

Blumenthal's goal lifts Lions to 2-1 win

Reserve forward Steve Blumenthal's goal late in the first half proved to be the game winner as the men's soccer team edged Cleveland State 2-1 Friday night in front of over 3,000 people at Jeffrey Field in a rare soccer-pep rally double-header.

Penn State freshman Larry Miller (14) dribbles the ball downfield en route to the men's soccer team's 2-1 victory over Cleveland State Friday night at Jeffrey Field.

"We needed this one badly," Lion sweeper Lou Karbiener said. "The crowd really helped us a lot tonight. It felt like there was another player on the field. We needed a good win like this to pick us up after that disappointing loss at Southern Illinois."

Penn State was coming off a heart-breaking 2-1 double overtime loss at the hands of the top-ranked Salukis.

It didn't start out well for the Lions (6-2) as Cleveland State scored at the 3:04 mark. All-American forward Ali Kazemini took a pass from winger Michael Patterson and lofted a shot in the upper left hand corner just out of reach of the Lion goalie Greg Kenney.

Although it was early, it didn't look good because Viking goalie Jay Longworth had not given up a goal all season. And with Cleveland State's swarming defense, it made scoring a goal extremely difficult.

However, at the 17:18 mark, forward Jeff Maierhofer was taken down by Viking midfielder Neil McLaughlin at the end line after he took a pass from Karbiener. Penn State's Dan Murphy took the direct free kick and passed it to Maierhofer, who blasted it past Longworth for the equalizer. It was Maierhofer's fourth goal of the year and all four have been scored in the friendly confines of Jeffrey Field.

Defensively in the second half, the

Then the Phi Psi Connection did in the Vikings.

With just under two minutes remaining in the first half, Maierhofer sent a long lead pass to fraternity brother Blumenthal, who shot into the lefthand corner of the net from 20 yards out just beating Longworth on the short side. It was Blumenthal's first goal in a Lion uniform.

"It's about time it went in," Blumenthal said. "It was a beautiful pass from Jeff. I just put it in the net. I think the goalie made a mistake by coming out too soon and he came out at a bad angle."

The second half was dominated by both Cleveland State and Penn State defenses and missed scoring opportunities by the Lions. Both Kenney and Longworth made some impressive saves. Kenney was credited with only two saves and Longworth with nine.

The Phi Psi Connection also connected on a goal midway through the second half, but it was disallowed due to offsidies. Blumenthal had sent a pass into the middle and Maierhofer outleaped goalie Longworth and blasted it past Longworth for the equalizer. It was Maierhofer's fourth goal of the year and all four have been scored in the friendly confines of Jeffrey Field.

Defensively in the second half, the Lions controlled the elusive Kazemini and the rest of the Vikings.

"He's (Kazemini) a tough player," Karbiener said. "Anytime he makes a move, you have to follow him. We didn't try and double team him, because if you leave one of those guys open, they'll score."

The game was fairly sportsmanlike with only one yellow card being issued. Lion defender Scott Gardiner was whistled for a yellow card when he took down Patterson rather roughly.

The game was controlled at midfield by freshman Bill Gilmour. Throughout the game, Gilmour made some key tackles including one to set up Maierhofer's pass to Blumenthal for the game winner.

After the game, Penn State Coach Walter Bahr was a little disappointed in the way his team played.

"I'm satisfied with the win," Bahr said. "But we made too many mistakes. We blew too many scoring opportunities by overplaying the ball offensively. Defensively we gave them too much room to work with."

The Lions will try and continue their winning ways and correct their mistakes of Friday night when they travel to Phillipsburg, W. Va., for a match with Division II power Alderson-Broadusson Tuesday.

Pitt whips Illinois 20-3

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The Pittsburgh defense was awesome, and it made the game, scoring the winning touchdown and stopping Illinois cold.

"They just knocked us upside down on offense," said Illinois Coach Mike White after the third-ranked Panthers whipped the Illini 20-3 Saturday.

"We didn't allow for the fact their defense was just going to shove us all over town."

Illinois took advantage of Pitt's offensive mistakes, pulled to a 3-0 lead, and was on the verge of scoring again in the second quarter when the bottom fell out.

Quarterback Tony Eason dropped back from the Panthers' two-yard line and fired a pass, but it was intercepted by Pitt tackle Dave Puzzuoli.

"I was surprised," said the 6-3, 248-pound senior. "The ball was just in my chest. I didn't have time to think."

Puzzuoli got a big block and lumbered 99 yards for the touchdown that put Pittsburgh ahead to stay.

"I must have had the wind at my back," he said. "I was just waiting for someone to catch me."

Pittsburgh Coach Serafino Fazio said his Panthers put tremendous pressure on Eason.

"I think our four guys up front played very well," said Fazio. "I knew they were ready before the game and that it was going to be a tough time for Illinois."

Indeed it was. The Pittsburgh defense put Illinois' running game in the red — a net loss of 27 yards for the day. And, Pitt sacked Eason nine times and intercepted five passes to control the usually-potent Illini aerial attack.

"Our inability to move the football and protect Tony the best way we know we could against a physically superior team was our downfall," said White.

Stickwomen win 2 on rough road

If you talk to the field hockey players about the way they spent their weekend, you'll probably think up a whole new barrage of exclamations.

They most definitely have already.

The Lady Lions stamped over American University yesterday 7-0. They also got past Davis & Elkins 2-1 on Saturday in Elkins, W. Va., in a tight overtime match.

But it was the trip in between Elkins and Washington D.C. that will generate excitement. It sure did something for the Lady Lions.

Penn State performed as well as ever against American, registering 49 shots on goal, none from the opposition, and four points scored by defensive players. But for the team to perform as well as ever is close to amazing.

The Lady Lions beat the Lady Eagles in a game which Penn State Coach Gillian Ratray described as "very one-sided," after less than five hours of sleep, no dinner, and probably one of the team's most eventful as well as unlucky nights.

When the Lady Lions left Elkins Saturday, after a very tough and tiring game with the team that finished only two places behind Penn State at nationals last season, little did they know that their arrival in Washington D.C. wouldn't be until 2 the next morning.

Their bus just wouldn't cooperate. As a matter of fact, the lights didn't work, nor the generator. The team was forced to pull off the road in Parsons, W. Va. (wherever that is) while the driver tried to arrange for a new bus.

Meanwhile, one motel room was rented for 25 people, and the team watched the Penn State-Nebraska football game.

"If it wasn't for the Nebraska-Penn State game," Ratray said, "we would have gone berserk — Joe saved our day, too."

In the match against Davis & Elkins, the Lady Lions' third overtime game of the season, Anne Hopkins put Penn State on the board first with a hard shot set up by Lindsay Sheehan at 23:00.

Cathy Carney of Davis & Elkins scored the last regulation-time point on a penalty stroke and the game was won in the first overtime period when offensive captain, Brenda Stauffer, placed a penalty stroke into the cage.

The Lady Lions are on the road again, to meet Delaware at 3 p.m. Thursday.
