Witnesses said the big Chinook lost a rotor before it plummeted from a height of about 300 yards during the Mannheim Air Show and slammed into a nearby highway, where it exploded and burned.

'The identification (of the victims) s going to take a long time, because the bodies are all melted together in a clump," said Mannheim police pokesman Karl-Heinz Zimmerman. At first, authorities said they thought 44 people were aboard the helicopter — five American crew members and 39 skydivers from several countries.

Mannheim chief prosecutor Frank-Peter Gletter told a news conference that officials now believe the chopper crew had only four members but a two-man television crew from the U.S. Armed Forces Network may have been on board, raising the death toll to 45.

Gletter stressed, however, that authorities still are not certain how 🤚 many were on the chopper and do not know when they will be able to provide an accurate count. Six of the victims have been identi-
