

Anderson named AL Manager of the Year

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Sparky Anderson, who led the Detroit Tigers to the best record in baseball this season, yesterday was named American League Manager of the Year by the Baseball Writers' Association of America for the second time in four years.

Anderson, also named manager of the year in 1984 when the Tigers won the World Series, received 11 first-place votes and a total of 90 points in balloting by a panel of two BBWAA members from each AL city.

Tom Trebelhorn of the Milwaukee Brewers was second with 78 points and seven first-place votes, followed by Tom Kelly of the World Series champion Minnesota Twins with 74 points and 10 first-place votes.

Balloting was done on the basis of regular-season performance only. Anderson's Tigers lost the AL playoffs in five games to the Twins, but in many ways the series was anticlimactic to the one that got them there. Trailing Toronto by two games going into a season-ending series with the Blue Jays, the Tigers swept three to win the division.

In the final two weeks of the season, the Tigers played seven one-run games with the Blue Jays, winning four.

Throughout the season, Anderson claimed this team, which won 98 games, was better than the club that won 104 games in 1984 after a 35-5 start. He claimed this despite a start that had them in sixth place, 11 games out, on May 5.

"Sparky did a good job of keeping us positive early in the year when things weren't going well," Tigers outfielder Kirk Gibson said. "He told you guys (reporters) in May we would be here, and you walked away laughing at him."

Anderson pointed to pitching as the difference between '84 and '87. In 1985, the Tigers traded third baseman Howard Johnson to the New York Mets for pitcher Walt Terrell, who has won 47 games in the past three years. The Tigers added Frank Tanana in June, 1986, and he has won 27 games since, including a six-hit, 1-0 season-ending victory over Toronto that clinched the division.

"I told my people, 'If you don't get too down, you'll have a smile on your face in September,'" Anderson said.

Lady Harriers host Lady Lion Open

By NOMAN BAJWA
Collegian Sports Writer

The women's cross country team will compete in its first home meet since Sept. 19 when Penn State hosts the Lady Lion Open tomorrow morning at 10:15 on the Blue Golf Course.

For the first time this season, Head Coach Teri Jordan's team will run close to full strength. The Lady Lions' starting lineup will consist of junior All-American Stacy Prey, Anne Knight, Emily Haas, Lisa Gold, Julie Moody, Sue Allen, Kathy St. Clair and Anne-Marie Quinn.

Some of the schools expected to compete tomorrow include West Virginia, Rutgers, the University of Pittsburgh, Bradford College, St. Vincent, Canisius, Gannon and the University of Buffalo.

Top non-college athletes expected to run tomorrow are former Rutgers student Desiree Scott and Penn State graduates Natalie Updegrave and Sue Crowe. Elaine McGillian is also considered to be a top contender. Scott was second to Prey in last year's college section. Scott could once again challenge Prey this year, as Jordan allowed her to compete in the collegiate category to give Prey some competition.

Jordan said she is looking forward to the meet.

"It really makes me happy that everybody's healthy and everybody's in shape," Jordan said. "We had another great week of work but we need another two weeks of hard work to get ready for the regionals. Tomorrow's race will be a deciding factor for who will represent us in the ECACs."

Jordan said Prey, who won last year's race with a time of 17:13, is now at 80-85 percent capacity.

"Her calf muscle is no longer sore," the coach said. "But I know that she's upset with me for putting Desiree into the collegiate race."

Prey said that competing against Scott wouldn't bother her.

Netwomen at ECACs after downing Penn

By ADAM T. GUSDORFF
Collegian Sports Writer

In what Head Coach Jan Bortner called "the best win this fall," the women's tennis team beat the University of Pennsylvania Wednesday, 5-4, for the second time in two weeks. The Lady Lions won on Penn's home courts, a feat which few visitors have accomplished.

The match marked the return of top-ranked Claudia Karabedian, who broke back into the starting six after being sidelined for two weeks by a wrist injury. But she merely passed the injury to the interim No. 1 player, Darnell Adams, who did not participate. Bortner has been forced to play without a starter in each of the team's matches.

Caroline Pierce and Cathy Kissell scored major victories in singles, as each rallied from first-set losses.

"Cathy's match was a complete turnaround," Bortner said. "She really turned it on (in the last two sets) and beat a junior with a lot of experience. Caroline played outstanding tennis. She was definitely the MVP."

The Penn match will provide a large boost in confidence for the young team as it enters the most important tournament this fall, the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Championships this weekend at Rutgers.

Bortner has been fine tuning his squad for two months in preparation for the tournament. His main concern was finding compatible doubles pairings, and he seems to have done so. Now his main concern is having to play without Adams.

"Our big problem is the injury situation," he said. "We've been hit so hard with injury. We've proved this team is good, but we haven't had all our players together."

In addition to turning in a fine performance at Penn, the team played well last weekend at the Old Dominion Invitational, where three Lady Lions placed in flight quarterfinals and three in consolation finals. Karabedian, who did not play at Old Dominion, expects the team's recent success to have positive effects on its play at Rutgers.

"I think we'll do pretty well," Karabedian said. "Everyone played pretty well last weekend at Old Dominion, so I think it'll carry over"
