

Afternoon affection

Laura Baldwin (Genie Francis) and Lake Spencer (Anthony Geary), America's popular daytime romancers and adventurers, tie the knot on the Monday and Tuesday episodes of ABC-TV's "General Hospital."

the daily arts

Ringo's release a real rip-off

Ringo Starr

By PHILIP LEO
Daily Collegian Staff Writer
When Ringo Starr releases an album and Paul McCartney and George Harrison help produce and write songs for it, excitement builds — there may still be a little Beatle magic left. If there is, it can't be found on Ringo's recent release, "Stop and Smell the Roses."
The album is also co-produced by Stephen Stills and Ron Wood, who lend the LP its most respectable moments as they wrote the two most listenable tunes.
The album begins with McCartney's "Private Property." Immediately the bubblegum-ish pop melody makes you wince, remembering when McCartney wrote serious music. The lyrics, "Private Property / don't run off with it / You'll be breaking it / Love monopoly, / my philosophy," make you wonder what ever happened to "Let It Be."
The next song, written by Harrison, numbs the initial pain. A semi-disco pop tune, so syrupy ("All the same I play the game / Up and down old men-McCartney's song is only a short break until side one closes with the title song, "Stop and Smell the Roses," which tries to imitate the style and humor of old Beatles' songs like "Yellow Submarine. The cheap imitation of old vaudeville songs and silly lyrics ("Stop and take time to smell the roses / Stop and take the time to fill your noses / Stop as you try and stroll through life / (pitter patter, pitter patter)") just ensure a break before you go into side two.

Here, a few numbers could make the album — if there were only more like them on the first side. "Dead Giveaway" is certainly not a great tune, but also not one that repulses. Wood helped write it and also participates on guitar, acoustic bass and saxophone. Musically it is a step up from the rest.
There are two more songs in which Ringo tries first to be cute, living up to his reputation as the non-musical Beatle. He then attempts to go country rock with a Carl Perkins tune. Both are mediocre.
Finally the album includes a genuinely good number, "You've Got A Nice Way," written by Stephen Stills.

Walkers stop downtown on way to Moscow

By TONY PHYRILLAS
Daily Collegian Staff Writer
In the spring of 1980, 30 people walked from Santa Cruz, Calif. to the Trident submarine base in Bangor, Wash., near Seattle — a distance of 1,200 miles. But that was only the beginning.
Yesterday, a group of 35 peace walkers — some from the original group — arrived in State College, after a 3,200 mile walk from the submarine base, but still with a long way to go.
The final destination of their latest 6,500 mile trek is Moscow.

Warwick said the group was invited to participate in the day-long "Convocation on the Threat of Nuclear War," held Wednesday in the HUB. Major college campuses and military bases throughout the nation are regular stopping places for the group on its journey.
"We are walking all over this country to talk to people about the problem of nuclear weapons," Warwick said. "We want the people of this country to educate themselves about the nuclear holocaust that could happen any minute."
Warwick said it's time for the average citizen in both the United States and the Soviet Union to stand up to their governments and demand an end to the arms race. "The same problem exists with both the American people and the Soviet people — they blame the other side. We believe it's time to stop blaming everyone else and look inside for personal motivation to solve the problem," Warwick said.

Warwick said it's time for the average citizen in both the United States and the Soviet Union to stand up to their governments and demand an end to the arms race. "The same problem exists with both the American people and the Soviet people — they blame the other side. We believe it's time to stop blaming everyone else and look inside for personal motivation to solve the problem," Warwick said.
Another peace walker, Trena M. Cleland, said the walk isn't an anti-Soviet protest, but a protest against all the nuclear weapons and military policies of both superpowers.
"We've got to stop pointing the finger at each other," she said. "This is a problem of survival for everyone."
The walkers have supported themselves with personal savings and contributions from supporters throughout the country.
Susan I. McElhany, another walker, said the people of this country have been very supportive to the group's efforts.
"We've tried to get people activated in every town we've visited," she said. "There are a lot of interested people out there and we want them to focus their energy into their local communities."
On the day after Thanksgiving, the group is planning to make a stop in Washington, where they will begin a 21-day fast and vigils outside the Pentagon.
After a short winter break, they plan to charter a plane to London in February.

police log

• Lois M. Brewer, 216 Cycamore St., told the State College Police Department yesterday that her jacket was taken on Nov. 9 from the Grace Lutheran Church, South Garner Street and East Beaver Avenue.
The value of the jacket is estimated at $40, police said.

collegian notes

• The Ballroom Dance Club will teach the jitterbug to beginners at 7 and to advanced dancers at 8 tonight in 133 White Building.
• The departments of home economics and homemaking will present a free demonstration on how to prepare a typical Thanksgiving Dinner at 10 this morning in the basement of the University Baptist and Brethren Church, 411 S. Burrows St. People needing transportation should be at the Graduate Circle bus stop at 9:30 a.m.

free vegetarian feast at 7 tonight at 103 E. Hamilton Ave.

• The Labor Studies Club will sponsor a Labor Centennial Film Fest at 9 tonight, Saturday and Sunday in the HUB Assembly Room.
• Rep. Greg L. Cunningham, R-Centre County will hold his weekly town meeting at 7 Sunday night, in the ABC room of the State College Municipal Building, 118 S. Fraser St.
• The Astronomy Club will accept money at 7 Monday night for a trip to the National Air and Space Museum

The trip will be on Saturday, Dec. 5, and the cost for bus transportation is $17.
• The University Readers will sponsor two performances of "The Little Prince" by Antoine de Saint Exupery at 12:45 and 3:30 Monday afternoon in Schlow Memorial Library, 100 E. Beaver Ave.
• The Centre County chapter of the National Organization for Women will sponsor a talk on women and science at 7:30 Monday night at the Women's Resource Center, 111 Sowers St.

SDT Winter Informal Rush
Rush Dates
Dec. 6
Dec. 9
RSVP by Dec. 4
Barbie
5-8139
see you then!
The Plus of SDT

Tonight J.B. at the THE BRICKHOUSE TAVERN
10:00 til 2:00
Live and Loud! Buy one, get one free!

Merona
SHORT AND MEDIUM LENGTH REVERSIBLE JACKETS
MICHAEL'S CLOTHING CO.
FRASER ST. MINI MALL
for gentlemen 238-4050

The Jazz Club Sponsors
Free Jazz Concert
"The Gemini Gee Band"
Saturday, 8:30 p.m. November 14, 1981
HUB Fishbowl
An Excellent Study Break!

東亞 ... from the East
Exquisite hand-made cloisonné art objects imported to State College from the Republic of China.
Please call: 238-7680 東亞

The Sisters of ZETA TAU ALPHA proudly announce their new "Men of the Crown":
Tom Oushock Gary Wirth
Jeff Price Jeff York
Kirk Seager
Welcome to our Zeta family!

NOW OPEN!

The new HUB Food Services are open for your dining pleasure and convenience before and after the game. In addition to the Fast Break, Greenhouse, and Food For Thought...

The Founders Room will be open for the Alabama and Notre Dame games Saturday Nov. 14
Brunch 9:45 to 11:30
Dinner 3:30 to 5:00

Brunch Menu	Dinner Menu
Juice or Fruit Cup	Roast Prime Rib of Beef $8.75
Creamed Dried Beef on Toast Points	Breaded Fantail Shrimp 6.95
Quiche Lorraine — Sausage — Home Fries	Chicken Cacciatore 5.50
Roast Tip of Beef	cup of soup or fruit cup
Beverages	baked potato — vegetable
$4.10	salad bar — beverages
	dessert ala carte

Rock n' Roll
at the Scorpion
232 W. Calder Way with "FOXIE"
this weekend

Regular Roses!
$5.66 dozen
Cash and Carry Woodrings
South Allen
238-0566

This Weekend at The Brewery
Tahoka Freeway
(Terry "Tahoka" Whitlock after the game)
Come on down for a last fling before finals!

STAGE DOOR DELI
BUY 3 GET 1 FREE
234-1918
Delivery notice: Delivery 5 p.m. - 2 a.m. for finals.

The Innocent
LAURA ANTONELLI
GIANCARLO GIANNINI
7:00, 9:00
sat 14, mon 16
112 kern $1.50

Kramer vs. Kramer
5 Academy Awards
DUSTIN HOFFMAN
MERYL STREEP
(The French Lieutenant's Woman)
FRI & SUNDAY 7 & 9 pm KERN $1.50

HALLOWEEN II
The Nightmare Isn't Over!
MOVIES
NIGHTLY 7:30 & 9:30
Sat. & Sun. 1:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30, 9:30
Sat. $1.50 til 6; Sun. $1.50 til 5

True Confessions
UNITED ARTISTS
NIGHTLY 7:00 & 9:00
Wed. Sat. Sun.
Wed. 7:15 & 9:15
Wed. Sat. Sun. 2:15, 4:15, 7:15, 9:15
Sun. $1.50 til 5 p.m.

The French Lieutenant's Woman
MERYL STREEP
JEREMY IRONS
NIGHTLY 7:00 & 9:00
Wed. Sat. Sun.
Wed. 8:15 & 10:15
Sat. 1:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30, 9:30
Sun. $1.50 til 5

ARTHUR GARDEN
NIGHTLY 7:30 & 9:30
SAT 1:30 til 6, SUN 1:50 til 6
114 S. ALLEN 237-2012

JUNE - BUG
If only everyone could have a friend as special as you and a friendship cherished as ours.
Good luck, good-bye, and we'll miss you.
Love,
Chris & Linda

Coming next term:
Season's Greetings
Details Later
Conserve water

The most exciting concert film this side of Woodstock.
THE LAST WALTZ
A Martin Scorsese Film
The Band
Neil Young
Joni Mitchell
Van Morrison
FRI 7 and 9 pm
112 CHAMBERS

Bob Dylan
Eric Clapton
Emmylou Harris
SAT 7, 9, 11 pm
$1.50

ZARDOZ
SEAN CONNERY
FRI & SAT 7&9pm Chambers $1.50 101 Graduate Student Association