seasons combined. The Lady Lions (16-3-2) were involved in their seventh overtime game (and third in a row) in 21 contests yesterday, as they closed out their regular season with a 3-2 victory over host West Chester.

"It was a very fast game," Rattray said of the 174th win of her Penn State tenure. "The ball moved up and down the field a lot. It was intense. "West Chester played well," she added. "They came at us hard." But the Rams' effort fell just short, as sophomore forward Tracey Neave salvaged the victory for the Lady Lions when she notched her 16th goal of the season with 8:54 gone in the first overtime period. Senior forward Stacia Palahnuk assisted the tally, which was Neave's fourth game-winning goal of the season.
