

Lion icers cool off Delaware

The ice hockey team skated on what center Clark Dexter called the fastest ice he has played on all year, but the Lions adapted well enough to the quick surface to fly by the Blue Hens of Delaware, 7-1, Saturday night on the road.

"We just had a lot of fun out there," said Dexter, who had two goals in the fray. "After losing 9-4 to Cortland State (last week) we had our minds set on playing a better hockey game."

"We were a much faster team than Delaware was and we really outskated them. Ironically, our only real problem was putting the puck in the net. We must've hit the post about 10 times."

Backup goaltender John Davis played a fine game in goal for the Lions, now 9-2. "John didn't really get peppered with shots back there," Lion tri-captain Joe Battista said. "But he came up with a lot of tough saves."

Battista said the win exemplified the progress the Lion hockey program has made.

"We played Delaware two years ago when we were in the Mid-Atlantic Conference," he said. "It was interesting to realize and actually witness the progress that we've made. Ever since we've gotten out of that division, we haven't lost to a Mid-Atlantic division team."

Penn State dominated the game almost from the onset. The Lions scored six unanswered goals before the Blue Hens managed to snap Davis's shutout late in the third stanza. The Lions outshot Delaware 37-23 and played the majority of the contest in the Delaware zone.

"We really had a lot of fun," Battista said. "It was a great team effort in a situation that called for the team to fill the vacancies left by injuries. We got great performances from some guys that aren't normally in there. They showed us that they're very capable indeed."

The scoring in the Lions' seven-goal effort was evenly distributed between the first two lines. Dexter scored two goals and Ritner, Randy Fardelmann, Roger Furce, Matt Glass and Norm Jacobs each contributed a goal.

Women swimmers split weekend pair

With tri-captain Sandy Bizal scratched from the lineup for the Friday night meet against defending Eastern champion, Princeton, the women's swimming team's hopes for a possible win looked extremely dim.

Bizal, an All-American, who has been hampered with arthritis in her elbow, could do nothing from the sidelines as she watched her teammates drop a closely contested battle, 7-1.

In fact, the meet at Princeton was so close that the outcome was not decided until the final event.

"I thought we did an outstanding job," said Penn State coach Bob Krimmel. "We had a 95 percent excellent performance ratio, but we probably needed a 97 percent."

Princeton jumped right out in the lead as it took the first relay and then dominated the next two events.

At that point, Princeton thought it would be business as usual in its efforts to beat the Lady Lions. But those thoughts were quickly shattered in the next event, the 400-meter individual medley, where Lady Lion freshman Shirley Walsh took first place.

"Then it was just a typical Penn State-Princeton meet," said Krimmel, noting that the lead changed hands back and forth. "When we were down, all we tried to do was chip away at their lead," Krimmel said. "We could have won before the relay because there were a couple of events that we just got touched out."

Penn State's performance was highlighted by three record-breaking times, one of which was set by Walsh in the 400 individual medley.

"When I came here, I thought I could break a couple of records, but I never thought I could do it this quickly," Walsh said.

Other school records were set in the 1000 freestyle (by sophomore Linda Krauser), and the 200 freestyle (by sophomore Megan Tompkins).

A spirited performance was displayed by freshman Sue Beauchamp, who was supposed to be sidelined for the meet because of knee problems. Beauchamp touched out Eastern champion, Charla Tideman, for the win in the 50 breaststroke.

Penn State then traveled to Villanova on Saturday, where it drowned the Wildcats, 89-0.

"The toughest thing about the Villanova meet was the total letdown from the night before," Krimmel said. "Fortunately, we were good enough to handle it."
