The Daily Collegian is still No. 1 at Penn State's main campus. No other publication comes close. No other medium comes close. Not radio. Not television. Not direct mail.

- 95% of the students read The Daily Collegian.
(Have read or looked into during the "past seven days.")
- 89% of the students who read a newspaper "yesterday" read The Daily Collegian
- 72% of the students rely most on The Daily Collegian for shopping information.
- 85% of the students depend most on The Daily Collegian for information about leisure activities and entertainment.

Those are the facts.* Nobody reaches Penn State like The Daily Collegian, because nobody covers Penn State like The Daily Collegian.

More than 200 students serve on our News Staff, which includes 40 editors. Our reporters and photographers turn out more campus news coverage than any other organization.

For state, national and world news coverage, our News Staff uses the high-speed newswires of The Associated Press. Stories are beamed from the Westar III satellite to our computer systems 24 hours a day. No other area news organization has a better resource.

Stargell to join Bucs on road trip

By ALAN ROBINSON
AP Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Pirates will have a familiar face on their current road trip, former slugger Willie Stargell, known to the Pirates' players as "Pops."

Stargell, at the request of Manager Chuck Tanner, will travel with the Pirates on part of their four-city, 11-game trip, mainly to work with some of the team's younger players.

The road trip begins tonight against the Cincinnati Reds.

Tanner said yesterday there is no truth to a rumor that the Pirates might activate the 43-year-old Stargell as a pinch-hitter after the rosters expand on Sept. 1. Stargell retired after the 1982 season, concluding a 20-year major league career that included 476 home runs.

"I asked Pete (General Manager Harding Peterson) if we could do it (invite Stargell), and he said sure," Tanner said. "We have a young club, a very young club, and we're in the race. We're going to be a competitive club, and we're going to be a contender for a long time. We think we can win it this year."

"I just want Willie with us. I might have him sit in the stands and do some things for me," Tanner said. "I just want him around."

Tanner said Stargell, now a broadcaster for Pirates' TV home game cablecasts, would have a positive effect on some of the Pirates' younger players who have never before been in a pennant race.

Stargell played on Pirate National League East-winning clubs in 1970, 1971, 1972, 1974, 1975 and 1979, leading the team to world championships in 1971 and 1979.

"He can do a whole lot of things for us," Tanner said. "He's not only a great player, I consider him a close friend. He has a lot to add to our young players. They can relate to him in so many ways. I just know he's going to contribute."

The Pirates last year asked Stargell, who hit three pinch-hit home runs in 1982, to return this season, but he declined. He currently appears in numerous television ads in the Pittsburgh area and plans several more appearances this fall as a narrator with symphony orchestras.

The Pirates, not picked by many to be a contender in a division that includes defending world champion St. Louis, took a one-game lead over Philadelphia in the NL East into tonight's game.

The Pirates play two games with the Reds before going to Houston (two games), Atlanta (three games) and St. Louis (four games). They return home for a 10-game home stand that begins with three games with the Phillies on Sept. 5.

One second costs Rodgers $500

NEW YORK (AP) — Time is money, goes the old adage, but never anything like what it meant to star runner Bill Rodgers in the Pepsi Challenge 10,000-meter race here.

One second cost Rodgers $500. Rodgers finished fifth in the race which brought him $1,000 in prize money. He was one second behind the fourth-place finisher, Greg Frederick, who earned $1,500 for that placing.

New Zealander Rod Dixon won the event and earned $5,000 for his first-place finish.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Has anybody here seen Kelly?" They certainly did at the Leggs Mini Marathon in Central Park.

A total of 4,680 women ran in the event and seven of them were sisters — the Kelly girls. Dorothy Kelly finished 337th. Catherine Kelly was 448th. Ann-Marie was the 473rd finisher. Mary came home in 2,111th place. Jeanne was 2,680th. Barbara was the 3,907th woman to finish, and Patricia was 3,910th.

NEW YORK (AP) — Legend has it that golfer Ben Hogan never talked during a golf tournament.

Another great golfer, Sam Snead, retires that. "Any time I played a round with him, he talked to me frequently but he always said the same thing: 'You're away, Sam.'"

He represented the university with a $10,000 endowment toward academic scholarships.
