathy Johnston (12th-chemical engineering) said.

In 1977, there were 18 to 20 team members, compared to 35 now, and Johnston attributes the growing number to increasing interest and greater publicity. Johnston came to Penn State because of Flynn and the facilities at Eastwood Farms.

Jane and her husband, David, own Eastwood Farms, which houses 32 horses; 15 of which are boarders that the Flyns take care of. "The farm is a full time job," Jane said. "Boards, lessons, sales and shows pay for upkeep."

Because of large student interest, Penn State has considered experimenting with a riding option in Phys Ed 005 at the Flynn's farm, but the cost of transportation is prohibitive, she said. "Expensive equipment is needed to

Love, The Little Sisters

I KNOW WHAT WE SHOULD DO! WE'RE ALL TOGETHER HERE SO WE SHOULD HAVE OUR PICTURE TAKEN...

WE'LL SEND IT HOME TO MOM AND DAD...

And that's the story of how two soldiers and their sister met in France during World War I.

And I don't care if anyone believes me or not.

AND DAD... I'LL TAKE ONE OF IT FIRST. GO BACK TO SLEEP. RING! RING!

DICK THOMP HOLD ON! YOUR OLD DAD'S A WOMAN'S MANAGER WAS SIGHTED TODAY OUT AT LONG POINT!

LACEY SWEETEST! A BACHMAN'S WARD-LEW HAS SPOTTED NEAR THE CHEESEHEAD!

THAT'S VERY EXCITING! I CAN'T WAIT TO DISCUSS IT IN THE MORNING!

HOW DO YOU SPELL PSYCHIATRY?

LOOK IT UP.

WHAT'D YA THINK I'M TRYING TO DO?

VICTOR, I'M BACK WITH DOZENS OF POLICE. AM I LATE?

THEN IT'S OVER!

NO! IT CAN NEVER BE OVER. NOT AS LONG AS I'VE GOT THESE ABILITIES.

NOT AS LONG AS THERE ARE PEOPLE WHO NEED ME... I'VE JUST BEGUN.

WATCH FOR MORE OF THE SURVIVOR, FALL TERM 1981!

SO ARE YOU GOING FORWARD TO GRADUATION?

IN SOME WAYS YES AND IN SOME WAYS NO...

YES BECAUSE IT'S A BOLD STEP FORWARD INTO A PROMISING CAREER AND THE THRESHOLD OF THE FUTURE...

AND NO BECAUSE I'M CONNED HAVE TO GET UP AT 6:00 EVERY MORNING TO GO TO WORK.
