

Parachuter guilty in Series sky-dive

NEW YORK (AP) — An actor whose show-stopping parachute into Shea Stadium halted Game 6 of the World Series, pleaded guilty to criminal trespassing after a plea-bargain agreement which dropped three other charges, including reckless endangerment.

Michael Sergio, 37, who has a small part on the ABC soap opera "Loving," said he was relieved but disappointed after pleading guilty in Queens Criminal Court before Justice Phyllis Flug. Sergio said he had not intended to plead guilty to any charges, but did so to protect a second person involved in the Oct. 25 jump.

Sergio faces a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail, and sentencing was set for Dec. 19. Simon said he will recommend the judge instead sentence Sergio to community service, perhaps teaching a safety course to children.

"Suffice it to say, we're pleased," said Richard Simon, Sergio's attorney. "The plea-bargain was reached because of the agreement which dropped charges of reckless endangerment, criminal nuisance and disorderly conduct charges.

The plea-bargain was reached between Simon, Assistant District Attorney Bernardette Ford and the judge.

SMU faces dismal football future

DALLAS (AP) — Former Southern Methodist head football coach Bobby Collins challenged players bringing SMU's football team out of the gloom it suffered in 1985 in a farewell speech at what could be the college's last football awards banquet for a few years.

The school, which has been placed on NCAA probation five times, currently is on probation through August 1988.

"You guys have handled more than any group should have to handle and did it with a lot more grace than most people we face," Collins told players Tuesday at the 1986 Annual SMU Football Awards Banquet.

The Mustangs face the possibility of being named from SMU football for the first year, which would make it the first school to receive that honor.

NCAA investigator James "Butch" Worley arrived in Dallas on Monday, three weeks after former Mustang linebacker David Stanley told a Dallas television station that he received $25,000 when he signed with SMU, and that he and his mother received $750 per month from the SMU athletic department.

Collins challenged players next year to "restore SMU football to the position we have come to expect. Once again the challenge is to bring SMU football to the level of being named from SMU football for the first year, which would make it the first school to receive that honor."

Worley thanked everyone for his own tenure as athletic director, but said he was sorry to see it end the way it has.

The entire awards program was punctuated with bitter-sweet jokes and commentary about the recruiting scandal plaguing SMU football.

Former SMU football star Larry Blakley noted that former Mustang player Red McClain, 1986 recipient of the Mr. Mustang Alumni Award, was paid $168 per game when he started with the New York Giants in 1991.

Blakley turned to Collins and said, "Bobby, we've got people here (on the SMU squad) that make more than that."

SMU player Terence Mann, on accepting his reward as coaches' choice for most valuable defensive player, said of Collins, "He didn't sell us out. He didn't run out on us, but somebody did run out on us."

Terence said he was referring to players making media allegations of recruiting payoffs.

In five years at SMU, Collins racked up a 43-14 record, 21 in bowl games, and a victory in the 1983 Cotton Bowl. The 1986 record was 6-5.

Bills may ban beer in home stadium

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A snowball barrage from the stands last Sunday has prompted the Buffalo Bills to consider further restrictions on the sale of beer at the National Football League team's home games starting next season.

Owner Ralph C. Wilson Jr. said Monday the team will not tolerate rowdiness in the stadium.

Wilson's remarks seemed directed at a small number of fans at Sunday's game with the Cleveland Browns, a 21-17 Bills loss, who threw snowballs at Buffalo players.

At an earlier game, former Buffalo head coach Hank Bullough was taunted by fans and showered with debris. That incident prompted the team to erect an awning that the players and coaches could use to pass through the tunnel leading to locker rooms.

Among the options being considered, according to General Manager Bill Polian, are sale of 3.2 percent alcohol beer or cutting off beer sales at halftime.

In response to complaints after last season, the Bills ended beer sales after the third quarter of Buffalo's eight home games this season and reduced the size of beer containers.

Polian said stricter security and the limits on beer sales have improved the atmosphere at the stadium and local hotels this season and reduced the size of beer containers.

"I said from Day 1 we're not in the beer business," Polian said. "We're in the football business. We're not a tavern."

The Bills attendance jumped to an average of just the players and coaches could use to pass through the tunnel leading to locker rooms.

Arrests also doubled this year to 52, in part because there were more people at games.
