Hole in one nets Trevino $175,000

AP Golf Writer

LA QUINTA, Calif. — Lee Trevino lofted a 6-iron shot 167 yards and into the cup for a hole in one worth $175,-000 yesterday in golf's Skins Game.

Trevino watched in near disbelief as the ball hit the island green of the 17th hole at PGA West and trickled in the cup.

The 47-year-old Trevino trotted to his caddy, rotund Herman Mitchell, gave him a big hug, then began jumping into the air, both arms raised.

'bout my man," howled "How Mitchell. "He did it. He did it."

"Great shot, Lee. As good as you can hit it," Jack Nicklaus said in congratulation.

"God. Can you believe it? It was on it all the way," said Arnold Palmer. Palmer and Nicklaus, along with Fuzzy Zoeller, followed Trevino to the tee on the par-3 hole, needing an ace to halve the hole. None, of course, got it.

"Well," sighed Zoeller as his shot went about 12 feet by the cup, "I just flat blew a hole in one again.

The perfect shot, launched against a clear, blue desert sky, was the incredible climax to Trevino's brightest day in the sun.

He swept all the money available on the last nine holes, $285,000, and completed the two-day, 18-hole, made-for-television event with $310,000.

and that's only the second hole in one I've ever had," Trevino said.

"And I didn't get to see the other one," Lee continued. "It was at Pleasant Valley on the first hole. I was in the second group off the tee and I'd been out all night and I couldn't focus very good.

Zoeller, who had dominated this popular show the last two years, and Nicklaus each won $70,000 over the first nine holes Saturday. Arnold Palmer, 58, who has competed in all five Skins Games, was shut out.

Trevino, who missed several critical short putts Saturday, said he made an overnight change in his putting stance that helped him with a 12-foot birdie putt that was worth $25,-000 on the first hole of the day's play, which started from the 10th tee.

Zoeller dropped a 20-foot birdie putt on the 11th, but Arnold rolled in a 15footer on top of it to halve the hole and make the 12th worth $50,000.

Trevino won that one, too. He scored from 20 feet and Palmer lipped out a 12-footer that would have tied him.

The next four holes were halved, with Nicklaus and Zoeller each making birdie on the 16th.

"Jack's putt (about a six-footer) was a big one for me. It kept the skin alive," Trevino said.

With the carryovers, that raised the value of the 17th to $175,000. And that was settled with one swing of the

"The most astounding hole in one "I've been playing golf for 35 years I've ever seen," Palmer said.

HOUSTON - The University of Houston must forfeit its 37-7 victory over Temple because safety Randy Thornton was ineligible to play in the Nov. 14 game, Houston Athletic Director Rudy Davalos said last night. Davalos said an examination of Thornton's class records showed that two courses were added to Thornton's schedule on Nov. 12, past the late add deadline.

The courses were added incorrectly, Davalos said, meaning Thornton was not enrolled for 12 semester hours at the time of the Temple game as required by Southwest Conference and NCAA rules.

Davalos said he planned disciplinary action in the case. There is going to be a real keen look at that operation, there's just going to be a real tough check-out system," Davalos said. "We're going to have disciplinary action appropriate for that. I won't say who it is, but it's people in our department.

Thornton, a starter since his freshman season, had been demoted this season but played well in the Cougars' 60-40 victory over Texas on Nov. 7 and regained his starting position.

Thornton played well again the following week against Temple before his class problems surfaced.

After the Temple game, Thornton was dropped from another class, giving him only nine semester hours. and the Cougars declared him ineligible for the rest of the season.

"I hope this sends out a message that we aren't going to tolerate anything like this," Davalos said. "It's rather evident that these courses were added to make the young man eligible.

Davalos issued a statement last night following an examination of Thornton's class records
