

They Might Be Giants, Bricklin play Movin' On

By LAURA PACE
Collegian Arts Writer

This Saturday afternoon, the HUB lawn will once again be transformed into an outdoor soundstage as a talented group of popular bands will participate in this year's Movin' On concert.

The concert, sponsored by the Association for Residence Hall Students and WWZU, will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

This year's line-up will include two local acts. The Earthtones, who recently celebrated their third anniversary, will be playing their brand of reggae, and Split Decision features classic rock.

Also featured will be two Pittsburgh acts that headlined this year's IFC Dance Marathon.

The Affordable Floors will be doing songs from their newly-released album, as well as songs from their first release, The Sounding. Their special blend of new wave was well received at this year's IFC Dance Marathon and is perfect for dancing.

Eleventh Hour also plays new wave and has a jangly guitar sound much like that of R.E.M. They will perform some of their most popular songs, including "She Goes Away," and "I Can't Wait Another Day."

Headlining this year's Movin' On will be the zany They Might Be Giants, who play a unique blend of pop, polka, country and confusion. Their past hits include "Don't Let's Start," "Put Your Hand Inside the Puppet Head" and "Youth Culture Killed My Dog."

The two-man band is wacky and very unpredictable. They perform with guitar and accordion, using a backup tape to fill in the rest. Their concerts feature such props as the big hats featured in their videos and a stick with a microphone attached to it.

TMBG will be releasing a new album soon. Their first, self-titled LP is still a best-seller locally, even though it was released over a year ago.

Also performing will be Bricklin, the Tom Larsen Band and Nightshift. After the bands, the movie Dirty Dancing will be shown at 10:30 p.m.

They Might Be Giants, new music's purveyors of musical mayhem, will play on the HUB lawn as part of Movin' On.

"IT REKINDLES THE SPARKS OF ADULT SEXUALITY ON THE AMERICAN SCREEN... the overdue return of eroticism and intelligence. It is about life and death, love and responsibility private morality and power politics."
— RICHARD D. CLAY, TIME MAGAZINE

"Great films are seldom made from great novels but 'The Unbearable Lightness of Being' stands as a stunning and surprising exception. Philip Kaufman has put it all together here in what might well be a masterpiece."
— TAMI MCGRATH, VARIETY
"A remarkable film with a powerful underlying sexuality."
— GARY FRANKLIN, KARE 11
"A film of great scope and humanity, like a sweeping novel you must take to bed with you when it's over, it haunts you like the lingering perfume of a long lost love."
— RAY PETER, AT THE MOVIES
"I loved seeing it happen — it was like a dream that you long to return to and 'Oh there it is'."
— GUY CARL, THE NEW YORKER
"Vibrant, sexy and romantic."
— Bruce Williams, PLAYBOY
"Absolutely wonderful! A sexy, deeply engaging and continually absorbing film."
— SNEAK PEEKS, SNN
"An intensely moving erotic love story, a masterpiece."
— RICHARD D. CLAY, NEWHOUSE NEWS PAPERS
"One of the most enjoyable and compassionate American films in recent memory, sexy, funny and touching."
— John Powell, LA WEEKLY
