lost by one when they know the game was theirs. In short. Penn State wants no surprises this weekend, however, they're tired of being victims of circumstance. and Head Coach Glenn Thiel said the team is ready for the "After the (Rutgers) game (Scarlet Knights Coach Tom) Hayes shook all of our hands and told every single person that we shouldn't have lost that game," McKeon said. "Our goal now is to keep going and play at that same said. "We may not be the flashiest team, but we work just level. If we're not ready to play they're going to make us as hard for what we have. I'm proud as hell to be a part of the team because I think we've got a lot of guts.'
