

Council to reconsider Family Health funding

State College Municipal Council will reconsider its controversial decision to fund a Family Health Services Inc. clinic at 7:30 tonight in the Municipal Building, 118 S. Fraser St.

By a 4-3 vote, the council allocated Community Development Block Grant funds of $20,000 for the health clinic and $18,000 for Counseling Services so that the two Bellefonte-based agencies can establish a joint satellite clinic in State College.

But a petition signed by 534 people opposed to the funding decision was presented to the council in late August, asking the group to reconsider its decision to fund the Family Health clinic.

Opponents are concerned about the health clinic's policy of issuing contraceptives to teenagers without parental knowledge or consent.

Council President Joseph Wakeley Jr. said the petition has been checked against county voter registration rolls and 237 of the signatures meet the requirements of the borough's home rule charter.

The charter stipulates that if 2 percent of the borough's registered voters who voted in the last municipal election sign a petition, the council must place an item on its agenda within two months.

A second petition containing 1,334 signatures supporting the funding of Family Health Services was also received by the council, Wakeley said.

Although both supporters and opponents of the issue have testified at two previous council meetings, Wakeley said the council will allow citizens to present any new information on the issue tonight.

Other items on the council's agenda include:

- A discussion of the proposed sale of the Centre Cab Co. Wakeley said new information that was presented to the council at last week's work session will be discussed at tonight's meeting.

- A public hearing on proposed uses of the borough's 1983 federal revenue sharing funds.

- Discussion of a proposed borough smoking ordinance. The borough's board of health has recommended to the council an ordinance banning smoking in public non-commercial buildings. The ordinance was tabled at the August meeting because all the council members did not attend the meeting.
