in the game for the past four seasons, had a bogcy bogey-double bogey finish for a 75. U.S. Open champion David Graham of Australia had the same total after playing the back nine in a fat 40.

Arnold Palmer, the 51-year-old living legend who is still seeking this one major title that has eluded him, hit into the water on the last two holes, made double bogey on each and finished with a 74.

Jack Nicklaus, the defending champion and seeking a record sixth PGA title, appeared to be headed for an equally high score before he came back from the first storm delay - during which he took refuge in a concession stand - with three consecutive birdies that produced a 71. While the game's great names were experiencing greater or lesser degrees of frustration and woe, a group of longhots took command. One stroke back of the veteran Murphy, who hasn't won in six years, were Mark Lye and Bob Eastwood, each a career non-winner on the PGA Tour, tied at 67. Andy North, who has finished second in his last two starts, by far his best performance since winning the 1978 U.S. Open, Vance Heafner and Rex Caldwell were at 68. The group at 69 included Lon Hinkle, Roger Maltbie, Ron Streck and veteran Charles Coody.

Bruce Lietzke, a three-time winner this year and possessed of the length to handle the distance demands of this course that played much longer than its listed 7,070 yards, topped the group at par 70. Some other completed scores included: Tom Kite 71, British Open champion Bill Rogers 72, Ray Floyd 71, Ben Crenshaw 75, John Mahaffey 76 and Johnny Miller 77 "The golf course was wet, soft and played about 9,000 yards long," said Murphy, who hit a 5-wood for his second shot on the first three holes, all par-4s, and used a 2-iron on all four of the par-3s.

Trevino, who owns a previous PGA title along with two U.S. and British Open crowns, was eliminated around 3:30. "It's my fault; nobody's fault but mine," Trevino said. "I didn't sign my card. "I saw two signatures on the card and let it go at that." Tom Weiskopf, who played with Trevino, had signed his name in the space eserved for the player to attest his own score. "It was an innocent mistake," said Bill Clarke, chairman of the Rules Committee, who announced Trevino's disqualification.

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers, a team with a new coach and a new quarterback, relied on two old hands — Earl Campbell and Toni Fritsch — to defeat the Philadelphia Eagles 13-10 last night in an NFL exhibition game. Campbell, who had 45 yards on 12 carries, gave Houston a 7-0 lead with a 4-yard run on the Oilers' first possession of the game, and Fritsch booted a 41-yard field goal in the third quarter to break a 10-10 tie and put Houston in the lead to stay. The Eagles unveiled a new shotgun formation which produced Philadel-phia's only touchdown, a 10-yard pass from Ron Jaworski to Alvin Hooks near the end of the first half which tied the score 10-10 at the end of two quarters. The two teams earlier traded field goals — a 35-yard boot by Bill Capece of Houston and a 33-yard kick by Tony Franklin of the Eagles.
