

Phils end long quest by acquiring Lezcano

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies have ended a three-year quest to acquire outfielder Sixto Lezcano and Paul Owens, the team's manager and general manager, says he plans to get good use out of him.

Lezcano, 29, and another player to be named later were obtained just before midnight yesterday from the San Diego Padres for four minor league players, also to be named later.

"I'm going to play him regularly, but I don't know exactly how yet," Owens said. "I mean we just made this deal, I haven't really thought about it yet. I just want him on my ball club."

The deal was made less than two hours after the Phillies rallied to a ninth-inning run to beat San Diego 4-3. Lezcano, who hit a two-run homer in a Padres' 7-5 victory here Tuesday night, fled out when

Ryan, DiPino shut down Pirates' bats

HOUSTON (AP) — Fireballing Nolan Ryan and Frank DiPino combined for a three-hitter and pinch-hitter Kevin Bass drilled a bases-loaded triple in the seventh inning, giving the Houston Astros a 3-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday.

Ryan, 34, who gave way for Bass, yielded the three Pirates' hits and walked four in seven innings. He also struck out 10, extending his major league record to 150 games with double-figure strikeout totals, and now has a career total of 3,639 strikeouts, 24 behind all-time leader Steve Carlton of Philadelphia.

Pittsburgh starter Lee Tunnell pitched six scoreless innings, raising his string to 19, but three Pirates' relievers ran into trouble.

Loser Cecilio Guante, 2-2, began the seventh by yielding a single to Jose Cruz and walking Ray Knight. Rod Scurry replaced Guante and walked Denny Walling to load the bases.

Kent Tekavec then came on and got Phil Garner and pinch-hitter Jerry Mumphrey to hit into force plays at the plate, but Bass slammed a 3-1

Reactions mixed to Maulers' name

PITTSBURGH — Now that they've had a week to mull it over, some Pittsburghers are appalled the name Maulers was chosen for the city's United States Football League team.

"Have another shot and a beer and it will seem wittier," the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette wrote in an editorial panning the name.

The newspaper said Maulers throws "civic pride for a thumping loss."

"You can tell someone from Youngstown came up with the name," said a caller to a KDKA radio talk show, referring to team owner Edward J. DeBartolo Sr.

DeBartolo, a shopping mall developer, selected the name Maulers from a list of seven finalists in a contest that elicited 50,000 entries.

But Maulers General Manager George Heddeleston, rolling with the punches, thinks the aggressive, hostile-sounding name is already catching on.

"I've seen our mail and it's running 50-50. And I'm just not saying that," Heddeleston said. "The mail has been as much pro as it's been con."

Heddeleston predicts the name will become more popular when the Maulers' logo and team colors are unveiled later this month.

"We'll have a logo that every kid in Pittsburgh will want to have on a T-shirt," he said. "We're going to appeal to the young group, because they like pro football and they're

Pitt kicks off season with Vols

PITTSBURGH — The University of Pittsburgh's coaches are hoping Tennessee doesn't get a bigger kick out of their season-opening game than the Panthers do.

"They have the best kicking game in the nation," Pitt defensive coordinator Bob Junko said of the Volunteers. "Any time they get inside the 50-yard line, their field goal kicker (Faud Reveiz) is in range."

"And their punter (Jimmy Colquitt) . . . he looks like Ray Guy to me."

Pitt, unranked in the AP pre-season poll despite four consecutive Top 10 finishes, opens against the Volunteers and a sold-out Neyland Stadium crowd of 92,000 in Knoxville tomorrow. The 7:30 p.m. game will be televised back to Pittsburgh.

The Volunteers, considered a Top 20 contender, are so proud of their kicking game that the cover of their multi-color football brochure shows Reveiz kicking off, outlined with the words, "Alive 'N Kickin'." Reveiz and Colquitt are pictured on the back cover.

"It's obvious we have to play good defense against them," Junko said. "We can't give them a lot of the field to work with. Their punter put the ball on the 20-yard line, in the air, from the end zone, against LSU last year. He's a big weapon. There was a lot of field exchanged on punts with them last year."

Reveiz, a junior, hit on eight of ten field goal attempts of over 50 yards last season — a National Collegiate Athletic Association record from that distance — and made 27 of 31 attempts overall. He set a Southeastern Conference record with a 64-yard field goal against Georgia Tech and converted all 20 of his extra point attempts.

Colquitt, also a junior, is the nephew of Craig Colquitt, a former Tennessee player who now punts for the Pittsburgh Steelers. Colquitt averaged 46.9 yards per punt last season, second best in the nation, and averaged 54 yards on five punts against LSU.

"He can keep you backed up," Junko said.

"That's exactly what an inexperienced Pitt offense, with just four returning starters, doesn't need."

"I just hope that when we get in there, those 92,000 fans make us play that much harder," said Pitt Coach Foge Fazio. "If you're a competitor, the noisy crowd can make you play better. If we just play as a unit, we'll be OK defensively."

Tennessee Coach Johnny Majors, the former Pitt coach, thinks Pitt will be much more than just OK on defense.

"They're tremendously skilled on defense," said Majors, whose Volunteers were 6-5 last season, compared to Pitt's 9-3. "They're really and aggressive and they're going to the ball. I've never seen Pitt out of position on defense."

There's no such thing as a free pizza delivery.

Think about it! You've got to call up and order your pizza. After it's baked and before it gets cold the cost of a delivery person and an automobile and the appropriate insurance has to be added in. Hopefully that person is good at finding addresses quickly.

While you wait for your delivery you can ponder the what ifs . . . what if it isn't what I ordered . . . I wonder how long it will take . . . what should I say if it takes too long . . . who is going to show up at my door . . . how much should I tip . . . etc.

Get's a little dicey, huh? Hi-Way Pizza's 20 year reputation as the pizza maker for thousands of Penn Staters is built on fresh, high quality consistently good pizza. Not on something for nothing promises!

Put your money where your mouth is . . . Hi-Way Pizza is a friendly place to be with an ever growing menu of pizzas including our Original Stuffed Pizza and a team of people ready to custom bake your "no go" pizza at the ring of our phone.

Something for nothing . . . only in fairy tales. Delivery for nothing . . . you know better. At Hi-Way Pizza what you pay for is high quality pizza . . . not delivery expenses.
