reader opinion/sports

Off the deep end

I would like to refer to the article of March 19th on the women's swim team by Collegian sports writer Chris Wightman. As the manager of the team and an ex-Penn State swimmer, I felt that several of Chris' remarks in the begining of the article were unjustified. First, Chris made it sound like the team's trip to the (Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women) national swimming championships was a vacation in the sun, by remarking that "... a good percentage of the Lady Lions were concentrationg on their tans rather than their events. . ." Secondly, I felt that Chris' manner of writing of Bobbi Millard's performance, . .Millard might have been better off staying with her cohorts in the sun. . ." was very derogatory (and) a put down on her swimming ability.

Last of all, Chris made it sound as if coming in 19th out of 32 competitors in a national competition is a poor performance. Chris' first remark (stated above) is unjustified because he could not have known what was going through each girl's mind at nationals. Also, with the same statement, Chris fails to consider the fact that some of the swimmers were either through with competition or that others did not have to swim until the last day of a four-day meet.

Each and every one of the swimmers worked hard throughout Fall and Winter Terms by attending up to 11 workouts a week, four of which were held at 6 a.m. These workouts and the dual meets throughout the season enabled all of these girls to attend this national competition. Not only did the swimmers work hard to carn a spot in this competition, but they also put in a 100 percent effort in each of their events at Nationals. Rather than giving the swimmers any credit for their hard work, Chris chose to mention only the time that the girls spent in the sun.

Not only did Chris degrade the team as a whole, he also unjustly criticized the performance of Bobbi Millard in the 400-yard individual medley. This unjust criticism of Bobbi's swimming ability was very unprofessional. Chris obviously did not bother to check Bobbi's previous times in order to prove that her performance was a poor one. Being manager, I know (and Chris could have asked coach Bob Krimmel) that Bobbi's time of 4:37.32 at nationals was the second-fastest time she has ever done and also the second-fastest time ever recorded by a Penn State swimmer in this event. Along with degrading Bobbi's performance, Chris also contradicted coach Bob Krimmel's opinion of "She did well," (and) "She was seeded 24th out of 32, and whenever you move up five notches, you can't complain" with his remark of "...Millard might have been better off staying with her cohorts in the sun since her performance in the pool was not good enough to qualify for finals

I am sure that the coach knows more about swimming and Bobbi's ability than Chris does. Maybe Bobbi did not qualify for finals, but she was one of only 32 contestants in the entire country that actually earned the privilege to swim in this national competition. So Chris, why don't you check up on a few more facts before you make assumptions on people's activities and put down an individual's performance at a national competition. Being first or placing is not the most important thing in this instance. The most important fact is that these members of the women's swim team actually qualified to compete at the AIAW national swimming championships Therefore, I feel that Bobbi and every other swimmer and diver who attended the competition should be commended for their accomplishments rather than be

Same old netmen to play twice By GREG LODER expected leve

Collegian Sports Writer

There is really no new look to the men's tennis team this year. It lost a couple of players but picked up freshman Virgil Christian. And according to Penn State coach Holmes

Cathrall, this year's Lions are basically the same as last year's. They travel South this weekend to play William & Mary today and Old Dominion tomorrow. "We are essentially the same team as last year," Cathrall said. "We really only have one new man." As was true for last year's team, this Cathrall said the team's depth is the strong point of the team this year. "Our overall depth is really our overall strength," Cathrall said. Senior Bill Pilardi agrees with Cathrall but thinks this year's team may be a better all-around team. "We are a little bit stronger this year," Pilardi said. "We have more depth. Everbody in the top six is really close, and we always play close matches."

Last week the Lions opened their season by losing to Navy and bouncing back to defeat Swathmore, both by the score of 7-2. In the two matches, Cathrall made some changes in the lineup, which he said were because some of

"We made some changes because some players were not playing up to potential," Cathrall said. "(The players) will have to show me to make changes." Cathrall today will basically go with the same lineup he used last weekend. The tougher match will probably be against Old Dominion, a team Penn State lost to last year, 5-4.

"We should win against Old Domin ion," Pilardi said. "(The result) will probably come down to the doubles matches). Cathrall said Old Dominion, which won its conference last year, is very strong throughout its lineup. This year the Lions are playing most as entertaining as the fighters in tomorrow's World Boxing Association bantamweight title fight between champion Jeff Chandler and Johnny Carter. "Long and short" describe the boxers' managers K.O. Becky O'Neill and Bob Botto. Becky, a former vaudeville comic who manage Chandler, is, by her own description, "4-8 and 82 pounds with a voice like 10 tons of gravel." Despite her petite size, Becky says that nobody can pick her up by her elbows. "I was born that way, and I don't do nothing. It's weird but true." she said.

"A win against an easy team is really not a win," Cathrall said. "Our record is really not important. We pick the toughest teams and present a good challenge."

Leading this year's team into a very tough schedule will be captain and first singles player Bill Schillings. Schillings has been playing for the Lions for four vears.

Schillings has been around for a while and is nothing new to Penn State tennis — as this year's team is basically nothing new.

"They used to say Jeff wasn't a good knockout puncher," Becky says, "but that was because before we managed him, he'd fight guys 10 pounds heavier."

Becky insisted Chandler fight only bantamweights, and Willie taught the 5-7, 118-pounder to use his body and 70-inch reach. In 1978, the first year the O'Neills and Chandler were together, he knocked out four of his six
