The Lions will get a chance to prove they can do just that today and tomorrow, when they host the 14th there's no team scoring, we'll know if we dominate." Annual Penn State Invitational, which features 20 teams from West Virginia to New Hampshire. Sessions begin each day at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. Head Coach Rich Lorenzo said although the tournament does not award a team title, it gives each wrestler a lot of mat time. "This is a wrestler's tournament," Lorenzo said. "It's set up so that every wrestler will get a minimum of three bouts. So they're going to get a lot of good competition against a lot of schools they won't (compete against) throughout the year."

Approximately 32 wrestlers will compete at each weight class. Penn State will enter at least two wrestlers at each class, except at 142 pounds, where Joe

Sophomore Ken Chertow said once the excitement "We take a lot of pride in winning (the Invitational) because it's our home tournament. Even though Chertow added that the total team effort put i against Iowa will still be evident in the weekend's
