Hamilton's compulsory leads field

By TERRY TAYLOR
AP Sports Writer

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia — Scott Hamilton, America's main man for a figure skating gold medal, traced the best figure eight in compulsories yesterday to lead the competition at the XIV Olympic Winter Games.

"Yahoo, I've been second all the time, always second, second, second," Hamilton crowed after winning all three compulsory figures — something he has never done in international competition. "I guess it sets me up pretty good."

Jean-Christophe Simond of France, who usually beats Hamilton in this event, was second, followed by West German Rudi Cerne.

The two other U.S. men, Brian Boitano and Mark Cockerell, were eighth and 10th, respectively.

The 23 men in the singles competition will skate their short programs tonight, just before ice dancing concludes with the freestyle event.

The United States picked up its first medal of the Games Sunday night, when Kitty and Peter Carruthers of Wilmington, Del., earned a silver in pairs.

In ice dancing, the question no longer is "Will Jayne Torvill and Christopher Dean win the gold?" It's "How many perfect scores will the British world champions get for their dance to Ravel's 'Bolero'?"

At last month's European championships in Budapest, "Bolero" earned eleven 6.0s of a total of 18 scores.

"Everything seems to be going in their favor," said Coach Betty Calla-

way. "We're really looking forward to tonight."

Americans Judy Blumberg and Michael Seibert were third in dance and could pick up a second figure skating medal for the United States with their exotic dance to "Scherzade."

"I don't want to be third," said Seibert, 24, who has just gotten over mononucleosis and is now nursing a groin injury. "You always shoot for the top, but I would feel very pleased with a silver medal and that's what we're going for."

The two other U.S. ice dancing teams, Carol Fox and Richard Dalley and Elisa Spitz and Scott Gregory, were sixth and 10th, respectively.

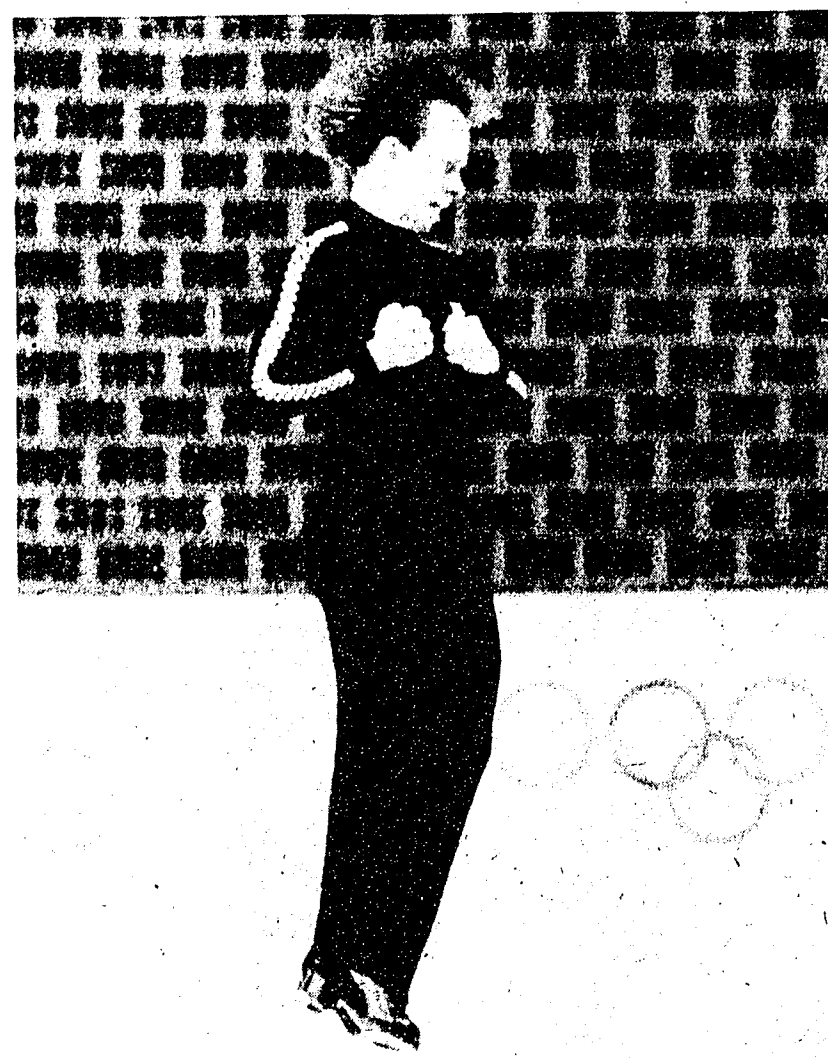

Hamilton, 25, is picked as a sure shot to give America its first men's figure skating gold since David Jenkins in 1960.

"I wanted to beat Christophe just once," he said. "I beat him once before and that was in 1977 four years ago, but not since then and so this is the first time and it's great."

The compulsories, which lasted 6½ hours, require skaters to do two variations of the basic figure eight, first on one foot and then the other. One of the biggest faults a skater can make in this event is to "two-foot" a figure or put the free foot on the ice while making a tracing.

When a skater completes a figure, a panel of nine judges hover over the tracing like a band of detectives looking for clues, then issue marks.

Men skate for medals Thursday night, the same night the women skate their short program.

3 squads clinch spots in hockey medal round

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia — Canada, Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union clinched spots in the Olympic hockey medal round yesterday, while the defending champion United States won its first game of the tournament.

Canada routed Norway 9-1 in the afternoon. Then Czechoslovakia eased past Finland 7-2 in the evening, sending the Canadians and Czechoslovaks, both 4-0, into the medals round.

Czechoslovakia, which got two first-period goals from Frantisek Cernik, and Canada meet tomorrow for first place in their division.

"We've worked so hard training and practicing and we got so keyed up for the Olympics," said Canada's Dave Gagner, who scored three goals and set up two others. "We remember the past game and what it took (to win). If we lose, it will be to a team that outplayed us, not outworked us."

Pat LaFontaine scored three goals, David A. Jensen had two and the Americans broke open a tight contest midway through the third period to down Austria, 7-3.

"We haven't exploded this whole time. We finally did," said Ed Olczyk, who had four assists. "We couldn't reach our goal so we reset it and now we hope to get fifth place. That's not too bad."

Elsewhere, the Soviet Union took West Germany 6-1, host Yugoslavia won its first game with a 5-1 decision over Italy and Sweden pounded Poland 10-1.

The Soviets, also 4-0, were expected to get their first test of the Games against West Germany. It never happened.

The Soviet machine rolled to a 4-0 margin in the first 12 minutes and coasted. Nikolai Drozdetski, the Soviets' leading scorer in the Games, had two goals. The triumph gave the Soviets eight points, three more than third-place West Germany, with one game remaining in the round-robin portion of the hockey tournament.

"I liked the first half of the game," said Soviet Coach Victor Tikhonov. "The team was playing very well and we knew after the first period, with the score we had, that we would be in the finals (medals round)."

"I still think our team should play a much better game."

Canada played a good game under difficult circumstances, according to Gagner. "We were a little nervous and tense but the coaches settled us down and got us to think about our game plan," Gagner said. "We know we have to take one game at a time and can't afford to get too far ahead in our minds."

Team Canada Coach Dave King was impressed that his players did not look beyond weak Norway to its next game, tomorrow against Czechoslovakia.

"It was a great sign because we won knowing we did not play a great game," he said. "We're not that good to get away with risky and careless plays and we know it."

Sweden, another team fighting to make the medals round moved to 3-0-1 as Peter Gradin became the first player to score four goals in one game here. Gradin notched three of those goals in the second period.

Armstrong, Cooper medals lift U.S. spirits

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — "You could hear Americans howling in the streets downtown when they announced it," said Pat Ahern, a Nordic combined member of the American Olympic team.

"I actually got chills up my back," bobsledder Bob Hickey said.

The gloom was gone. America's first gold medal had finally arrived.

Yanks in the Olympic Village were jumping with joy after the 1-2 U.S. finish by Debbie Armstrong and Christin Cooper in yesterday's women's giant slalom.

Congratulatory telegrams poured in, flowers piled up, and teammates uncorked champagne salutes.

"The cloud that was hanging over the Olympic Village just parted," said Bill Knight, a spokesman for the United States Olympic Committee.

"It's really got us psyched," 22-year-old downhill skier Tiger Shaw of Stowe, Vt., said. "We're ecstatic."

Women's luger Bonnie Warner was at the ABC center reviewing tapes of her performance when the dramatic medals had developed.

"Everyone stopped what they were doing to watch. Twenty television monitors were suddenly switched to the same channel."

On her way back to the Olympic Village, she bought a bottle of Yugoslav champagne, some red, white and blue flowers and a card for Armstrong that read: "To a future luge team mate."

"I was just kidding about that, but I've told her I'm going to recruit her for the luge team," said Warner.

9 nations honor Andropov

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — The flags of nine countries at the Olympic village continued to flutter at half-mast yesterday in memorial to the late Soviet leader Yuri V. Andropov, whose funeral was scheduled for today.

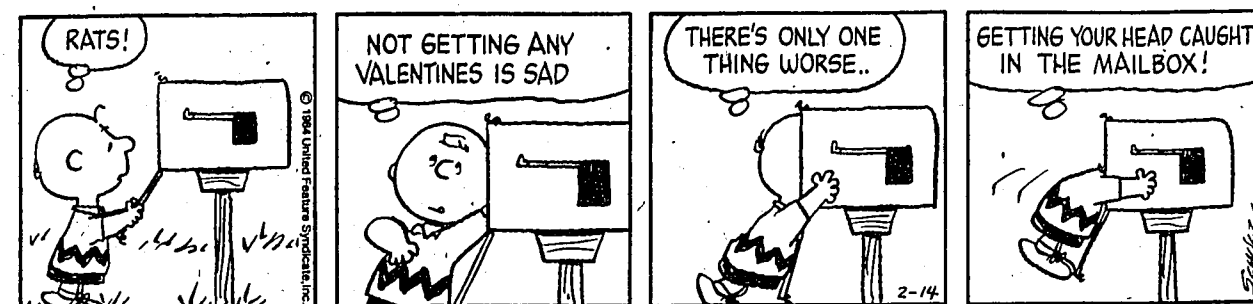

But rock music, a new outdoor addition to the village, broke the mood of mourning.

Delegations from the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Bulgaria, Mongolia, North Korea and Costa Rica have lowered their flags in the central plaza of the athletes' village in mourning for Andropov.

Yesterday, however, organizers installed an outdoor speaker that wafted recorded rock and disco tunes through the village.
