 8, who lost his fourth consecutive game.
 Kal Daniels also singled before Davis' home run, which tied Davis with Atlanta's Dale Murphy for the league lead, and extended his hitting streak to a career-high tying 15 games.

Mets 10, Expos 7
 MONTREAL — Darryl Strawberry hit two of New York's five home runs last night, powering the Mets to a 10-7 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Gary Carter hit a two-run homer and Howard Johnson and Kevin McReynolds added solo shots for New York. Strawberry, who had three hits, drove in four runs.

Yankees 6, Orioles 3
 NEW YORK — Rick Rhoden pitched five scoreless innings despite being hit on the left knee by a line drive and Henry Cotto drove in three runs as the resurgent New York Yankees beat Baltimore 6-3 last night.
 Cotto homered and doubled as the Yankees completed a four-game sweep of the stumbling Orioles.

U.S. Open

 "I gave a couple back," he said of his troubles on the 14th hole, "but that's a minimum on this golf course."
 "I made a couple of no-brainers (extremely long, difficult putts) and that offset the double-bogey," Crenshaw said.
 Ballesteros hit only eight of the narrow, tree-lined fairways on the Lake course at Olympic Club, but got away with just a single bogey.

"Pretty good for me," shrugged Ballesteros, who has made a career of extracting himself from extremely difficult positions without damage.
 "It was very difficult," he said of the tight, sloping fairways with over-hanging cypress, eucalyptus and pines, and the very small, very fast greens.
 "But I shot 68," said Ballesteros, winner of two Masters and a pair of British Opens. "Three more 68s, and I think I win the championship" that he has called "my No. 1 career goal."

 Crenshaw, too, talked of the tasks ahead.
 "We're looking at a very stern test," he said.
 "I kept my mistakes to a minimum today. On this golf course, you're not going to hit all the fairways and all the greens. You've got to save shots, and accept it when you don't," said Crenshaw.

Agent wants draft for Panthers

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Agent Norby Walters will ask the National Football League to hold a supplemental draft for seniors Charles Gladman and Teryl Austin if the two Pitt players are suspended by the school, it was reported yesterday.
 The Pittsburgh Press reported Wednesday that Gladman, a running back, and Austin, a defensive back, were suspended by Coach Mike Gottfried following a university investigation into reports they signed contracts with Walters' company. NCAA rules would make both ineligible if they had made deals with an agent.

Rangers name Bergeron head coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Michel Bergeron, who coached the Quebec Nordiques for the last seven seasons, was named head coach of the New York Rangers yesterday, the NHL team said.
 Bergeron, 41, replaces Tom Webster, who retired last April because of an inner ear disorder.
 The Rangers said Bergeron signed a multiyear contract, but terms were not disclosed.

Bucs recall Jones, demote Johnson

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday recalled pitcher Barry Jones from their Class AAA Vancouver farm club and sent down pitcher Dave Johnson, the team announced.
 Jones, 24, was 1-2 with 11 saves and a 3.20 earned run average in 20 appearances with Vancouver.

Drivers speed past new 65 mph limit

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
 Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A survey of New Mexico motorists two months after the state increased its speed limit to 65 mph shows nearly half of the drivers exceeding the higher limit, the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety reported yesterday.

"Unfortunately this is exactly what we expected. When the speed limits are raised many motorists simply respond by going faster," said Brian O'Neill, president of the insurance group.

Over strong insurance industry opposition, Congress earlier this year allowed an increase of the nationwide speed limit from 55 mph to 65 mph on rural stretches of interstate highway. Half of the 50 states have enacted the higher speed limit so far, according to an Associated Press survey.

O'Neill said a statewide survey of New Mexico motorists last year when the speed limit was posted at 55 mph showed 25 percent of the drivers exceeding 65 mph, he said.

Americans recover from April tax bite, government reports

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
 Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C. — After-tax incomes shot up a record 3.4 percent in May as Americans recovered from a huge tax bite in April, the government reported yesterday.

Personal savings, which tumbled to an all-time low in April as Americans dipped into savings to pay their taxes, recovered as well, giving encouragement that consumers will resume at least a moderate spending pace in the months ahead.

After-tax disposable incomes had plummeted 2.7 percent in April, the biggest decline in 12 years. The higher-than-usual tax bills covered profits made at the end of last year as Americans sold long-term investments. The profit-taking was spurred by the overhaul of the tax laws which raised the government's take on long-term capital gains beginning Jan. 1.

Before taking taxes into account, personal incomes rose a slight 0.2 percent in May following a 0.4 percent April gain.
 The Commerce Department reported consumer spending edged up just 0.1 percent following a much faster 0.6 percent advance in April with the swings in both months attributed to auto sales.
 Consumer spending, which accounts for two-thirds of overall economic activity, has supplied most of the power to keep the economy moving since the 1981-82 recession. But while consumer spending rose 4.1 percent last year, analysts are looking for just half of that gain in 1987 as auto sales weaken further and housing sales decline because of rising mortgage rates.

Purchases of durable goods, including autos, fell at an annual rate of $5.9 billion during May.

 General Motors announced Thursday that it was expanding its rebate and cut-rate financing incentives to six additional Chevrolet passenger car lines in an effort to spur sales.

"But David Wyss, an economist with Data Resources Inc., predicted that the new incentive programs would have little effect."
 "The new rebate programs haven't captured people's imaginations," he said. "But despite the weakness in autos and housing, consumers seem to be spending their hearts out in other areas, just like they have done for the past two years."

In May, personal consumption spending for non-durable goods rose at an annual rate of $1.2 billion while consumer purchases of services, which have been strong all year, climbed at a rate of $6.2 billion.
 Douglas Cliggot, economist for the New York investment firm of Merrill Lynch, said that spending this year would be held back by higher inflation, which will cut into workers' modest income gains.

"Consumer spending will be restrained by a slower increase in incomes but it will be enough to keep us out of a recession as long as we get the continued improvement in the trade area that we are expecting," he said.
 Economists are counting on higher export sales by American manufacturers to make up for weaker domestic demand this year.
 The savings rate, savings as a percent of disposable income, had plummeted to an all-time low of 0.1 percent in April because of the tax bills but climbed back in May to 3.3 percent. While this is still a historically low level, economists said they expected consumers will continue spending rather than trying to build their savings.

AIDS testing Surgery patients face testing, heterosexuals in new danger

By JILL LAWRENCE
 Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surgeon General C Everett Koop predicted yesterday that AIDS testing of surgery patients will soon be routine and said it should be clear in several months whether AIDS will explode among heterosexuals.

Koop also told a House panel he believes young children can be taught to abstain from sexual relations before they marry, but condoms must be offered to the 70 percent of adolescents who already are sexually active.

"If you tell that 70 percent to just say no, they laugh. And if they try to say no, they find it very difficult," Koop told the House Select Committee on Children, Youth and Families during a hearing on teen-agers and AIDS.

Koop said adolescents exploring their own sexuality and possibly intravenous drugs are particularly vulnerable to AIDS. He said they are "extraordinarily difficult to deal with" because they believe they are immortal and resist changing their behavior.

"I was talking to some teen-agers about long-term monogamy and this one girl said, 'How long? A semester?'" Koop recalled.
 "You have to introduce such things as condoms, knowing that it offends the sensibilities of some people, but that as a public health officer... the only thing I can do is offer them," he said.
 Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., the committee chairman, said 146 teen-agers had AIDS, acquired immune deficiency syndrome, as of June 8. But he said many of the 7,500 AIDS victims aged 20 to 29 probably were infected as teen-agers, given the two-to-10-year latency period of the disease.

"We must not let the currently low number of teen-agers with AIDS dissuade us from taking the threat to youth seriously," Miller said.

Miller cited several studies indicating many teen-agers have multiple sex partners, don't use contraceptives and don't even know they can get AIDS from heterosexual sex.
